FINANCIAL.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY GOLD LOAN.
$6,500,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY for the sale of the
NEW SEVEN PER CENT THIRTY-YEAR LOAN, FREE OF TAX.
This loan amounts to $6,500,000,
FIRST MORTGAGE LAND GRANT AND SINKING FUND BONDS,
secured upon the extension of the railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles, of which twelve miles are completed and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon rolling stock and franchise of this first class railway, now running through the State of Kansas,
AND IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION FOR 437 MILES
west of the Missouri river, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides
MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN.
In addition to this the bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,
extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas, to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the trustees in the 7 per cent bonds themselves up to 120, or in United States bonds, as a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds. The lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of THREE MILLIONS OF ACRES IN THE STATE OF KANSAS,
and although not pledged as a security for this loan, their possession adds largely to the company's wealth and credit. We estimate the VALUE OF THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY, COVERED BY THIS MORTGAGE, AT $23,000,000 NET, WHILE THE LOAN IS MERELY $6,500,000.
The bonds have thirty years to run, from May 1, 1869, and will pay
SEVEN PER CENT INTEREST IN GOLD,
semi-annually, on May 1 and November 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION,
the company paying the tax.

The principal of the loan is made payable, in gold, in the city of New York, but each coupon will be payable in Frankfort, London or New York, at the option of the holder, without notice, at the following rates:—
On $1,000 bond in New York..$35 (gold) each half year.
On $1,000 bond in London.....£7 5s. 10d. each half year.
On $1,000 bond in Frankfort.. 87 florins, 30 kreutzers, each half year.

The agents of the loan, before accepting the trust, had the condition of the road and the country through which it runs carefully examined. They are happy to give the loan an emphatic indorsement as a
FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT
in every respect, perfectly sure, and in some essentials even better than government securities. The bonds will be sold for the present at 96, with accrued interest, both in currency, the agent reserving the right to advance the rate.

The attention of investors is invited to these well secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market. Gold and government securities taken in payment at their market value, without commissions. Pamphlets, with maps, giving full information, sent on application.

THE NEWS.

Europe.

The cable telegrams are dated July 22.

A large number of the tory lords held a meeting on Wednesday night. They repudiated the course of Lord Salisbury and placed themselves under the leadership of Lord Cairns, who yesterday had an interview with the Earl of Granville. In the course of the interview Lord Cairns announced the submission of the Peers. The Lords were evidently frightened at the determined stand of the government and the fear of popular indignation. The Harvard boat crew are at Putney. They have declined the challenge of the London Club. A dreadful colliery explosion took place yesterday at St. Helens, a few miles from Liverpool. Over thirty lives were lost and sixty persons were injured.

The Ministerial Council of France have presented to the Emperor the basis of a State paper giving effect to political reforms proposed in the Emperor's message to the Corps Législatif. The Deputies of the Left held a meeting recently to resolve on some course of action. MM. Thiers and Favre advocated measures; but the meeting adjourned without taking any action on either of them. MM. Victor Duruy and Adolph Vintry have been made Senators.

The news about Don Carlos having entered Navarre is confirmed. The Spanish government is greatly alarmed.

Cuba.

Two Americans and a Mexican have been released from prison through the intercession of the American Consul General. Twelve hundred estates have so far been confiscated.

Mexico.

Advices from Mazatlan are to the 12th instant. General Vega is still at Tepic, revolving his favorite scheme for organizing a Northwestern Confederacy of Mexican States, in which, it is understood, he is strongly seconded by Lozada, who has for some time maintained a little independent republic of his own in the State of Jalisco.

Miscellaneous.

The Republican State Convention in Sacramento, Cal., on Wednesday nominated Lorenzo Sawyer and O. C. Pratt Judges of the Supreme Court. Resolutions were adopted endorsing President Grant, the Fifteenth amendment and universal amnesty, but opposing the granting of the suffrage to the Chinese in any form, expressing regret at their immigration and announcing that the government has a right to restrict their immigration by closing its ports against them. They do not, however, favor the latter course at present.

The ecclesiastical trial in Chicago yesterday presented a novel phase. Counsel for Mr. Cheney, the clergyman on trial, obtained from the Superior Court a writ of injunction prohibiting all further proceedings in the case, and the Sheriff, who was present in the church, served the necessary papers upon the members of the court amid loud and prolonged applause.

President Grant's favorite trotting mare Ada, which could make a mile in 2:22, died yesterday, and, as there was suspicion of vegetable poisoning, a post mortem examination was made and her stomach was sent to the Army Medical Museum.

Secretary Boutwell is reported to have said yesterday that he did not intend to sell any gold while the premium remains as it is at present.

The trial of Yerger for the murder of Colonel Crane, in Jackson, Miss., was concluded yesterday, but the verdict is not known, and will not be until promulgated by special order of the General Commanding. Judge Hill, of the United States Circuit Court, was applied to to issue a writ of habeas corpus in the case to have Yerger taken out of the hands of the military commission, but the writ was denied and Yerger was remanded to military custody.

Judge Dent, it is said, will be supported by the conservatives of all parties for Governor in the coming Mississippi election.

The California airship Avitor, which is to fly from San Francisco to New York in twenty-four hours, was tried again in San Francisco yesterday and again proved a success.

The hoisting works in the Chollar Potosi mines, in Virginia City, Nev., were destroyed by fire on Wednesday. The loss is $100,000. The workmen escaped.

The republican majority in Washington Territory in the recent election for delegate to Congress was 148, Garfield being elected.

The Holy Father at Rome is anxious for more Canadian zouaves, and Father Moran is on his way to Canada to organize another corps.

Justice J. T. Joslyn, of Marlboro, Mass., is on trial before a committee of the Governor's Council for compounding felony and for excessive sentences.

Lieutenant Commander H. B. Seely, of the Pawnee, has been arrested at Portsmouth, N. H., for alleged excessive cruelty to two seamen.

Father McMahon, who has been in Kingston (Canada) jail since the fall of 1866, for being a Fenian, was released yesterday.

Hon. John Rose, the Canadian Finance Minister, has resigned.

Efforts are being made to get up a World's Fair at Washington a year hence.

In the Salt Lake City land office 883 pre-emption claims were entered during the first two weeks of June. The claims cover 140,000 acres.

The City.

President Grant, accompanied by his wife and daughter, quietly visited the city yesterday morning, spent about five hours shopping and returned in the afternoon to Long Branch.

General John Cochrane's declination of the Collectorship of the Sixth revenue district of New York held in abeyance by the Secretary of the Treasury, it is probable arrangements will be made with the Assistant Treasury in this city to accept deposits from the Collector's office at a later hour than is usual at present. It will be remembered that General Cochrane declined the place because the risk was too great, the Collector having to hold over through the night a portion of the money collected during the day.

The smallpox in a virulent character has finally arrived at the lower bay. The emigrant ship Admiral, which brought 293 steerage passengers from Bremen, is now in Quarantine, where she arrived yesterday morning, with twenty-nine cases on board. They have already been removed to Blackwell's Island.

The Nineteenth ward roughs who assaulted officer Higgins on the 11th inst. were released on $1,000 bail each yesterday by Coroner Shine, who investigated the case and found that Higgins is at present completely out of danger. A Mr. Morris Roberts, who does business as a merchant at No. 183 Eighth avenue, was summoned to serve as a juror in the case, but he became excited over the summons and threatened to shoot the officer who served it. He was arrested and committed.

The body of young Feltheimer, who was drowned in a bathing establishment at the foot of Sixtieth street, East river, on Sunday last, has been recovered. The person who pushed him into the water is still at large.

In the trial of officer Campbell for the murder of Maurice Long, yesterday, one of the jurors was sick, and the case was adjourned until Monday.

Gold opened yesterday at 135⅞, and, after fluctuating during the day between that figure and 135¼, closed at five o'clock at 135⅝. The stock market was steady and quiet during the morning, but advanced in the afternoon, and closed firm at the highest figures.

The Irish Church Bill—The Revolution Averted—The Compromise.

It appears from our latest news that the aspect of affairs is considerably changed in Great Britain. The excitement on the part of the people on Tuesday and Wednesday had been quite as intense and quite as alarming as we had been led to believe. The London Times yesterday morning reflected the situation when it said that the Ministry had resolved not to yield, and that in consequence the differences between the Lords and Commons offered no insuperable obstacle to the passing of the bill. It is manifest that the Times was put in possession of the sentiments of the two Houses before it went to press. At all events, we now know that the Lords looked upon the situation as serious and dreaded the results that were more than likely to follow from persistent opposition on their part to the expressed will of the people; and that on Wednesday night, at a private meeting, the conservative Peers instructed Lord Cairns to act as their chief and make peace with the Ministry. A meeting between Lord Cairns and Earl Granville was the immediate result. A compromise, it appears, was agreed upon, and the presumption now is that the bill will be accepted by both Houses without further contention and passed into law. The tory opposition yielded gracefully and with dignity. Lord Cairns conceded that the original date, 1871, named for disestablishment should be restored, and that the Peers would not insist on amendments merely technical, such as those relative to curates, ecclesiastical residences and clerical annuities. In the House Earl Bandon, with one Irish bishop, protested against the compromise, but with these exceptions the tone was conciliatory and the chances of a collision were looked on as "tided over" happily.

The crisis for the present is therefore averted. It was not our opinion that it would be otherwise. We remembered the constitutional crisis of 1831-2—the only similar crisis in the history of England for many generations. The situation then was really alarming. Government was brought to a standstill. The Lords were stubborn, the Commons were imperious. The Ministry of the hour deemed it wise to resign. It was found impossible, however, to fill their places. The late ministers were called back, but refused again to take office until the King had formally given his consent to create as many new peers as should be deemed necessary to carry the bill through the upper house. The King's consent to adopt this extreme course virtually settled the question; for although matters were not pushed to this extremity, the fear that they might be induced the tory lords to absent themselves in such numbers that the bill was read a third time and passed without further trouble. Stubborn as the Lords seemed to be in the present instance, they were not more stubborn than they were in 1831-2. It was difficult to see why, if they found it necessary to yield then, they should not find it necessary to yield now. This, however, does not fully state the case. Since that great crisis the power of the Commons has been increased by two reform bills, the power of the Lords being in the same proportion diminished. Nor should it be forgotten that besides the changes brought about in the interests of the Commons by the extension of the suffrage, the railroad, the telegraph, the newspaper have all come to the assistance of the popular branch of the legislature. Since 1831-2 public opinion has been weightier, intensified, quickened a thousand-fold, and public opinion is now unmistakably against the Lords and in favor of the Commons. It was inevitable, therefore, that in such a struggle as that which we are now considering, no matter how protracted, the popular branch of the legislature must win. Resistance on the part of the Lords could only have resulted in larger popular exactions and deeper humiliation to the resisting party. To win in the long run was simply impossible. In yielding gracefully, after fighting manfully and being defeated, the Lords have acted wisely and well.

It is impossible, however, to overlook the fact that a great revolution has been effected in the constitution of England. Time was when the Peers were really masters of any and every situation that might present itself. All power was in their hands. It was the Peers, not the people, that effected the revolution under the second James. It was the Peers, not the people, that affected the revolutionary settlement which gave the crown to William and Mary. It was the Peers, not the people, that established the Hanoverian succession. It was the good sense of the Peers rather than the power of the people that accomplished the great reform of 1832. But it is the people's power which, in spite of the Lords, has accomplished this last great reform—the disestablishment and disendowment of the Irish Church. It would be vain to imagine that popular demands would be satisfied with this concession. All over Great Britain the people are hungry and impatient for radical changes. Grievances ecclesiastical, political, social, exist in rich abundance. The people have waited long and wearily; and now that they feel their strength they are but little likely to slacken their efforts. Disraeli by his late Reform bill gave the people power. Gladstone by this Irish Church measure has revealed to the people that power in action. The people have seen the Lords succumb to it. With the many social inequalities that stare them in the face and that goad them to action, they are but little likely to rest satisfied with any present success. The cry will soon be loud against the Church in Scotland. It will soon be loud against the Church in England. The army and the navy will be made the subjects of searching study and the many existing abuses will be unsparingly dealt with. The law of entail, which protects the great landlords, will be wiped out of the statute book. Hereditary legislation will be put to a severe test, and it will not be wonderful if the aristocracy and the Crown be denounced as useless relics of a bygone age.

In view of all this, we shall look for great activity on the part of the upper house of the British Parliament. Everything, we may rest assured, will be done to strengthen it and to bring it into harmony with the new state of things. If they cannot preserve their ancient power and their hereditary titles we may take it for granted they will do their very best to preserve their ancestral estates. The current of events in England shows us that the success of popular government in the United States is destined soon to revolutionize the world. It has been our mission to rouse the peoples to the knowledge and exercise of their power, and to teach them the true value of coronets and crowns.

Disappointed Newspaper Organs on President Grant.

There are two or three organs in the republican party that are growing more or less ferocious upon President Grant. This virulence can easily be traced to its natural source—namely, disappointment in not receiving the lion's share of the spoils. They pronounce Grant a failure, an imbecile, an ungrateful, avaricious man, one whose heart is of ice and whose blood is of milk. But the ghost "spoils!" stalks up amid this mirage of vituperation, and the secret is out. No doubt President Grant has disappointed a great many people, and no doubt his administration has shown a greater amount of imbecility within the same space of time than any other administration since the government was founded. But give President Grant a chance. What can be expected in six months, and the hot season on at that? The grumblers should remember that Rome was not built in a day. Why should President Grant be expected to make his mark after only a few short months of civic authority? It took him a longer time than that to "get out of the Wilderness." Reflect, ye growlers, upon the result of that campaign!

PLEASANT NEWS FROM THE COLORADO EXPEDITION.—We publish to-day a letter from the brother of Professor Powell, a member of the perilous expedition through the Colorado cañons, which brings intelligence from the adventurous party down to the 3d inst. The account, without doubt, will be read with pleasure, especially the concluding words:—"And now, as we looked down the long vista of the narrow cañon, while we were sliding down an inclined plane, in fact 'coasting,' the walls seemed to meet where the river turned round a short bend; the water was lost from sight, and the earth had opened, as we imagined, to gulp us down. The illusion is dispelled as we round the bend of the river, and, dashing through a succession of breakers, we suddenly debouch into a beautiful valley." The picture is fine. It could not have been better portrayed by the pen of a Bunyan. We are hopeful that the most beneficent results will flow from this extraordinary exploration, both to science and to the general interests of our country.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.—We are glad to see from our reporters' reports in this department that the Board of Health is up and doing. We are particularly glad at this juncture, when we have the yellow fever at quarantine in the Lower bay and may have the cholera with the next ship from the West Indies. At such a time, when New York city is filled with travellers moving in every direction, it becomes our health authorities to be especially vigilant.

GENERAL SHERIDAN AT SENATOR SPRAGUE'S.—General Sheridan as a Southern military district commander became and still continues the model soldier of the radicals; and Senator Sprague has of late become to them an abominable heretic. Yet Little Phil Sheridan finds it agreeable to accept the hospitalities of little Senator Sprague, and Sprague rejoices in having such a guest as Sheridan. Moral—Little Sprague and Little Sheridan are both larger than the ordinary calibre of the bigoted and narrow-minded party politicians.

STILL ANOTHER ESCAPE FROM SING SING.—We must insist upon a visit to Sing Sing by the Governor, to see if he cannot discover these loopholes of escape and provide for stopping them up. Surely for this purpose the Governor can spare a day or two from Saratoga.

The Progress of Cuban Independence.

If an insurrection could be put down by falsehood and systematic misrepresentation the Spaniards would be the most successful people in the world in that way. From the supreme government at Madrid and its immediate agent, the Captain General of Cuba, to the smallest official or vilest Spanish volunteer, they are all mendacious. In fact, in political matters, and particularly with regard to what is transpiring in Cuba, they are the veriest gasconaders. What they cannot accomplish by arms they expect to do by falsehood. The Cuban revolution, according to the Spanish authorities and the Spanish press in Cuba, was a mere bagatelle from the beginning, and has been put down effectually many times since. Indeed, if it were possible to believe these incurable gascons, there is nothing of the revolution left. But what are the facts? It is notorious that the Cubans, from the very inception of the movement, have been gaining strength all the time, and to-day their cause looks brighter and more promising than ever. From the insignificant movement of Cespedes and a few of his patriot companions in the sparsely settled neighborhood of Bayamo, the insurrection has spread and acquired power over a large part of the island. It embraces now the most powerful and most numerous party by far in Cuba, and has constituted a better and abler government than that of the Spaniards. The large batch of news from different parts of the island published in yesterday's HERALD shows this to be so, notwithstanding the garbled and mendacious telegraphic despatches from Havana. The object of these misrepresentations is, of course, to deceive the American people and government; but they will fail to blind our people to the facts. Nor can the administration, however partial, stupid and shortsighted it may be, long resist the light of truth and popular sentiment. The time is not far off when the voice of the American people, through its representatives in Congress and otherwise, must be heard, and when the cause of Cuban independence must be recognized and sustained.

THE PENNSYLVANIA CAMPAIGN.—Mr. Asa Packer, the democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, was serenaded in Philadelphia a few evenings since, and made the first speech of the campaign. It was a model speech. The speaker did not rake up defunct issues, as the platform upon which he was nominated has; he did not parade Sambo, nor did he breathe hostility to any class of people, nor made he promises to friends or foes, foreign or domestic. But, like a plain, common-sense citizen, he declared that he was no talker, but a worker, and as such was ready to lead the van of the Pennsylvania democracy to victory. That is all the democrats of the Keystone State ask, and with victory perched upon their banners this year they will be prepared to enter the next Presidential contest with some of the official State plunder well in hand. If the campaign be pursued upon the model plan adopted at the outset by Mr. Packer the democracy may achieve an easy triumph, and teach the administration that silence is a virtue that can be employed in politics as well upon one side as another.

THE NEW PAPER FOR GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.—Secretary Boutwell has notified the public that by authority of law he has adopted a distinctive paper, which will hereafter be used, until otherwise ordered, for all obligations and other securities of the United States. One of its peculiarities is the introduction of colored silk, cotton and other fibrous materials into the body of the paper while in the process of manufacture. By the law of the United States it is made a felony, subjecting the convicted offender to a maximum fine of five thousand dollars or a maximum imprisonment, with hard labor, for fifteen years, or both, at the discretion of the court, for any person to have or retain in his possession or custody any paper adapted to the making of such obligations or securities and similar to that designated by the Secretary of the Treasury or some other proper officer of the United States. The new national currency has done much to reduce counterfeiting, and it is to be hoped that the effect of Mr. Boutwell's new order will be to abolish it altogether.

ANOTHER BARK FROM THE RADICAL WAR DOG.—Wendell Phillips is out not only in a growl, but a decided, deep-mouthed canine bark against President Grant. He barks at him under the head of "Forgotten Promises," as if he were ignorant of the well-known aphorism that "promises, like pie crust, are made to be broken." The President will, no doubt, feel as much refreshed as if he had just emerged from an ocean bath at Long Branch when he learns that the eloquent scold has thus ventilated his wrath and cut himself adrift from the administration.

THE LAMENTABLE FLOOD IN TEXAS—A CALL FOR AID.—We have published accounts of a terrible flood in Texas. It is the most disastrous that ever visited a new country. A vast amount of property has been swept away, and those who yesterday rejoiced in the possession of a competency to-day find themselves and their families in absolute want of the common necessaries of life. The Colorado and Brazos rivers have overflowed their banks, and the public squares in some of the chief towns were at last accounts ten feet under water. The loss of life, no doubt, has been fearful, but we are as yet without particulars in that respect. A call for aid is already raised in the Texan papers. Will it not be cordially responded to by the merchants and people of the North?

THE NEW POLITICAL PARTY.—The Savannah News says that a new opposition republican party is forming, under the leadership of Seward, Chase, Charles Francis Adams, ex-Senator Morgan, Thurlow Weed and Charles A. Dana. The News, we suppose, means a new party on the platform of the Virginia election; but, if so, the managers of the movement are men who are more actively concerned in the battle down South than the above named parties. These men are decidedly dissatisfied with "the powers that be," but, like Micawber, they are "waiting for something to turn up," excepting Seward and Weed, who, so far as political party movements are concerned, are laid upon the shelf.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOAR'S LATEST OPINION—That women's rights include the right of suffrage. There is life in the old man yet.

Our Latest News from China and Japan.

Our Chinese and Japanese news reports, as given in yesterday's HERALD, have this in common—that from both countries the news must be looked upon as unfavorable. China is threatened with a bad harvest, and, to cap her misfortunes, another rebellion. The "outer barbarians" seem, besides, to be in as little favor as ever, if we may credit the report that while the English gunboat Opossum lay at Ichang placards were posted on the gates of the town offering rewards "for the murder of foreigners and the destruction of their steamers." From Japan we have news of a glut in the market, trade being unusually depressed and business all but suspended. The rebellion moves along, though with Asiatic slowness. The fort at Kanagawa still holds out, but the city of Hakodadi has, it is said, been captured by the imperialists. The prospect before both China and Japan is for the present, therefore, by no means cheering. Should famine be felt in China we may expect an immigration of Celestials to our shores sufficient to satisfy the most sanguine of the delegates to the late "Chinese Labor Convention." John Chinaman is by no means a stranger among us, but when his countrymen come over, not in tens, but hundreds and thousands, and take a fancy, as no doubt they will, to our soil and form of government, there is no telling in what numbers they may spread over this vast continent, or what social revolutions their presence may in course of time effect.

Thanks to steam and the telegraph, the shores of China and Japan are now brought as near to us as these States once were to the mother country. Our commerce with them is as yet in its infancy, but the extent to which it may hereafter develop itself is practically illimitable. They, however, must move ahead and take up some of our modern notions, like new blood, into their systems, before such results can be possible. At present they are not unlike what the kingdoms of Europe were when emerging from the feudal system, and must expect, before settling down into free governments, to pass through scenes of bloodshed and confusion. But this transition state may not be of long duration. Our Pacific Railroad, with new lines of swift and powerful steamers from San Francisco, will both expand commerce and help to break down the barrier of exclusiveness between us and them, and Lesseps' splendid work, the Suez Canal, will bring them into closer intercourse with Europe. What then, with Europe and America in this way carrying civilization to their shores, it is not too much to hope that the work of progress may not only be done well, but done quickly.

MR. BERGH'S NEW TRUCK FOR DISABLED ANIMALS.—The indefatigable President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has accomplished a great and good work. He has, after much time, labor and expense, introduced a new and practical arrangement by which disabled animals may be removed from the public streets without at all offending the eye or shocking the sensibilities of the most delicate spectators. The truck for the humane purpose of relieving disabled animals is as much of an improvement on the old system as is the present fire engine on the lumbering old hand machine of bygone days. Mr. Bergh has done well in this instance, and if he has at times been subjected to humorous comments through his excessive zeal, his latest act is such as must commend him to all humane and considerate citizens. The society of which he is the head well deserves its name.

JUDGE DENT ON HIS OWN HOOK.—It is given out that Judge Dent is running for Governor of Mississippi, not on the strength of his brother-in-law, General Grant, but on his own hook. Whether this announcement is made to help him or hurt him it does not appear; but we suppose that all the people of Mississippi attach some importance to the brother-in-law and the administration platform.

THE SEVENTH REGIMENT EXCURSION.—A nice thing for the summer holidays. It gives the regiment a pleasant campaign among the fashions and the ladies at Saratoga, and will serve at the same time to keep up its martial spirit and its chivalry. We hope soon to hear that others of the fine city regiments of our National Guard, New York State Militia, are following this good example. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

SENATOR WILSON ON THE VIRGINIA ELECTION.—He talks like a man of sense in arguing for an honest recognition of the results of the late Virginia election. Senator Wilson, however, has been over the Southern field of politics and knows how the land lies in Virginia, and as the mountain will not come to Mahomet he wisely concludes that Mahomet must go to the mountain.

GETTYSBURG.—It is proposed to mark by monuments the positions held by each of the several corps of the opposing armies in the crisis of the battle of Gettysburg. A neat idea for embossing in enduring stone on the field the most important battle of the war, (excepting only the first Bull Run), the turning point in the great struggle for the Union.

THE PRIDE OF OUR VALLEY.—A Pennsylvania democratic paper heads its editorial column with the party's nomination thus:—"For Governor—The Pride of Our Valley, Hon. Asa Packer." When there is a woman's rights candidate the title will probably be "The Prude of Our Valley."

A SMASH-UP IN WALL STREET.—Suppose "Mountain Boy" should run away and spill his owner. After the spill—what? A smash-up in Wall street? That's the question.

ARREST OF BURGLARS.

Last evening Detective Willoughby, of the Third precinct, arrested two boys, John White and Richard Sullivan, in the act of negotiating for the sale of a silver watch. They were taken before Captain Ulman, to whom they confessed they had burglariously entered the house of a gentleman at Fall River and stolen thirty dollars in greenbacks and three watches worth $100. They will be held for the arrival of the Fall River authorities.

PROBABLE MURDER AT YONKERS.

The Thirty-second precinct police report that at nine o'clock P. M. on Wednesday William Mulvaney, aged forty-nine years, was assaulted at Spuyten Duyvel and dangerously wounded about the face, head and body, by two brothers named Kearns and Murtha Shannon, employed in a foundery at that place. Mulvaney was taken to the hospital in a very critical condition, and yesterday a warrant was issued for the arrest of the brothers Shannon, who had fled the county.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

General and Mrs. Grant on a Quiet Shopping Expedition—"Let Me Have No Intrusion"—Amusing Scene Between General Grant and a Celtic Female "Mimber iv the Dimocracy."

The President, Mrs. Grant and little daughter, arrived in this city unexpectedly about half-past nine yesterday morning, by the boat from Long Branch. The proprietors of the Astor House had been previously instructed that, as the visit was only one of a few hours and made for the purpose of making certain necessary purchases here, the President desired, during the little time he would be in the Astor House, to be spared from the intrusion of visitors. The President, his wife and little daughter drove from the Barclay street pier, and, almost unobserved, entered, and very shortly afterwards left, the Astor House by the Barclay street entrance. They had arrived and proceeded on their shopping expedition so quietly that Mrs. Grant had made extensive purchases of dry goods before the small gathering of uninterested looking persons (who, having no better way of amusing themselves, had assembled in the hall of the Astor House to look at the President) were aware of his arrival. General Grant accompanied his wife and daughter to the various stores to which they went. The greater part of the time was spent by them at Stewart's, where they bought a quantity of goods more remarkable for their variety than costliness. They had finished their shopping and returned to the Astor House by three P. M. They entered, as before, quietly and almost unobserved, partook of a slight lunch, and, again leaving the hotel noiselessly, arrived at six o'clock at the Barclay street pier to take the steamer for Long Branch. Whether it was that the visit did not interest the public much, or that the fact of their visit was not generally known, or, again, that the people were willing to leave the President as much to himself as he could desire, very few went to the pier to get a glimpse of him—the persons there consisting mainly of the passengers by the boats for Long Branch or Newark, and of the laborers who work on the wharf. There were no manifestations of any kind, no rush to get a nearer view of General Grant, no sycophantic gathering of worshippers at the shrine of office.

The President stood for some time on the lower deck, and there shook hands with several persons who came forward, the only prominent citizen among them being Peter Cooper. While the President was standing there a ludicrous scene was enacted. An old Irishwoman, well known on the pier, went up to the President, shook hands with him, and taking from her orange basket two as good oranges as she could find among the far from tempting collection, thrust them into the President's hand, and insisted on his accepting them. The act caused considerable merriment among the bystanders, but General Grant did not seem to appreciate the joke. He looked first at the oranges, which had seen better days, and then with a bewildered expression at the genial looking, voluble old woman, and, after a little time, comprehending that she meant these treasures from her humble store as a present to him, put them in his pocket. He then ascended to the upper deck and sat down beside his wife and daughter. The old Irish woman was enthusiastic over the little event in which she had been a prominent figure, and amid the laughter of the crowd cried out in the same breath—"Musha, but he's a rale foine looking gintleman intirely—here yees are, four beautiful oranges for tin cints." This was followed by "Shure I shook hands wid the Prisident, so I did," on which a wag in the crowd cried out, "A nice thing for a democrat like you to shake hands with a republican like him." This blow at her devotion to principle seemed to stagger her for a moment, but recovering her presence of mind, she retorted, "Divil a bit of black republican blood in his body!" The crowd laughed loudly, and the old woman, evidently feeling that she had not yet redeemed herself in the eyes of the great "dimocracy," exclaimed, "Shure Andy Johnson was the rale pure dimocrat entirely! Arrah, but he was the jewel iv a man!"

At half-past four the steamer left the pier for Long Branch, General Grant, with his wife and child, being seated among the passengers on the upper deck, no demonstrations being made by the small group of persons who watched the departure.

MUSICAL AND THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Sinbad" will be ausgespielt July 30.

"Patrie" will be revived about the 1st of September.

The Fifth Avenue theatre reopens on the 16th of August.

Jefferson, "Rip Van Winkle," at Booth's August 2.

"Arrah na Pogue" and brogue at Niblo's on the same night.

"Lalla Rookh," on the same night, makes her first bow at the Museum.

Miss Kate Fisher-"Mazeppa" will be the recipient to-night of a benefit at the "Old Drury."

"Long Strike," with a strong cast, will be produced at Wallack's next Monday evening.

The Théâtre Français reopens September 11 under the management of Parepa-Rosa, with English opera.

Fanny Janauschek sailed from Bremen on Saturday last for this city, where she appears in English tragedy about December.

Starr, the reformed opéra bouffe manager, handed $2,100 over to the Cuban Junta as the proceeds of the late benefit given at the Academy of Music in aid of the Cuban patriots.

"The Catacombs," in Fourteenth street, will be made vocal with the strains of French grand opera, from the 1st of November until February. Nobody in the city appears to know anything concerning the company who are to furnish us with this great treat.

"The Original Christy's Minstrels" (?) who are now performing at St. James Hall, London, were reinforced on the 8th inst. by Messrs. Wambold, Bernard and Backus, of the San Francisco Minstrels in this city. All three were well received. The elongated Nelse Seymour, late of Bryant's Minstrels, is cutting up his Shanghae capers in the same English company, and is quite a favorite with the appreciative cockneys.

Bryant's Minstrels close their hall in the big wigwam to-morrow night for renovation and repairs, preparatory to opening for the fall season. The hall will remain closed for about three weeks, during which time the troupe of dusky favorites will endeavor to tickle the stoical "Broadbrims" of the Quaker City into something like "appreciation" for the grotesque and eccentric.

A prestidigitator, rejoicing in the felicitous cognomen of "Professor Domore," is at present delighting the simple-minded Chicagoese with feats of sleight-of-hand and other marvellous deceptions. It is a little doubtful, however, whether "Professor Domore" is more expert at humbugging than the very people he is now endeavoring to deceive. If "Professor Domore" can get the best of the moral Chicagoese he can do more than most men.

Lyric art is rapidly improving in Paris. In the revival of "Le Prophète" at the Grand Opera House in that city two English skaters, who were expressly engaged for the opera from the Alcazar, make the greatest effect and nightly carry off the lion's share of the honors. What are the Parisians coming to? Opéra bouffe apparently has not benefited them.

The Emperor of Russia recently ordered his Imperial Opera director to offer Mme. Alboni $600 in gold per month and $2,000 travelling expenses. Mme. Alboni replied that she would not accept lower terms than those on which La Patti had sung. In reply the Emperor telegraphed that he agreed with her view of the case, and requested Mme. Alboni to accept an engagement for St. Petersburg identical to the one La Patti had signed last winter.

During this dull season in theatrical affairs many of the enterprising Western managers have journeyed to New York to make arrangements for the fall and winter season. Manager Duffield, of the Louisville Opera House, determined to give a succession of first class performances, has engaged the following "stars" for engagements during the coming season:—Joe Jefferson, Forrest, Lydia Thompson, Owens, Scott-Siddons, Mary Mitchell, Albaugh, Leffingwell, Miss Marriott, Mrs. Bowers, Fanny Price and others, besides the Richings English opera company, a German opera company and Grau's Italian opera company. The season commences on September 6.

M. Offenbach is said to be growing ambitious, and intends writing a "Guillaume Tell;" after which he will be satisfied. Like Alexandre Dumas fils, he is tired of his reputation. The world has only recognized in him a master of frothy, catchy, attractive melodies, the illustration of indelicate subjects. Now, he protests that he writes musical tomfooleries like "La Périchole" and "Tulipatan" for the simple reason that they pay better than any other form of composition. Having amassed a handsome fortune he designs to produce one important work and then throw down his pen, in imitation of the example of the recently deceased maestro, Rossini.

ALLEGED HEAVY DEFALCATION.

Reported Loss of $63,000 by the Security Insurance Company.

About two days ago the officers of the Security Insurance Company made a startling discovery, implicating Frank W. Ballard, the secretary of the corporation, in alleged defalcation to the extent, it is claimed, of $63,000. The reported embezzlement was made public only yesterday, and the affair was discovered during Mr. Ballard's absence from the city. Taking, therefore, this fact into consideration it would perhaps be well to receive the report with caution, particularly as the alleged defaulter has hitherto held a high position among insurance men, having filled the position of secretary in both the New York Board of Fire Underwriters and the National Board. He has been secretary of the company since November, 1868, and for a long time before that was secretary of the Importers and Traders' Insurance Company.

The facts as revealed appear to be as follows:—The amount of the defalcation is $63,000, all of which has gone to meet losses incurred by Wall street speculations. The loss was discovered two days ago, when Mr. Ballard was promptly displaced.

The defalcation was managed in the most ingenious manner, and could have been accomplished only by an expert bookkeeper. The company usually has a surplus of about $200,000, part of which is used to make call loans. The company never charges more than seven per cent, and receives only government bonds as collateral security. These collaterals were used by Mr. Ballard for purposes of speculation.

The Irish Church Bill—Surrender of the Peers—Triumph of the Commons.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

There has been a compromise on the question of the Irish Church bill, resulting through fear on the part of the peers of the consequences arising from the threatened collision of the two Houses of Parliament. Last night a large meeting of the tory lords was held at the private residence of one of the peers, when it was resolved to repudiate the leadership of Lord Salisbury and place themselves under the lead of Lord Cairns, who was authorized to make peace with the Ministry and express the willingness of the peers to yield. To-day Lord Cairns sought an interview with the Earl of Granville, when he informed him that he was ready to give in the submission of the peers whenever the Cabinet agreed to a compromise.

It is announced to-night that the prompt and loud expressions of popular indignation had terrified the Lords, and thus postponed for a while the threatened agitation.

The Consideration of the Church Bill Resumed in the House of Lords—The Compromise Effected—The Original Date of Disestablishment Agreed to.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

In the House of Lords to-night there was a full attendance of peers and spectators, and many members of the House of Commons were present.

The consideration of the amendments to the Irish Church bill was resumed.

Earl Granville opened the debate by stating that her Majesty's Ministers regarded the vote of Tuesday night as one of a very grave character; but they were unwilling to prevent the consideration of the other amendments to the bill, and were anxious to conduct the discussion in a spirit of peace and conciliation. He proposed the reinsertion of the original date of disestablishment—namely, January 1, 1871—but should not insist on a division of the House. If the motion was contrary to the feeling of the House he would withdraw it.

Lord Cairns said since the adjournment he had had a conference with Earl Granville. He (Lord Cairns) thought the amendments remaining few and capable of solution. He was glad to find that Earl Granville was actuated by a similar spirit. Nothing could be more culpable on either side than to encourage or protract controversy on a measure of this kind where materials for a solution were at hand. With that view and that sentiment everything which took place at the conference accorded. He argued that the question of date was of secondary importance, and declared that he was ready to accept the original date. He advised the Lords not to insist on their amendments in regard to curates, ecclesiastical residences or the commutation of annuities. If three-fourths of a diocese were willing to commute they would have twelve instead of seven, per cent added. The question with respect to the disposition of the surplus might be left over; but power should be given to Parliament to apply a portion of the fund to the alleviation of unavoidable calamity. Lord Cairns concluded by admitting that he still had strong objections to the bill; but if it was to pass at all it was not for the interests of the country or the Church to prolong the struggle on minor details.

The Marquis of Salisbury, Earl Russell and other leading peers accepted the compromise and praised the conduct of Lord Cairns in the present emergency.

The motion for the restoration of the original date of disestablishment was agreed to, and other amendments were disposed of according to the terms of the compromise.

Clause sixty-eight was altered so that none of the surplus shall be applied without the separate and distinct sanction of Parliament.

The Earl of Bandon and the Bishop of Tuam protested against the compromise.

Earl Granville thanked Lord Cairns for the frankness with which he had entered into confidential communication with the government in order to smooth down the difficulties in the way of the bill.

The London Times on the Irish Church Bill.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

The Times this morning, in an editorial, says that the ministry has resolved to preserve the Irish Church bill, in spite of the majority against it in the House of Lords. Therefore, the conclusion is, the Times continues, that the differences between the houses in respect to the preamble and the sixty-eighth clause do not offer an insuperable obstacle to the passage of the bill.

An English Opinion of the Present Condition of Ireland.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

The Times, alluding to the recent agrarian outrages in Ireland, says centuries of misrule have planted perverse views in the Irish peasant's breast, which must disappear under beneficent and enlightened legislation. For this reason we trust in such measures of justice as the Irish Church bill, which should not be left unsettled a moment longer than can be avoided. Until it is settled there is little hope for tranquillity in Ireland, and the gravest results are to be apprehended from temporary postponement. Heavy indeed is the responsibility of those who have the power to rescue the measure from delay.

Since the prorogation of the Corps Législatif the Deputies of the Left have held a meeting to consider what action they should take under the circumstances.

M. Thiers presented and explained a protest against the attitude of the government towards the Chamber, and then proceeded to develop a programme of political reform. But his propositions were considered too monarchical by the democrats and were rejected.

M. Jules Favre advocated silence for the present, and others favored a dissolution of the Chamber. The meeting adjourned without arriving at any conclusion.

The mines at Consola, Copola and Ventano were yielding large quantities of silver.

After the trial was concluded Yerger was brought before Judge Hill, of the United States Circuit Court, on a writ of habeas corpus. Barr, submitted a return, and Yerger was remanded to military custody, the points heretofore involved having been passed upon by Judge Hill with the same result. The case will next be heard from in the Supreme Court.

The Episcopal Church Difficulty—Injunction Against Further Proceedings in the Trial of Rev. Mr. Cheney.

CHICAGO, July 22, 1869.

The ecclesiastical court engaged in the trial of the Rev. Mr. Cheney assembled at half-past nine this morning.

The President announced that the exceptions taken yesterday afternoon by the counsel for the accused, and which had been held for advisement at the adjournment, were overruled.

Mr. Fuller rose and said:—"We have, up to this time, presented such objections as we had to the jurisdiction and to the various papers that have been laid before you, and to the court, of which you are the presiding officer, until we have reached the point at which we will go no further. I have applied to the Superior Court of Chicago for an injunction, which has been granted, against all further proceedings in the case. We have determined that if our client is smitten it shall not be contrary to law, and we have been compelled to pursue this course. The Sheriff of Cook county, who is present, will serve the gentlemen whom he will find named in the writ."

The Sheriff of Cook county, Gustave Fischer, then proceeded to serve the writs in due form, his entrance being greeted with loud and continued applause by the audience.

As soon as he could be heard the President demanded order, and said if such demonstrations should again occur he would order the house to be cleared.

After the injunction had been served the court retired for consultation, and on return, shortly after eleven o'clock, announced that an adjournment would be had until two o'clock to-morrow.

California Republican State Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22, 1869.

The Republican State Convention at Sacramento yesterday nominated Lorenzo Sawyer and O. C. Pratt for judges of the Supreme Court.

The Convention adopted resolutions, first, pledging the support of the party to and endorsing Grant's administration; second, that the negro question has ceased to be an element of American politics, and that the ratification of the fifteenth amendment should be followed by an act of universal amnesty and the enfranchisement of the Southern people; third, regards with satisfaction the increasing immigration to this State from the Atlantic States and Europe, and while giving preference to the people of our own race, holds that inoffensive immigrants from China should be entitled to the full protection of the law, opposes Chinese suffrage in any form and any change of the naturalization laws of the United States; fourth, recognizes the power of the general government to restrict or prevent Chinese immigration by terminating our commercial relations with China, but believes that the closing of our ports, at present, against the Chinese, would be injurious to the material interests of the coast and a reproach upon the intelligence of the American people and contrary to the spirit of the age; fifth, approves of the Eight Hour law; sixth, endorses the action of Congress respecting the Alabama treaty and considers it the duty of the general government to demand reparation for the injury inflicted by the British government and people upon our commerce; seventh, favors the equalization of taxation on all kinds of property in the State, and, eighth, opposes all grants of State aid to railways.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21, 1869.

The loss is over $100,000, and is only partly insured.

The official returns of the vote in Washington Territory give a total of 5,238, an increase in two years of 608. Garfield's (republican) majority for delegate to Congress is 148. The vote on the question of a State constitution is small—400 in favor and 688 against the proposition.

Stoppage of the Sales of Gold—Favorable Effects of Boutwell's Financial Policy.

The Secretary of the Treasury, on being questioned on the subject, replied that he had no intention at present of selling gold, and that he did not expect to sell any while the premium was at the present figure. The impression at the Treasury is that it will go lower. This seems to be founded on the fact that United States bonds have advanced in Europe in consequence of the favorable exhibit of Boutwell's financial management, and that by the time there is a demand for the shipment of gold the crops will be ready to bring into the market. A letter received here to-day from an American gentleman travelling in Europe alludes in warm language to the beneficial effect of Boutwell's policy in strengthening the credit of our government abroad.

Another Scramble for Office—General Cochrane's Declination Held in Abeyance.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue finds the business of his bureau so far behind after his absence that it will be several days before he can turn his attention to the various applications on file for offices which have become vacant during the past month. In the meantime several politicians are here from Pennsylvania making a scramble for a vacant collectorship in the Fifteenth district of that State. The collectorship of the Sixth district New York is still unsettled. The refusal of General Cochrane to accept is held in abeyance, as it is understood that he will take it if certain arrangements are made with regard to the deposits. The Secretary of the Treasury is rather inclined to make this arrangement, and if he does, that will settle the business.

THE CUBAN FILIBUSTERS.

Probable Discharge of the Prisoners To-Day—Names of the Captives—The Grand Army of the Republic Calls Upon the Government for the Recognition of Cuba.

This morning District Attorney Pierrepont, Marshal Barlow and United States Commissioners White and Shields will proceed to Fort Lafayette to take some action with regard to the Cuban filibusters recently captured at Gardiner's Island and who have been confined in the fort since Saturday last. It has not transpired, however, what action is to be taken in the matter—whether the object is to arrest the prisoners on formal warrants or to discharge them on giving bonds to keep the peace. In all probability, however, they will be discharged on their own recognizances, as was the former batch. ACTION OF THE GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

The Grand Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic of the State of New York has been holding its annual session during the past two days at Booth's theatre, concluding yesterday. About 250 delegates were in attendance, representing nearly 100 posts, Vice Commander Colonel E. W. Lansing presiding. A special committee on the Cuban question, comprising General H. A. Barnum, G. W. Brown, J. B. Murray, M. H. Ellis and J. B. McKean, presented the following report, preamble and resolutions, which were adopted unanimously yesterday afternoon:—

NEW YORK, July 22, 1869.

TO THE GRAND ENCAMPMENT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK:—

Your committee to whom was referred the resolution on Cuba would respectfully report that, while they favor a resolution of sympathy for the cause of Cuba, still they deem it inexpedient that a resolution requesting the administration to recognize Cuba as a belligerent Power should be adopted. They feel satisfied that the question is perfectly safe in the hands of our President; that delicate and complicated questions of international law are involved, and that those who by their official positions are charged with the duty of superintending our international relations are better capable of determining this question; that our own Grand Commander—whose official relationship with us still exists—would be very much embarrassed in his diplomatic mission in Spain by such a resolution. That in view of the embarrassment which it would occasion to him as well as to our own government we would report against the resolution requesting recognition of Cuba. Your committee offer the following resolution in its stead:—

Whereas it is impossible for those who have themselves carried to a successful issue a fierce and protracted struggle in defence of freedom and their native land to contemplate unmoved the heroic efforts of a sister country to throw off the thraldom which centuries of oppression have made so galling as to be no longer within the bounds of human endurance; and whereas we recognize in the patriot army of Cuba, now so nobly contending against fearful odds, a righteous determination to deliver their beloved isle from the tyranny of a foreign Power; therefore be it

Resolved, That we congratulate them on their past success; that we commend and rejoice at their heroic and noble stand against great odds, and hereby extend to them our deepest, warmest and most hearty sympathy, and will hail their day of delivery and independence with heartfelt joy and gratitude.

Resolved, That our government be requested to take such steps as it may deem necessary to prevent the cruelties and barbarities perpetrated by the Spanish troops upon the prisoners of the patriot army and patriot citizens of Cuba.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the President of the United States and furnished the press for publication.

CUBAN VOLUNTEERS AT THE TOMBS.

Samuel C. Beman was yesterday arrested and taken to the Tombs Police Court, before Justice Dowling, on a charge of drawing a dirk knife on Cornelius Gillespie, of No. 1,110 Third avenue. Both were among the enthusiastic volunteers who recently enlisted to fight for the struggling Cubans. They got talking over Cuban matters, when a dispute arose which led to the alleged attempted murderous assault. The accused was committed for trial at the Court of Special Sessions.

OBITUARY.

John A. Roebling.

This gentleman, one of the most distinguished civil engineers in the United States, died at his residence, in Brooklyn, at an early hour yesterday, of tetanus, the result of an accident which occurred at the Brooklyn ferry on the 28th ult. He had been standing on a beam, next to the standing piles which form the entrance to the ferry house, surveying for the New York and Brooklyn bridge, when the boat coming in forced the piles against the beam, accidentally catching one of his feet between the two, crushing the toes frightfully. He was soon after conveyed to a surgeon's office, where, after an examination, it was decided that the mutilated members would have to be amputated. This was done, after which Mr. Roebling was taken to his residence. Unfortunately for himself he had a great faith in the cold water cure, and instead of seeking the advice of a physician, as his friends recommended him, he insisted upon treating the injury according to his ideas. The result was that gangrene set in, followed almost immediately after by symptoms of tetanus. When a physician was called in it was too late. His recovery had become impossible, and, as we have stated above, he died yesterday morning, in the sixty-third year of his age.

HIS BIRTHPLACE, EDUCATION AND EARLY PROFESSIONAL CAREER.

Mr. Roebling was a Prussian by birth, but had resided in this republic for nearly forty years. He was born in the town of Mulhausen, in Thuringia, Prussia, on the 12th of June, 1806, and received a fine education at the Royal Polytechnic School of Berlin, from whence he graduated, taking the degree of Civil Engineer. Three subsequent years were spent in the service of the government, mainly at Westphalia, where he superintended the public works in course of erection, gaining considerable experience in his profession and giving numerous evidences of the great engineering skill he possessed. About the year 1831 he emigrated to the United States, settling in Western Pennsylvania, where he purchased a large tract of land. This section of Pennsylvania was then very sparsely populated, and for several years Mr. Roebling worked on his farm, seeing but few persons of cultivation whose society were congenial to him. Of course such a life had no charms for the deceased, and he abandoned it at the earliest opportunity to resume the profession of engineering. His first professional work in the United States was upon the slack water navigation of the Beaver river, one of the Ohio river tributaries. He was afterwards employed on the Sandy and Beaver Canal, which was never completed, and later on the Upper Alleghany river. This was his last connection with canal engineering. Some time after he entered into an engagement with the State of Pennsylvania to survey and locate a route for three lines of railways across the Alleghany Mountains. This work employed him for three years, and was most satisfactorily performed, although the roads were finally constructed by a private company.

Mr. Roebling now engaged in the manufacture of wire ropes, then in its infancy in this country, but now a most important branch of business. The use of these ropes in transporting the canal boats of the Pennsylvania State Canal across the Alleghany Mountains and the experience gained by him as to the capacity of wire to sustain a great pressure first assured him of the feasibility of suspension bridges with great spans, the idea of which he had long entertained. As a matter of course great opposition was encountered. There never was a great enterprise which in its incipiency did not meet with ridicule and prophecies of failure until complete success put an end to all doubts and positive assertions of its impossibility. Mr. Roebling met the fate of all men of genius. He was told that his idea was not only impracticable, but it was utterly impossible of realization. He, however, persevered heedless of adverse criticism, to finally win, and by winning, to achieve a lasting reputation.

HIS SUSPENSION AQUEDUCTS AND BRIDGES.

In 1844 Mr. Roebling obtained the opportunity he had long sought for. During that year the wooden aqueduct of the Pennsylvania State Canal across the Alleghany river required rebuilding, or rather it was found necessary to replace it with a new structure on the old piers, which were quite sound and serviceable. Mr. Roebling was the lowest bidder for the contract, which he obtained, to do the work within a specified time. Even after the aqueduct was completed, comprising seven spans of 162 feet each, and consisting of wooden tanks to receive the water, the whole supported by a continuous wire cable, the opponents of this new method of constructing aqueducts declared that the structure was not safe. It would give way, they said, before the tremendous pressure of water to be turned upon it. These predictions were never fulfilled, and the complete success which attended the work placed the engineer at the head of his profession. He subsequently constructed on the same plan the Lackawaxen, Delaware, High Falls and Neversink aqueducts, on the Delaware and Hudson Canals, all of which are permanent structures of great value.

But the great work with which Mr. Roebling's name is associated, and which must ever cause him to be remembered as one of the greatest of American engineers, was the construction of the suspension bridge across the Niagara river, connecting Canada with the United States by rail. Efforts had been made to build this bridge, and, in fact, there had been a temporary bridge erected for the use of travellers and light vehicles. In addition, Mr. Ellet, the engineer, had been employed by the New York Central Railroad and the Great Western Railway Company, of Canada, to construct a suspension bridge, but some time passed without anything doing until finally Mr. Ellet left the companies. The subject of this sketch was then engaged to construct the bridge. How well and how permanently it was done we need not state here. For the first time in the history of civil engineering over 800 feet of water were covered by a single span, and a bridge calculated to sustain almost any weight that could be placed upon it constructed and supported by four wire cables of ten inches in diameter.

About this time Mr. Roebling began the construction of a much greater work, it being the construction of a suspension bridge across the Kentucky river, on the line of the Cincinnati and Chattanooga Railroad, requiring a single span of 1,224 feet. This great work was never completed for want of funds. Two other suspension bridges, one at Cincinnati and the other at Pittsburg, were built by him. At the time of his death he was engaged upon what would probably have proved the main work of his life—the bridging of New York and Brooklyn, with a clear span of 1,600 feet. It is a satisfaction to know, however, that all his plans and estimates had been completed, and that the bridge will be constructed according to them.

CONCLUSION.

Some years ago Mr. Roebling left the West and moved to Trenton, N. J., where he established his works. He also took up his regular residence there, and was living in Brooklyn only temporarily. His body will be conveyed to Trenton for interment.

The death of Mr. Roebling must be regarded as a public calamity; for although the work on which he was engaged will undoubtedly be carried out to a successful termination according to his plans, there were others requiring great engineering skill to which his judgment and ability would have been of incalculable benefit. Personally, too, Mr. Roebling was much esteemed, and his numerous friends will hear of his death with deep regret.

Sidney Smith Lee.

A telegram from Alexandria, Va., reports the death, at his residence in Stafford county, of Sidney Smith Lee, a brother of General Robert E. Lee, and formerly an officer of the Union and later of the Confederate navy. He was born in Virginia about the year 1800 and entered the navy in 1820. At the outbreak of the rebellion he held the rank of senior lieutenant; but he threw up his commission and entered the Confederate service as commodore. During the war he did very little of note, perhaps because he never had an opportunity. Commodore Lee and General Samuel Cooper married sisters, of the name of Mason, descendants of General Mason, of Gunstown Hall. After the war he took up his residence on the Potomac, in Maryland, but subsequently returned to Virginia, where he died.

BAHAMAS.

The Salvador Case—The Spanish Consul Recalled—The British Cruisers—Wedding of a Cuban Couple—Yellow Fever.

NASSAU, N. P., July 10, 1869.

The case of the Cuban blockade runner the British steamer Salvador came on on Tuesday last and was continued yesterday (Friday), when the question had not been concluded. Great concern is shown by the parties interested, as well as the Cubans generally, and it is hoped that it will have a favorable decision. The patriots will hereafter show more caution, and whenever they may have a similar enterprise in hand they will take care, perhaps, that the vessel be any but an English one and to take her to any port but one in the Bahamas.

Mr. John Maury, who has served the Spanish Consulate in the Bahamas for nearly thirty years, has been removed by the Madrid government. Mr. Maury feels quite indignant at the decision of General Serrano for thus rewarding his long services, and pronounces the Spanish government to be a very ungrateful one.

Her Britannic Majesty's steamship Eclipse is in port. Her Majesty's steamship Royalist left to-day for Inagua, and the Philomel is going to Havana.

A Cuban wedding took place last evening in the Cathedral (Episcopal church). The happy couple are Don Lorenzo Jimenez, a native of Matanzas, and Doña Isabel Silva Castellanos, a native of Puerto Principe.

Business is exceedingly dull.

Yellow fever is on the increase.

EXCURSION OF COMPANY B, TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT, N. G.

The officers and members of Company B, Twenty-second regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., were entertained in truly princely style yesterday, at Oak Grove, Rye, the beautiful summer seat of Mr. S. S. Bent. On arriving at the Portchester station the company was welcomed in the most enthusiastic manner by a reception committee composed of the elite of the neighboring gentry, supported by a host of ladies and a large assemblage of "happy peasantry." The younger ladies made rapturous comments on the handsome appearance of the gallant visitors, and in so doing displayed their exceeding good taste, for Company B is composed, without a single exception, of as well-built, good-looking and gentlemanly a set of boys as were ever arrayed in plumed shakos, blue swallow tails and immaculate unmentionables. Having given the good people at the depot the regulation salute of "three and a ti-ga-ah!" the "flower of the Twenty-second" stepped off briskly to the stirring music of Dodworth's regimental band, and after a short but exceedingly pleasant halt at the house of Mr. Thomas Bent, marched through the village of Portchester to Oak Grove, where Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Bent and a select party of invited guests received and entertained them in a most magnificent manner. The banquet in the grove was a prodigious success, the worthy host having provided every delicacy that a reasonable epicure could desire and added no end of "extras." The banquet over, a picturesque group was formed in front of the villa, the military guests occupying the centre, and a faithful photograph of the gay and festive gathering was secured. The flirtation between the "boys in blue" and their lovely companions in silks and muslins of all the colors now in fashion culminated in a dance on the lawn, and tripping on the "light fantastic" was followed by a delightful trip down to Rye Beach.

In addition to Captain T. H. Cullen, Lieutenant George W. Laird and Second Lieutenant M. R. Pearsall, the officers of Company B, the following officers of the Twenty-second regiment participated in the pleasures of the day:—Colonel Remmey, Lieutenant Colonel Porter, Major Camp, Captain McGrath, Lieutenants Austin, Styles and Briggs, and Dr. Rodenstein.

FIRES IN THE CITY.

In Mercer Street—Damage About $7,500.

About forty minutes after eight o'clock last evening fire was discovered by an officer of the Eighth precinct issuing from the garret of No. 75 Mercer street, owned by Mr. Thomas Crippen, of Staten Island, and leased to A. Bourlier, who has an insurance of $4,000 on improvements, and loses probably $1,000 by the fire.

The basement was occupied by Edward Hoole, baggage check manufacturer, whose damage by water is about $100.

The first main floor is occupied by Harlow Roys, leather dealer. Damage by water about $300.

The second and third floors and garret are occupied by James McBride & Co., manufacturers of gents' silk and cloth hats, ladies' hats, &c., who had a large stock, and sustained probably $4,000 to $6,000 damage by fire and water. In their premises the fire originated, it is believed, in two places—in the garret and in a middle room of the second floor, where a valuable stock evidently was located. The appearance of the premises, after the smoke and fire had been expelled, was calculated to impress a close observer with the idea that the conflagration was the work of an incendiary. As none of the occupants were present the insurance could not be ascertained. The loss on the building will be fully $900, which is fully covered by insurance.

In New Street.

Between eight and nine o'clock last night a fire occurred from the generation of gas in the distillery of Woodson & George, Nos. 42 and 44 New street. The damage was about $2,500, which is fully covered by $6,000 insurance. The building at the time of the breaking out of the fire was in charge of Joseph Cavanagh, engineer, and the still and engine were at work. Reports were circulated that the still would probably explode, and citizens beat a hasty retreat from the fire lines. The fire department worked so promptly that in a few minutes the flames were sufficiently subdued to permit of the entry of the engineer, who took precautions to prevent the explosion.

The High and Low Church Lunacy Case—Interesting Opinion by Judge Cardozo—A Reference Ordered.

In re Caroline C. Allen.—It will be remembered that the full particulars of this case appeared in the HERALD a few days since. The son of the lady, who is an Episcopal minister, seeks to prove his mother insane and to get possession of her property in consequence. Judge Cardozo had delivered the following opinion in the premises:—

To subject the person and property of a lady to the custody and care of others on the ground of her being of unsound mind is always a matter of great delicacy and importance, while it is not possible to be too cautious. I only intend now to say that this case presents some considerations which impress me with the belief that certainly it should form no exception to that general rule, if, indeed, it does not demand unusual circumspection. I have concluded, therefore, upon a very careful examination of the papers, to direct a reference to ascertain the mental condition of Mrs. Allen at the present time, and in view of the gravity of the inquiry and of the peculiar circumstances attributed to the case, I have determined to call to my aid, as reference, Mr. Nathaniel Jarvis, Jr., whose judgment the community generally will respect, and on whose opinion my judicial conscience, for the information and satisfaction of which the reference is ordered, can rest with perfect confidence. The referee will report the evidence, with his opinion; and, should he think it necessary or advisable, the lady must submit to such examination as he may approve, either by himself or such other gentleman as he may select; and he will incorporate in his report the substance of any such interviews and a statement of the effect made upon his mind by them. In the meanwhile an order may be entered staying all proceedings in the lunacy matter, except to prosecute the reference, and upon the coming in of the referee's report I will hear the counsel further upon this application, on two days' notice by either side to the other. As those who institute the proceedings to declare this lady a lunatic, waited, according to their own version, for a period of three years before moving in the matter and it does not appear that there is any especial reason for haste now, no harm can happen by the little delay incident to the reference. While, if the lady be right in her assertions (upon which, of course, I do not mean to intimate any opinion at present), the consummation of a monstrous wrong will be prevented.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Trial of Policeman Matthew Campbell for the Alleged Murder of Maurice Long—One of the Jury Sick—The Trial Adjourned to Monday.

SECOND DAY.

Before Judge Cardozo.

The People vs. Matthew Campbell.—The court room yesterday was crowded to the doors, and standing room even for one more could not by any possibility be obtained. The interest felt by the large crowd of spectators in the proceedings was far more intense than was exhibited on the first day, as might be inferred from the low buzz of conversation which ran through the assemblage for nearly an hour before Judge Cardozo took his seat on the bench. At eleven o'clock the prisoner, who was attired in the summer uniform of the force, was brought into court handcuffed and in the custody of two deputy sheriffs. He is a young man of about twenty-eight years of age, tall and lithe in figure, and on the whole presents rather a quiet demeanor.

The court opened at half-past eleven o'clock and the jurors having answered to their names, except one, who was sick, several other jurors who had been summoned were called and challenged for various sufficient reasons.

Mr. Charles Spencer, associated with Mr. Vanderpoel to defend the prisoner, then expressed his desire to have the case adjourned to a future day.

Mr. Robert Holmes said that if this jury should be absolutely discharged now for the reason that one of their number was sick it might be a question for a court of review, and perhaps that proceeding might be fatal to the case of the people. His suggestion was, therefore this:—He had looked into this case and carefully examined the facts, and he felt bound to say that his learned and esteemed friend the District Attorney would not say to the court that he deemed this case to be a case of murder, even on the ex parte statements which he had before him. If not a case of murder in the first degree it then became a bailable case. If the District Attorney should make that suggestion by all means let this man be bailed. Let passion cool with the coolness of the weather, and let this man be tried in October. The only question to be decided here was, was this a bailable case; or, in other words, did the District Attorney deem this a case of murder in the first degree? To keep this man in prison during the months of August and September he deemed to be a cruelty.

Judge Cardozo—I don't think any of you gentlemen are advised how long this Oyer and Terminer will sit. It is my intention to sit just as long as the public interests require it.

Mr. Holmes—The withdrawal of a juror, I contend, is a vital objection.

District Attorney Garvin—I do not propose to say anything on the subject except this:—The District Attorney of the city and county of New York represents a million of people. The public business is absolutely enormous. The consequence is that the District Attorney and his assistants are unable to say when a case is brought up for trial precisely what sort of case it will turn out to be. Now, it might turn out on this trial, for ought he knew, that this was one of the boldest cases of murder that ever was committed in the city of New York. He was not going to stand up there before his Honor and the audience now and say that he was satisfied that this was not a case of murder in the first degree and consent that this man be bailed and have his liberty, while, if he had been a common man and not a policeman he (the District Attorney) would refuse to bail him. He held that a public officer, be he district attorney, judge, juror or policeman, should be held up to the law, and if he was guilty of any offence he must be convicted like any other man. He was not prepared to say that this was not a case of murder. Neither was he prepared to say it was a case of murder. Therefore he should let it take the ordinary course. Only a few days ago he tried a man and convicted him for shooting a policeman, and considered that a bold case of murder. In all cases where the police did their duty they should be protected, justified and cared for by the District Attorney. But if they overstepped their line of duty, and that this turned out to be such a case, the prisoner must take the consequence the same as any common individual. He would consent that the case stand over until Monday morning, when an additional juror could be obtained. If that was not satisfactory, he was ready to let it stand over until August: or he was ready to dissolve the jury now empanelled and get a new one.

Judge Cardozo said he would adjourn the case to half-past eleven o'clock on Monday morning, and discharged the eleven empanelled jurors until then, with the usual caution.

The name of the juror who pleaded sickness is William J. Mathes.

KILLED BY FALLING DOWN STAIRS.—Coroner Flynn was yesterday called to 307 East Twenty-fourth street, to hold an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Ellen McGrath, an Irishwoman, seventy years of age, whose death was the result of injuries received by falling down a flight of stairs on the 9th inst.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE.—A boy four years of age, son of Mr. E. Coleman, of No. 249 West Thirty-ninth street, on Tuesday last fell from the third story window to the pavement, and, strange to relate, was not killed. When picked up the little fellow was insensible, but in a short time, by medical attendance, the boy was restored to consciousness. However, on examination the child's skull was found fractured in two places. He is about again, and the opinion of the physician is that he will surely recover.

FATALLY KICKED BY HIS HORSE.—Yesterday afternoon information reached the Coroner's office that Frederick Histe, a German, twenty-eight years of age, had been found dead in his wagon, under circumstances which induced the belief that he had been kicked to death by his horse. The affair occurred in the upper part of the city, but where, or the circumstances connected with it, did not transpire. The body of deceased was conveyed to the Thirty-first precinct station house, where Coroner Schirmer will hold an inquest. The residence of deceased was not ascertained.

BURGLARY IN STANTON STREET.—Some time during Wednesday night the barber shop of Solomon Goldmann, No. 172 Stanton street, received the attention of burglars. They effected an entrance by forcing the lock of the door, and on entering broke open the money drawer, where a considerable sum of money was found. The thieves also carried away a large number of towels, razors, shears, &c., belonging to the poor barber, whose total loss is about $250. The robbery was yesterday reported at the Eleventh precinct station house, and a detective detailed by Captain Dixon to hunt up the thief and property.

THE ST. BRIDGET'S TEMPERANCE PICNIC.—Rev. Father Mooney, pastor of St. Bridget's church, makes the following statement relative to the picnic of the St. Bridget's Temperance Society, held on Wednesday:—In the HERALD of Thursday morning it is stated that I did not disapprove of St. Bridget's temperance picnic nor caution my parishioners from going there. Will you please do me the justice in stating in your paper that I did disapprove of said picnic, and on last Sunday spoke at the four masses to that effect, both in the name of the Most Rev. Archbishop McCloskey and in my own name? And, notwithstanding the reported success of said picnic, I can assure you that my congregation complied with my advice.

COMMISSIONERS OF PUBLIC CHARITIES AND CORRECTION.—The regular meeting of the Commissioners was held yesterday, President Bowen in the chair, and several important matters were considered. It appeared from the reports made by the officers that the supply of Croton water is very scant in some of the institutions, particularly in the Almshouse, Penitentiary, Charity Hospital and the Lunatic Asylum. The late important regulations establishing a system of medical attendance for the outdoor poor will be speedily perfected. It was resolved to fix the salaries of the district physicians at $500 and to appoint Drs. Austin Flint, Isaac E. Taylor, Stephen Smith, Alonzo Clark, Alfred L. Loomis and Henry D. Noyes a committee to examine candidates for such positions. The contract for painting the schoolship Mercury was awarded to S. S. Lockwood at $635. The lower floor of the Plimpton Building was leased for the Labor Bureau at $3,000 per year. It was ordered that permission be requested of the Central Park Commissioners to allow ambulances to pass through the Park. The secretary reported that he had received $2,677 22 since the last meeting.

DEATH FROM INJURIES—AN AGED MAN FALLS AND FRACTURES HIS LEG.—Yesterday morning Warden Brennan, of Bellevue Hospital, informed Coroner Flynn that Henry Kelly, a native of Ireland, sixty-seven years of age, had died in that institution. The warden states that deceased had been brought in by ambulance from the Nineteenth precinct station house, where he was taken after being injured. In the warden's note it was further stated that on the 22d of June deceased was at the store of his son, Daniel Kelly, Forty-seventh street, between First and Second avenues, when they had some words which resulted in the ejection of the father. The latter fell on the walk, and received a compound fracture of the left leg and a severe shock to the system. These injuries proved fatal. After the above information was received the son of deceased called at the Coroner's office and stated that his father was a man of intemperate habits, and most emphatically denied having used force to put him out of the store, and says that the latter fell when no one was near him. Coroner Flynn will hold an inquest on the body.

SUPERANNUATED POLICEMEN.—The following policemen, against whom charges have been made on the score of incapacity, resulting from disease or old age, were placed on trial yesterday afternoon before the Board of Police Commissioners. They have lost the following amount of time since July 1, 1868:—Sergeant Thomas Wright, of the Forty-fourth (Brooklyn) precinct, 133½ days; patrolmen Michael Haggerty, of the Fifth precinct, 75½ days; Hugh McElavy, Tenth precinct, 320½ days; John C. Lorigan, Seventeenth precinct, 13 days; Patrick Kelly, Twentieth precinct, 240½ days; Peter Rice, Twenty-sixth precinct (lamed from injuries during the riots), has lost no time; John B. Davis, Twenty-ninth precinct, 336 days; Henry Guischard, Forty-fifth precinct, 4 days; John H. Arnoux, First District Police Court, 53 days; David Roach, detective squad, 382 days. The reports on each of these men will be referred to the full Board of Police Commissioners.

Charles Gardner, of the Twenty-sixth precinct, also has been growing blind for a long time past, until now he is incapacitated from doing duty, and has resigned, his resignation to date from August 1. It is more than likely that all of the above will be placed on the retired list with a pension of $300 each a year.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

ASSAULT WITH A KNIFE.—Daniel Murray, a fierce-looking rough, was brought before Justice Dodge yesterday morning, charged by Mathew Rohen, of No. 166 Prince street, with stabbing him in the neck and face with a knife, on Wednesday, by which he was severely injured.

SHOPLIFTERS.—Sarah Thompson and Annie Jones, two shoplifters, were arrested yesterday afternoon by officer Daniels, of the Eighth precinct, on the complaint of Eliezer W. Frank, of the firm of Frank & Keister, 38 Walker street, who detected them in endeavoring to conceal and carry away from the store a quantity of pocket handkerchiefs valued at $8 25. They were brought before Justice Dodge, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, who committed them to answer at the Special Sessions.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY.—A middle aged German, named Frederick Bauman, was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Coulter, at the Yorkville Police Court, on a charge of bigamy. The first wife, whose maiden name was Christina Neeuheimer, testified that she was married to Bauman some years ago, and that four years ago her husband left her. She is the mother of four children by Bauman, and has had to work to support them since he left her. Bauman has since married another woman, and was locked up to give time for the second wife to appear against him.

STOLEN PROPERTY RECOVERED.—Officer Wilson, of the Twentieth precinct, discovered Margaret Mooney, at the corner of Twenty-seventh street and Ninth avenue, yesterday morning, having in her possession a gold watch and chain, valued at $250, which she was endeavoring to dispose of for forty dollars. He caused her arrest, and upon being arraigned before Justice Dodge in the afternoon she was committed to enable the officer to find an owner for the property. The watch is an excellent one, and on the chain attached to it is a silver coin with a private mark.

CURIOUS CHARGE OF ABANDONMENT.—Among the most frequent complaints at the police courts are charges of abandonment. Among those made yesterday before Judge Dowling at the Tombs was one based on rather unusual grounds. Mrs. Margaret Harris, of No. 92 James street, charged her husband with abandoning her. It turned out on investigation that she is not pleased with the home furnished her by her husband and wants to go into the country, and took this method to compel him to furnish security for payment of her board bill during her absence. The Judge gave a very impressive disquisition on the subject of marital duties and then dismissed the complaint.

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES.—A young man called C. A. Metz, but who also has a large number of aliases, was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Coulter, at Yorkville Police Court, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. Mr. Pfinger, of No. 1,110 Second avenue, testified that Metz called upon him to collect the money for some ale delivered to him from the house of Mr. Gottsberger, of No. 52 New Bowery. Mr. Pfinger had a suspicion that Metz was not all right and paid him a portion of the money, and shortly after was called upon by the authorized agent of Mr. Gottsberger, who entirely ignored the man Metz. On this ground Mr. Pfinger accuses the prisoner of obtaining the money under false pretenses. Metz was locked up for examination.

THE WOUNDED POLICEMAN.

The Assault on Officer Higgins—His Statement.

Officer Patrick Higgins, of the Sixteenth precinct, who was so murderously assaulted in Sixteenth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, on the morning of the 11th instant by several desperadoes, is now out of danger and able to be about his room. On Wednesday evening Coroner Flynn called at the officer's residence, 236 West Nineteenth street, and took his statement, which is the same in substance as was printed in the HERALD the day following the occurrence. The men charged with making so unjustifiable an assault on the officer who has since been confined to his bed and room are Hugh Campbell, Owen Lafferty, Simon Fitzsimmons, Edward Lannon and John Meines.

The medical testimony showed that the officer had received thirteen scalp wounds, some of which were of a serious nature. The wounds are now mostly healed, and there appears to be no immediate danger from the injuries he has received. Such is the opinion of Dr. Shine.

A verdict against the above named prisoners was rendered by the jury, and the Coroner released them on giving $1,000 bail each for their future appearance.

Among the jurors summoned to serve in the case was Mr. Morris Roberts, a merchant doing business at No. 183 Eighth avenue. When officer Glck called upon Mr. Roberts he became unduly excited, refused to go, and procuring a pistol made some threats against the officer if he did not at once leave the place. The Coroner subsequently ordered the arrest of the refractory gentleman, who was detained to await an examination.

SMALLPOX IN THE BAY.

Twenty-Nine Cases on One Vessel—The Malady of a Virulent Character—The Sick Removed to Blackwell's Island—Precautions Against the Spread of the Contagion.

The emigrant ship Admiral, Captain Hesloop, arrived this morning at the lower quarantine with twenty-nine cases of smallpox on board. The Admiral left Bremen on the 5th of June, with 298 steerage passengers, and on the fifth day out the first case of smallpox occurred. Every precaution that could be taken under the circumstances was observed to prevent the spread of the malady, but without success, and for forty days the passengers were exposed to the ravages of the disease, which daily assumed a more threatening aspect. One patient died at sea and was hastily consigned to the ocean, and when the vessel reached New York one-tenth of her passengers were prostrated with the malady.

Immediately upon the arrival of the Admiral at the lower quarantine the sick were removed to the Smallpox Hospital at Blackwell's Island. Most of the cases are children, and all are of the most malignant type. The other passengers are detained on board the vessel, and every measure necessary to check the further appearance of the disease, such as vaccination of all on board and fumigation of the vessel, has been adopted.

The Admiral has hitherto had the reputation of being a very healthy ship, this being the first instance of her bringing contagion into port.

The ship Cynosure, Captain Teevens, with forty-one passengers, also arrived this morning, forty-three days from Liverpool, all well on board. No new cases of cholera or yellow fever are reported at quarantine, although several steamers and sailing vessels have arrived within a day or two from the West Indies and Brazil. The Saratoga which brought the yellow fever from Havana, and which lost a number of her officers from the epidemic, still lies at her anchorage, in the Lower bay, with a few men on board to take care of her. She will remain at her present station until cold weather, experience having taught that the ordinary disinfectants are not always sufficient to purify a vessel from the contagion. Of twenty-five deaths on board the Saratoga, in addition to Surgeon Quinn, who died at Havana, the following were officers:—Lieutenant Commander William A. Van Vleck, died June 29; Lieutenant George A. Flagg, June 20; Lieutenant Herman C. Roebel, June 25; Master's mate Samuel G. Blodgett, June 20; Captain's clerk William E. McMullen, June 22, and carpenter Hiram L. Dixon, June 26.

The appearance of yellow fever and smallpox in our bay, and the terrible ravages of yellow fever and cholera in the West Indies, from which vessels are daily arriving at this port, impressively warn our citizens against carelessness in sanitary measures during the approaching hot season. The filthy condition of our streets, manifested in the most offensive manner to sight and smell, and the immense quantities of unripe, cholera-breeding fruit with which the city is gorged, demand the immediate and thorough attention of our Health officers; but judging from the neglect of duty manifested by city officials whose business it is to avert epidemics from the community, there seems but little hope of our escaping any or all of the fearful pestilences threatening us, except in the careful observance by individuals of the laws of health. Every family should see that its place of residence and the gutters adjacent to it are kept thoroughly clean, and the green apples, peaches and other deadly fruits for sale at the street corners should be avoided as poisonous things. Unless such precautions are taken the cholera may be upon us suddenly and with as great violence as in the terrible years of pestilence from which New York and her sister cities have previously suffered.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

An Alleged Brooklyn Nuisance—Children Sicken and Strong Men Vomit—The Public Denounce It—A Health Official Loves It.

In the proceedings of the Board of Health from time to time action has occurred upon the acetic manufactory of Sprague & Close, corner of Flushing and Carlton avenues, Brooklyn.

The subject was first brought to the attention of the Board by a report from Dr. H. C. Stiles, Assistant Sanitary Superintendent, in which he eloquently portrayed the danger to life from the sickening chemical fumes that were thrown into the air by the establishment, which was run without a permit from the Board.

The Board, on his report, issued an order for its discontinuance, and the firm came in for a hearing before the referee. The evidence that was for and against the firm was submitted to the Board, the chief complainants being Colonel Broome and officers of the United States marines, whose barracks are near by. The Board heard argument by defendants' counsel and District Attorney Morris on last Wednesday week, and gave the firm a week's grace to enable them to improve upon their mode of manufacture, instructing Dr. Stiles, in the meantime, to watch the place, and report whether the same continued to be offensive, and whether a permit ought to be issued.

So much for the action of the Board last week. During the week the smell, it is alleged, became so insufferable that Mr. Morris, at the request of citizens, caused the proprietors to be arrested by the police for committing a nuisance, and it was temporarily abated.

On Wednesday last, at a meeting of the Board of Health, the matter again came up, when Mr. Spencer and his clients and District Attorney Morris were in attendance. The clerk presented the following report from Dr. Stiles—the same Dr. Stiles, be it remembered, who originally reported against the alleged nuisance and supported his report by an eloquent appeal for its abatement:—

OFFICE ASSISTANT SANITARY SUPERINTENDENT,
BROOKLYN, July 20, 1869.

EMERSON CLARK, Secretary Metropolitan Board of Health:—

SIR—The Board's resolution of Wednesday last, required the Assistant Sanitary Superintendent for Brooklyn to report concerning the acetic acid factory at the corner of Flushing and Carleton avenues, in this city—first, whether the same continues to be offensive, and, second, whether a permit ought to be issued.

The former of these questions is not difficult to answer. The abundant streams of acid fumes formerly complained of have not existed during the past week, and with the present apparatus, as modified by the Board's order, need not exist. But this so-called factory consists of rough buildings of boards, or closed sheds rather, through the cracks and holes of which all the gases and odors generated within are readily diffused through the neighborhood, which is constantly pervaded with the odor of the acid to such an extent as to be disagreeable to most persons. In a word, the said factory is made up of pestilent little shanties, disagreeable to both sight and smell, and incompatible with the comfort and prosperity of the neighborhood.

The question whether a permit ought to be granted or not is more difficult to decide, and can most readily be valued by considering the effect of granting the permit in contrast with that of the immediate suppression of the nuisance. If the manufacture were summarily suppressed great loss and hardship would be sustained by the estimable gentlemen who have it in charge; loss of time, of contracts in rent, of material, of trade.

If the manufacture be not interfered with at once the senses of the immediate neighbors will still be, as they have been for nearly two years, and during the prevalence of south winds mainly, offended, and sometimes seriously so; but whatever sickness might ensue would be but slight and temporary.

By immediate suppression, therefore, the hardship sustained would be altogether out of proportion to the benefit conferred for any short period of time. I would, therefore, recommend that a permit be granted for the remainder of the year only, or until the expiration of the present lease of the premises, which terminates in May next, and that the parties be required to conduct the manufacture in the meanwhile in such a manner as not to give needless offence.

Yours respectfully,
H. C. STILES,
Assistant Sanitary Superintendent.

This report caused quite a stir in the Board, and in a discussion Mr. Morris declared he could bring fifty witnesses, if necessary, to prove that during the period covered by the above report of Dr. Stiles the smell had been worse than ever. The matter was recommitted to the referee, who yesterday took further evidence, Mr. Hastings and Mr. Morris appearing for the prosecution. The defendants and their counsel were not present.

Colonel Broome testified that on certain days last week and this the smell was worse than before; that only yesterday morning he conversed with the chemist of the works, who admitted the factory was a nuisance; that the firm proposed to move and that all the witness had testified was true.

Lieutenant Saltmeister had made investigations and found that these disgusting smells came from the factory; on Sunday morning last the smell was unusually sickening and offensive.

Captain W. J. Squires testified that on Sunday morning he saw the place in full blast, and corroborated the other witnesses that the stench was as bad, if not worse, than before.

Robert Lewis, patrolman of the Forty-fourth precinct, had frequently noticed fumes like smoke issuing from the factory, that he could smell for three blocks; it was very sickening, especially so on last Saturday and Sunday, from half-past one to three o'clock A. M.

Thomas Pfeifer, of No. 15 Carlton avenue, had often complained of the nuisance; had been compelled to close his windows to enable him to take his meals. It was especially bad on Saturday, Sunday afternoon and night. One day last week, while passing and the doors were open, the fumes came out like smoke, sent him vomiting and he went home very ill.

Charles Mortimer, apothecary, testified that he lives at No. 13 Carlton avenue; the smell on Sunday morning was worse than ever.

Ellen McShane, of No. 11 Carlton avenue, swore that the smell last Sunday made her sick all day; had smelled it last night and this morning; it was insufferable, and all the neighbors complained.

Mrs. Mary Hoye, No. 15 Carlton avenue, stated that the odors made her children vomit fearfully and herself as well. Mrs. Mary Smith of the same number; Mrs. Kiernan, of No. 13; M. M. Kerr, of No. 14 Adelphi street, and officer W. A. Perrin, on the post where the factory is located, bore testimony as to the sickening and repulsive character of the smells, which made most children vomit and destroyed the appetite.

District Attorney Morris, at the conclusion of the hearing, stated that if the Board did not abate the nuisance he would do it more summarily with the aid of the Metropolitan police, and he stated to the attorney for the Board that if they had any other refractory nuisances in Brooklyn that the Board could not abate to appeal to him. The offal boat of Van Brunt was called to his attention.

The New York Rendering Company.

Among the other nuisances that the Board of Health seem to fear to face is the New York Rendering Company, foot of West Thirty-eighth street, which has been recommitted to referee for further evidence. The hearing has been set for Monday, at ten o'clock, at the Central Police Office, when all who are prepared to testify under oath to the character of the nuisance committed will have an opportunity of being heard.

MELANCHOLY DROWNING CASUALTY.

A Man Pushed Overboard.

Some weeks ago Julius Fellheimer, a young German who lived in Chicago, came to this city to visit his parents and other relatives, living at No. 231 East Sixtieth street. On Sunday last young Fellheimer, accompanied by some friends, went to the foot of Sixty-sixth street, East river, to bathe, in a private bathing establishment at that place kept by Messrs. Brown & Wemckens. After the necessary preparations the young man went in one of the basins where the water was shallow, and after remaining there for a time came out on the platform near where a spring-board had been placed. While standing there in his bathing dress, with his face to the water, a young stranger who had been bathing came from the water and, stepping up behind Fellheimer, gave him a violent push out and he fell into the water, which is sixty feet deep at that place. Fellheimer, who was unable to swim but little, if any at all, twice rose to the surface, and then, sinking to the bottom of the river, was drowned. The young man who pushed deceased overboard, on seeing the result of his act, jumped into the water, swam away and disappeared. His name and residence are unknown and the friends of deceased have not yet been able to find him. Search was made for the body of the deceased man and yesterday it was found floating off the foot of Twenty-second street, East river. Coroner Flynn commenced an investigation in the case and after examining Simon Seeligmann, of 108 East Eighty-fifth street, uncle of deceased, who was with him at the time of the occurrence, adjourned the further hearing until to-morrow (Saturday) morning. Two bathing masters, in attendance at the bath where Mr. Fellheimer was drowned, and also a young man, have been summoned as witnesses. The captain of the Nineteenth precinct has also been requested to make efforts to secure the young man whose presence is so much desired. It is not believed that in pushing deceased overboard he had any intention of taking his life, as they were entire strangers and had had no difficulty.

THE MYSTERIOUS WOUNDING OF AN ITALIAN.

Partial Solution of the Mystery—An Explanatory Letter.

The mystery surrounding the case of Dominick Viety, the Italian minstrel, now lying at No. 70 Thompson street, in the rear, who was brought to this city several days ago with a compound fracture of the skull, was yesterday partially dispelled by the receipt of a letter by Coroner Flynn, of which the following is a copy:—

JUNCTION, July 20.

CORONER FLYNN:—

DEAR SIR—I see in to-day's HERALD were you have two Italians arrested on suspicion of having inflicted a serious wound across the forehead of a certain man whose name has now escaped my memory. Your description in the HERALD answers to a man who was brought to my office last Saturday night by two of the men of this place and two Italians to have a man's head dressed, who had received an injury on the Central Railroad of New Jersey by a coal train, near Hampton Junction; the man was perfectly unconscious, which made it somewhat difficult to dress the wound; I found it a compound fracture of the frontal bone; I dressed it and told them it would most likely terminate fatally; the two men that accompanied him seemed to be very much hurt about it; it is the opinion, as far as I can learn, that they intended getting on a coal train to go to New York, so as to avoid the fare.

Respectfully yours,
D. P. G. CROWLEY.

Within the last day or two Viety has been partially restored to his senses, and some of his friends say that he does not charge the prisoners, with whom he was travelling, with assaulting him.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

A BODY FOUND.—The body of a child about a month old was found floating in the bay at the foot of Fifteenth street. It was supposed to have been thrown in the water while alive.

ROBBERY.—During the temporary absence of Mr. William Wright from his milk depot, at the corner of Johnson and Carll streets, yesterday afternoon, three boys entered the place and robbed the money drawer of twenty dollars. The young thieves succeeded in making their escape.

EXCURSION OF FIREMEN.—Ridgewood Hose Company, No. 7, of Greenpoint, will make an excursion to Paterson, N. J., on Monday next, and will return the same evening. The members of this company are favorably known in Paterson and will receive an ovation from the firemen of that city.

DROWNING CASUALTY.—Mr. Charles Cornell, twenty-five years of age, was accidentally drowned in the East river, foot of Quay street, Greenpoint, on Wednesday evening. His body was recovered yesterday. Mr. Cornell was an iron moulder by occupation. He met his death while bathing, the tide being strong at the time and he being weak after a hard day's work.

THE ALLEGED DEFAULTING PAYMASTER'S CLERK.—R. D. Bogart, the paymaster's clerk on board the receiving ship Vermont, who decamped last December with $30,000 of Uncle Sam's money, as it is said, and was arrested a few weeks ago in Texas, where he was running a shoe store, arrived in Brooklyn on Wednesday night on board the steamship Tillie from Galveston. He was taken in custody of a deputy marshal and consigned to quarters where he will be likely to be found when the indictment against him shall be called up for trial.

ANOTHER RAILROAD INJUNCTION.—The Brooklyn and Newtown Railroad Company, acting under an act of the last Legislature, authorizing the removal of one of their tracks from Debevoise street and the laying of another in Gold from Willoughby and DeKalb avenues, commenced the work of putting down this track Wednesday afternoon. An injunction granted by Judge Gilbert was served upon the company and operations ceased. The ground of the application for the injunction was that under the recent decision of the Court of Appeals no railroad company has a right to lay a track in a street without compensation to the owners.

FIRE IN WILLIAMSBURG—LOSS $25,000.—At ten minutes past twelve o'clock yesterday morning a fire occurred in the large four story brick building corner of Ainslie street and Union avenue, Williamsburg, occupied by three manufacturing firms, and a loss of $25,000 resulted on stock and machinery; but the building was saved by the firemen. The building was owned by Mr. William Cabble, who occupied the first and third stories as a wire factory; his loss is $4,000; insured in various companies. The second story was occupied by the Eagle Pencil Company; their estimated loss is $12,000; fully insured. The fourth story was occupied as a hoop skirt factory by O. H. Barnard; his loss will reach $7,000; insured for $2,500 in various companies. The origin of the fire is not known. It took place in the third story.

ALLEGED ATTEMPTED SUICIDE BY A LADY.—Mrs. George Broach, wife of the son of Mr. John Broach, cashier of the Williamsburg Savings Bank, entered Smith's drug store, at the junction of Fulton and Washington streets, and, after having procured a phial of laudanum requested the clerk to put a little arsenic in it, as she wished it for a particular purpose. She did not have the appearance of a person who contemplated self-destruction, being very respectably attired and carrying a fancy little parasol in her hand, yet the clerk suspected this was her object. He desired her to hand him the phial so that he might mix it; but this she refused to do. Detective Frost stepped in the store just at this time, and being informed of the circumstance and knowing that she had previously had some trouble with her husband took her in charge, and probably thereby saved her life. It is believed that she had already taken some of the laudanum, from the fact that she subsequently grew rather stupid. She is about twenty-five years of age, and previous to her marriage resided in the West. A few days since she appeared at the Police court and obtained a warrant for the arrest of her husband on the charge of abandonment, but the officer in whose hands the warrant was placed has been unable to discover the whereabouts of the accused.

CLAMBAKE AT ROCKAWAY BEACH.

The little steamer R. L. Mabey, Captain Phillips, left pier No. 4 yesterday morning with a numerous pleasure-seeking party of excursionists for Rockaway beach. Nearly all disembarked at the Seaside House, a handsome marine hotel, which extended through its proprietor, Mr. A. D. Failing, quite a number of invitations to an old fashioned clambake. Prior to the hour appointed for the bivalvular feed, the guests strolled through the grounds around the hotel or gambolled in the foamy, rolling surf which nowhere else tumbles in upon the sandy strip of beach in such magnificent abundance. The ladies of the party, many of whom were as beautiful as they were cheerful and light-hearted, took to the water with all the accustomed grace and glee of naiads or sea nymphs. The weather was remarkably well adapted, not alone for the bathing, but the bake as well. The latter, however, was the great and eager anticipation of the visitors, as to many of them the novelty of clams cooked upon boulders and covered with a steaming blanket of marine vegetation was a novelty of a very delightful character. Early in the afternoon a lively rataplan upon the immemorial gong announced that the feast of shellfish, &c., awaited the incisive appetites of the guests. The keen sea breeze gave additional zest to the feast, which was, altogether, a very reliable and successful entertainment. This over, the party dispersed in various directions and made merry in arbor and flowering garden plot, or down by the beach listened with sentimental ear to what the rippling waves murmured to the breeze. As a watering place it was generally conceded that Rockaway beach, after all, possesses attractions which neither Newport nor Long Branch can surpass.

COLORADO RIVER EXPLORING EXPEDITION,
CAMP IN RED CAÑON, GREEN RIVER,
July 3, 1869.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHICAGO EVENING JOURNAL:—

The object of the expedition of which I am a member is well known to the readers of your paper, and anything in regard to it is unnecessary at this time. Our boats having arrived at Green River City, on the Union Pacific Railroad, were launched on the 24th of May and loaded with the freight, consisting of the instruments necessary for the scientific work of the expedition and provisions, chiefly flour, bacon, coffee and sugar, with such other creature comforts as the nature of the voyage and the capacity of the boats would allow.

We were thoroughly tired of our sojourn at Green River City, which is situated in a desolate region, surrounded by sandy, barren bluffs, and at one o'clock in the afternoon of the 24th we rowed into the stream and were soon out of sight of the town. Dropping down the river ten or twelve miles we landed and camped in a cottonwood grove, well satisfied with the trial trip of our little fleet of four small boats, which were built with all the "logic" displayed in the construction of the "wonderful one-hoss shay."

Continuing on our voyage the next morning, we made a distance of seventy miles during the 25th and 26th, and on the 27th passed the mouth of Henry's Fork—a small stream flowing into Green river from the west—when the vertical walls of "Flaming Gorge," the entrance to the upper cañon of the Green, came in view, but a few miles distant. As we entered the narrow cañon the walls of brilliant red sandstone, rising to a height of 1,200 feet, looked threatening and ominous. The low, narrow banks between the river and the walls were covered with cottonwood and box elder.

We remained at this place during the 28th and 29th, engaged in measuring the height of the walls of the cañon, collecting fossils, mending broken instruments, &c., and resumed our voyage again on the 30th. Through this cañon the river has cut a narrow channel a distance of fifty miles, with often just sufficient room for the water to flow between the walls, leaving no bank of dirt or rock on either side. Sometimes, at irregular intervals, are low, narrow banks of sandy soil, dotted with small groves of cottonwood trees, with an undergrowth of box elder. Wild grapevines trail on the ground or festoon the undergrowth of the groves. Flocks of wild geese paddle in the shoal water along the banks or hurry across the rapid current in front of our boats as we pass. The stream is comparatively sluggish for some distance from the entrance, and then rapidly increases in speed till it becomes a mountain torrent, with often a succession of rapids and cataracts, when the bed of the river is encumbered with large rocks, that sometimes rise a number of feet above the water.

On the night of the 30th we camped at a bend of the river, which we called Beehive Point, from the appearance of a cliff, on the left side of the river, rounded to the shape of a dome at the top, and covered with cells carved by the action of the water during some past age, to which hundreds of swallows had built their nests of clay. As the swallows flit about the cliff they look like swarms of bees, and the cliff has the appearance of a colossal beehive. Opposite this cliff, and where we camped, is a vast amphitheatre, composed of a succession of terraces, rising to a height of 1,500 feet; each platform or terrace is built of red sandstone, and the space between is a gentle slope clothed in green verdure, and on which a row of pine trees grow in the arc of a circle, and the amphitheatre is painted with alternate bands of green and red. As we near this marvellous work of nature in our little boats, a herd of mountain sheep are seen standing in a line on a terrace 200 or 300 feet above the river; and as they remain motionless, watching our approach, they look like statues exquisitely chiselled by some master artist, and we are half surprised to see them suddenly wheel around, like a platoon of well drilled soldiers, and leaping gracefully to a platform above, file again into line and eye us with suspicion as we land our boats. This animal is much larger than the domestic sheep, and is pursued by hunters on account of the fine flavor of his meat; but is less frequently secured than other game because of the ease and rapidity with which he climbs the highest cliffs and most precipitous peaks, of which he is sovereign and sole inheritor.

Continuing our way from this place on the morning of the 31st, it became necessary to proceed with the greatest caution, as the rapids became more and more dangerous; and the most skilful handling of the oars was required to prevent the boats from being hurled by the water against the rocks that strewed the bed of the river and dashed to pieces. Finding now only a succession of rapids, many of which we had to let the boats over with ropes, we proceeded in this manner. The light boat, carrying no freight, and manned by two oarsmen and a pilot, the commander of the expedition, took the lead. The pilot, closely observing the best course to take to avoid the rocks, ran the boat ashore as soon as possible after running the rapids, and then signalled the direction with a red flag to the other boats, which were often half filled by the waves and breakers of the rapids, and if the next rapid was thought to be practicable, we rowed into the stream and the current soon carried us to the next signal station. In this manner twenty-five or thirty miles were made during the 31st of May and the 1st day of June, and on the afternoon of the latter day we came to a direct fall of twelve or fourteen feet. The current is scarcely perceptible for some distance above the falls, and we ran our boats ashore, without danger, within but a few feet of where the water makes a perpendicular descent, and is beaten into foam on the rocks below. On the morning of the 2d we unloaded our boats and let them over the falls by tying a rope to either end of a boat, and then fastening one of the ropes to a rock below the falls held the boat with the other till taken from our hands by the force of the water, but held by the rope below, and by eleven o'clock in the morning the portage was made and we continued down the stream. The velocity of the current now steadily increased till we attained a rate of almost railroad speed. The river, however, was comparatively free from rocks, and we stopped only to bail the water from the boats. And now as we looked down the long vista of the narrow cañon, while we were sliding down an inclined plane, in fact "coasting," the walls seemed to meet where the river turned round a short bend; the water was lost from sight and the earth had opened, we imagined, to gulp us down. The illusion is dispelled as we round the bend of the river, and dashing through a succession of breakers we suddenly debouch into a beautiful valley.

THE GREAT FLOOD IN TEXAS.

Further Particulars—Immense Destruction of Property—Reported Great Loss of Life—Intense Suffering—Call for Relief.

[From the Houston Telegraph, July 15.]

ADDITIONAL IN REGARD TO THE FLOOD AT LA GRANGE.

A letter from Captain L. W. Moore, from La Grange, will be found below, giving particulars of this awful calamity. In another letter a friend writes us that that part of the town in which the negroes had built residences is all gone. The river rose at the rate of five or six feet an hour and so suddenly and unexpectedly as to give little time to save property, and in many instances the sufferers were glad to save their lives. Thirteen houses were seen floating by the town, which had come from above. The crops in the valleys of the river and all its tributaries subject to back water are ruined. Thousands of live stock have been drowned. The old corn kept for bread has been rendered useless by the water. Provisions of all kinds which have been under the water have met the same fate.

Captain Moore gives a true picture of what the poor must suffer.

The poor of all colors in the towns and valleys which have been submerged have lost all, and must suffer unless relieved, and we earnestly call upon the authorities and the public to extend relief with a liberal hand.

LA GRANGE, July 11, 1869.

This note will inform you of the effects of the flood from the Colorado, which overflowed our town on the 9th—day before yesterday. The water was six feet over the public square, and, as you are familiar with the town of La Grange and the entire situation of the streets, houses and residences, I will give you an exact idea of our great and unexpected disaster. All the buildings situated in the valley under the square, where Behren's house is, are gone. So are many on the side of the slope towards the public square. Several buildings also at the lower portion of the town toward the lower ferry.

Among our principal sufferers on the public square are C. Fink, $5,000; A. Alexander, $3,000; Richers, $2,000, and Gus. Willenburg, $2,000.

The waters have now receded from the public square, falling very slowly. The entire valley from Austin has been overflowed and the crops and fences totally destroyed and a great many houses washed away.

Mr. S. McAshan's farm above town, who now lives in your city, is ruined, the fences gone and the whole crop destroyed. This is simply an instance from which you can judge how complete is the destruction to our farming interests in this valley.

No lives were lost in La Grange, but we fear the country will not be so fortunate. Without some relief from the government and all philanthropists, wisely and immediately directed, the laborers and poor of our valley will be reduced at once to suffering and want, and I know of no public journalist so familiar with our people and their great distress nor one more in sympathy with them than yourself, and ask confidently that you direct the attention of the authorities and public to our situation. The planters have invested all their money in this growing crop. Their supplies have been consumed in making it, and today they are without bread. What will they do? And how shall these laborers find support for their families at this season of the year?

The Brenham Banner of Tuesday says:—It was reported here yesterday that 200 persons at Bastrop had perished in the waters. That, however, is unfounded. A citizen of this place was in that town last Thursday. The water was then over most of the town, but the citizens had all escaped to the hills.

COLUMBUS, July 12, 1869.

The Colorado river is higher than ever before known; the water rose forty seven feet eight inches. Colorado valley is entirely overflowed. The damage to this county will probably reach $1,000,000. The railroad is damaged to the amount of $150,000. The river is three miles wide; about 100 acres of the town are out of water; in some portions the water is fifteen feet deep. Quite a number of persons were drowned below here; names not known. The river is falling slowly.

RICHMOND, July 12, 1869.

Alleyton is six feet under water. The Columbus bridge is still safe. The water at Columbus is falling. Trains cannot go West beyond Eagle Lake. The road is badly damaged between Eagle Lake and Alleyton. The Brazos is rising eighteen inches in twenty-four hours.

A BLOODY CHAPTER OF HORRIBLES.

Several Murders and Suicides in a Single Day in Cincinnati—A Husband Kills His Wife and Drowns Himself—A Young Lover Commits Suicide—One Brother Chops Another Down.

[From Cincinnati papers, July 20.]

SAVAGE ATTEMPT AT MURDER AND SUICIDE OF THE MURDERER.

Again we are called upon to give the details of one of those terrible deeds of blood which occur at intervals in all large cities, in its features forcibly recalling the Cowan butchery of many years ago or the Esbach horror of more recent date. The victims of the present heartrending affair were John Meagher, aged forty, and his wife, Mary Meagher, some ten years younger, both natives of Ireland. About fifteen years since Meagher, who was then an industrious, thrifty young tailor, of sober, temperate habits, married the woman who has become his victim. Three years ago John gave up his trade and commenced driving an express wagon, and from that time the ruin of the family can be dated, as he began drinking to excess. Often, when under the influence of drink, he would whip and otherwise abuse the wife toward whom he had previously only shown the greatest kindness. Recently he had failed entirely to assist in supporting his family, and the wife found that to gain the necessaries of life for herself and four children she must toil herself, and, being a woman of unusual energy, she got work at keeping insurance companies offices on Front street in order, for which she received sufficient remuneration to furnish funds to keep her family comfortable. Such was the passion of the husband for strong drink that he continually forced the wife to give her hard earned money to purchase whiskey. During the past few days he was somewhat changed, and made constant endeavors to get some sort of work to do, at a late hour last night calling on Dr. Maley, who had often before rendered him many favors, for a letter to the superintendent at Eden Park, requesting work for him. From Dr. Maley's he went to his home, located in the second story of a three story brick, No. 103 Second street, where he again commenced to violently abuse his wife because she would not give him a dollar to buy whiskey. Finding his abuse of no avail, he retired to bed and was soon followed by his wife, when all became quiet. A little befor four o'clock this morning the woman got up and commenced her household work by sprinkling a large lot of clothing that she had washed the night before for some of the neighbors. Soon afterwards the other families living in the house were aroused by hearing Meagher cursing his wife because she still adhered to her determination not to give him funds. At last his abuse became so intolerable that the wife ordered him to leave the house, to which he replied with a fearful oath, "I will fix you," and at the same instant raised an ax—which, unfortunately, happened to be behind the stove—striking her a terrible blow over the head, making a fearful gash, and laying her insensible at his feet. The eldest daughter, seeing that the father was killing her mother, screamed "Murder! murder!" which so excited the infuriated wretch that he missed his aim the second blow, and only made a deep gash in the side of the face and severed the left ear. Hearing footsteps approaching, the would-be murderer dropped the fatal weapon and rushed down stairs, through a covered alley way into the street, out to Race, down Race to Commerce, east on Commerce to Vine and down the latter to the wharf-boat of the Cincinnati and Louisville steamers, from which he leaped into the river and found a watery grave.

An elderly gentleman, named John Duffy, living in the same house, surmising that Meagher intended to commit suicide, followed him, with the vain hope of getting aid, so as to secure him before he could have the chance to put his terrible design into execution. Dr. Maley, the family physician, having been summoned, arrived in a very short time and gave all the assistance in his power, binding up the wounds and administering such other relief as he deemed necessary. A Catholic priest from the Cathedral arrived at quite an early hour and performed the solemn rite of annointing the woman, preparatory to administering "extreme unction."

We happened to be present at the same time as the priest, and freely admit that the sight was one of the most impressive we have ever witnessed. The room is plainly furnished, the wall being decorated with small, cheap engravings, symbolical of the Catholic Church. In the left hand corner as you enter the door is the bed, against the west partition a lounge, on the opposite side the cooking stove and on the floor, immediately under the front windows, was the outstretched form of the apparently dying woman, with the priest rubbing the annointing oil on her face and hands, at the same time reading from a prayer book the proper service, and kneeling around were about a dozen persons, all of the same faith, counting the beads on their rosaries, at the same time muttering over their prayers. On the lounge before mentioned was the little babe, about a year and a half old, fast asleep, and around its mouth played a gentle smile, telling too well that little did the innocent thing dream of the irreparable loss that it had just sustained. The other children, three nice looking, interesting girls, Sarah, Eliza and Mary, aged respectively thirteen, nine and five years, stood in the hall, crying as if their hearts would break, and begging the lookers on to "not let their good mamma die." The other families of the house are quiet, respectable people, and seemed to be perfectly awe stricken at the terrible affair to which they were such unwilling witnesses.

At the last account the poor victim exhibited some signs of consciousness.

SUICIDE OF A YOUNG MAN FOR LOVE.

The suicide is Emil Jaworski, a young Pole, twenty-two years of age, who was engaged in the last revolution of his fatherland, and was compelled to flee the country to save his life. He sought an asylum in America, and came, we believe, almost immediately to this city. He was a man of fine education and good personal appearance. Notwithstanding his culture, he has spent the greater part of his time as a barkeeper. This may have been a matter of apparent necessity, as we know since the war it has not been an easy matter for a stranger to get a situation. In this capacity he stood in the confectionery of Mr. A. Descolso, an Italian grocer on Third street, near Elm. While there he fell in love with an Italian girl, a relative of his employer, in whose family she lived. The passion was reciprocated, and an engagement followed. From some cause, however, the engagement was broken. This reverse bore heavily on the young Pole. Ten days ago he left his situation at the Winne House. He was with an acquaintance Monday night and yesterday morning. As late as ten o'clock yesterday he went out to lunch with the same person. At a quarter of eleven o'clock he and his friend separated, the former promising that he would call again last evening or this morning. The friend went to his place of business. The troubled man resumed his walk up Plum street, until he reached Washington Park, which he entered. At fifteen minutes past eleven a pistol shot was heard in the grounds. For a few minutes no one knew whence it proceeded. In a very short time Fred Miller was passing along the graveled walk that leads from the west to the north entrance, when under the shade of a tree he saw the young Pole stretched upon the ground quite dead, with the crimson tide yet ebbing from a bullet hole in the middle of the chest. He at once gave the alarm. Policemen Machle, Waltz and Fries were soon upon the ground, and remained until a coffin was procured and the body removed to Mr. Soard's office, on Sixth street, where an inquest was held late in the day. At first the pistol with which the deed was done could not be found. A search, however, discovered that it had been thrown among the flowers and bushes immediately after its discharge.

In the pocket of the deceased was the following letter in German:—

ONE HOUR BEFORE DEATH.

My name is Emil Jaworski. I have been trying to kill myself for the last two weeks, and regret exceedingly that I was not killed while fighting in the Union army. Let none of my friends who read this mention how I died to my poor mother and sister.

Adieu, dear home.

The verdict of the jury was death from suicide.

ONE BROTHER CHOPS ANOTHER DOWN.

There are two brothers, William and Benjamin Bryan, who live about twelve miles back of Covington. William, the elder, is married and has three or four children. Benjamin is considerably younger, hardly having yet arrived at man's estate. A dispute arose yesterday morning between these two, on a matter of sufficiently small importance. Each wanted to use the wagon, and the dispute soon became very warm. At last the younger seized an axe which happened to be near at hand and struck his brother four blows upon the head, knocking him senseless, and, it is feared, inflicting so serious wounds that life cannot be saved. The aid of a surgeon from this city was called as soon as possible, and all was done that could be done for the sufferer. Our informant told us, however, that it was hardly probable that his life could be saved. The younger brother, he said, had been apprehended and brought to Covington.

PREVENTIVE OF CHOLERA, DIARRHŒA, ETC.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican furnishes the following timely recipe:—A weak lye made from good wood ashes, about as strong as common tea, put in bottles. Drink after each meal about half a wineglassful of the above water, which I guarantee will be a complete preventive against cholera, cholera morbus or dyspepsia. This can be given to an infant without injury. Whenever the bowels become changed lyewater should be used freely. In the year 1849 I passed up the river on the steamer Robert Campbell, William Eads, captain. Two men died out of the cabin from four o'clock in the afternoon to ten o'clock next morning. I consulted with Captain Eads and advised that he should put wood ashes in the drinking water, so that all the passengers should have to drink from it. He did so. This happened at Wackadaw Prairie, on the Missouri river. He had not another sick or complaining passenger from there to Council Bluffs, and I have conversed with him frequently since, and he told me that he had always adopted that plan, and never had any sickness on his boat during the California emigration. This simple medicine is in the reach of everybody. When made and put in bottles it will last good a year.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, July 22—6 P. M.

The markets in Wall street continue to exhibit even more than their usual summer dulness, noticeable not so much in the falling off in the amount of the dealings, although these are below the average, but in the absence of the excitement so usual about the Stock Exchange, and the general appearance of almost idleness as compared with the rush and confusion of a month ago. To-day did not form an exception to this condition, at least during the morning and early afternoon hours, although a slight awakening occurred after the second call. The market opened steady, with moderate activity, at almost the closing figures of last night, and continued without special features until the first call, fluctuating within an extremely narrow margin. At the first call prices were steady, but succeeding that a slight improvement occurred up to the period of the second call, at which most of the railways were a fraction higher than in the morning, Pacific Mail sympathizing in the advance. The rest of the miscellaneous list, with the expresses, on the contrary, were a shade off. Succeeding this call, however, the market developed a sudden activity, New York Central advancing to 212, and Hudson River to 184⅛, the balance of the railway list sympathizing in the advance. Reading advanced to 94¼ on the report that the rates for carrying coal over the road are to be advanced next week. Michigan Southern likewise exhibited fresh activity, on the statement that the Toledo and Wabash difficulties had been amicably adjusted and all suits withdrawn. It was further stated that the company would only issue $1,000,000 of new stock instead of $4,000,000, the same to be equally divided between the parties at variance represented by Jay Gould and Azariah Boody. Also that the road from Akron to Toledo is to be built in eight months, and one from Decatur to St. Louis. Before the close the market fell off a little on the Vanderbilt shares, closing firm, however, on them, and strong on the rest of the list. The following were the prices on the second call:—Cumberland, 30 a 32; Wells-Fargo Express, 22¾ a 23; American Express, 42½ a 42⅝; Adams Express, 60 a 60⅛; United States Express, 73⅜ a 73⅝; Merchants' Union Express, 10½ bid; Quicksilver, 16 a 16¼; Mariposa, 6¼ bid; do. preferred, 15¼ a 16; Pacific Mail, 83⅛ a 83½; Western Union Telegraph, 36⅛ a 36⅜; New York Central, 210⅞ a 211; Hudson River, 183½; Reading, 93⅝ a 93½; Chicago and Alton, 158 a 160; do. preferred, 161; Wabash, 75½; Milwaukee and St. Paul, 76⅛ a 76⅜; do. preferred, 87; Fort Wayne, 151½ a 154; Illinois Central, 140 bid; Pittsburg, 106⅛ a 106⅜; Rock Island, 113⅞ a 114; Northwestern, 79⅜ a 79½; do. preferred, 93⅞ a 94⅛; New Jersey Central, 101⅞ a 102.

The steadiness of the general list was shared by the governments at the opening, prices on the first call exhibiting but slight alteration from the closing figures of last night. At the noon call, upon information of a firm tone in the market on the other side and a stronger feeling in gold here, there was a marked improvement, which was maintained at the last call, the market closing steady. The transactions during the day were light. The following were the closing prices at half-past five o'clock:—United States sixes, 1881, registered, 120⅝ a 120⅞; do. do., coupon, 120⅞ a 120⅞; do. five-twenties, registered, 121⅛ a 121⅜; do. do., coupon, 1862, 123⅛ a 123⅜; do. do., coupon, 1864, 121⅛ a 121⅜; do. do., coupon, 1865, 121⅛ a 121⅜; do. do., coupon, new, 1865, 120⅛ a 120⅜; do. do., coupon, 1867, 120⅜ a 120⅝; do. do., coupon, 1868, 120⅛ a 120½; do. ten-forties, registered, 109½ a 109⅜; do. do., coupon, 110⅛ a 110½; currency bonds, 107⅞ a 108.

North Carolinas, new, were the features of State bonds to-day, advancing sharply on the second call to 51, in consequence of the receipt of telegraphic advices from North Carolina to the effect that the Supreme Court of that State had declared all bond appropriations authorized to new railroads by the last Legislature unconstitutional. As the bonds which are now a good delivery at the Stock Exchange are not affected thereby, and as this decision excludes a large amount, it was expected would come on the market, the logic of the advance is obvious. After North Carolinas, new Tennessee bonds were most inquired for and strongest. The balance of the list was steady, the market closing firm at the following figures:—Tennessee, ex coupon, 62 a 62⅛; do., new, 56⅝ a 57; Virginia, ex coupon, 57½ a 58; do., new, 60⅞ a 61; Georgia sixes, 83 a 83½; do., sevens, 91½ a 92; North Carolina, ex coupon, 58 a 59; do., new, 50 a 50½; Missouri sixes, 87½ a 87⅞; do., Hannibal and St. Joseph, 90 a 91; Louisiana sixes, 69 a 70; do., Levee sixes, 65 a 65⅛; do., do., eights, 84 a 86; Alabama eights, 93½ a 94; do., fives, 63 a 65; do., sixes, sterling, 90 a 95; South Carolina sixes, 65 a 67; do., new, 64½ a 65½; do., registered stock, 65 a 67; City Memphis sixes, 49 a 50; do. Atlanta eights, 85 a 87; do. Savannah sevens, 92 a 94; do. New Orleans consols, 70 a 73; do. do. issue railroads, 68 a 69; Mobile Ohio sterling, 65 a 67; do., eights, 57 a 60; Mississippi Central Railroad, first mortgage, 70 a 73; do., second do., 60 a 63; Memphis & Charleston, first, 87 a 90; do., second, 74 a 76; do., stock, 45 a 47; Greenville & Colorado Railroad, guaranteed, 67 a 69.

Gold opened this morning at 135⅛, and advanced quickly to ⅜, from which it fell again to ⅛ and ranged during the greater part of the day between these extremes, reaching 135⅜ at five o'clock. The tendency to the higher figure was due in part, besides the heavy shipments of specie, to the parliamentary crisis in England, which is fraught with the gravest danger. A Cabinet crisis there has always been sufficient to produce very severe disturbance in money circles. We may well then look with alarm upon the present attitude of the Lords and Commons as one capable of producing the most afflicting results. The report of the Gold Exchange Bank for to-day furnishes the following items:—Gold cleared, $60,203,000; gold balances, $1,575,677; currency balances, $2,108,844. The disbursements of coin interest were $262,042. The steamer Weser took with her $350,000 in specie, and the Missouri $480,000, making an aggregate of $830,000.

The aggregate amount of proposals submitted to the Sub-Treasurer to-day for the $1,000,000 government gold, advertised to be sold, was $1,975,000. The awards were as follows:—100,000 at 135.30; 200,000 at 135.23½; 200,000 at 135.22½; 200,000 at 135.21½; 150,000 at 135.20½; 50,000 at 135.30; 50,000 at 135.22; 25,000 at 135.26; 25,000 at 135.23.

Foreign exchange is steady, without change in rates. We quote:—Sterling, sixty days, commercial, 109½ a 109⅜; bankers', 109⅞ a 110⅛; short sight, 110⅜ a 110⅝; Paris, sixty days, 5.18¾ a 5.12½; short sight, 5.12½ a 5.10⅝; Antwerp, 5.18¾ a 5.12½; Switzerland, 5.18¾ a 5.12½; Hamburg, 35⅞ a 36; Amsterdam, 40⅛ a 40⅜; Frankfort, 40⅛ a 40⅜; Bremen, 78⅜ a 79⅛; Prussian thalers, 70⅞ a 71⅛.

The money market worked during the early part of the day similarly to yesterday, the rate on call loans being six per cent on government and seven on stocks. Later, however, owing to the heavy disbursements by the Treasury on account of the bonds purchased yesterday, there was a relaxation from these figures, and transactions are reported at five and six towards the close. Discounts are also easier, the extreme range being eight to twelve per cent, with the bulk of business between these figures.

The Campaign in Pennsylvania.

SERENADE TO ASA PACKER—A SHORT SPEECH.

Asa Packer was serenaded at his hotel in Philadelphia on Wednesday evening last, and in response to a call made the following remarks:—

Gentlemen of the Asa Packer Club and fellow-citizens and democrats—I thank you for this expression of your kindness, and for the honor you have done me in conveying to me in this manner your congratulations. I thank you for having designated me as your standard bearer in the coming campaign. I can hardly give expression to my feelings in acknowledgment of the compliment paid me by the Asa Packer Club and the democratic party, both here and in Harrisburg. It is deserving of my highest gratitude. I hope to be worthy of all the honor you bestow upon me. The efficiency of this club in the work begun and carried on thus far is deserving of great praise, and I trust you will continue the good work to the end of the campaign. I know you will from the earnest manner in which you have entered upon it. I will endeavor on my part to lead you, as you have placed me in the van, to victory. If we fail it shall not be because of any neglect on my part. You will excuse me from making a speech, as it is no part of my vocation. There are those whose calling it is to talk; mine has been to work. (Cheers.) I leave the talking to others, and will myself endeavor to do my share of the work. Thanking you for the kindness and friendship manifested in this greeting, I bid you good night.

The Philadelphia Age of the 22d inst. says:—

Asa Packer and Cyrus L. Pershing were yesterday officially notified of their nomination as the candidates of the democratic party for the offices of Governor and Judge of the Supreme Court. The notification was in the form of a letter signed by Charles R. Buckalew, Lewis C. Cassidy, of this city, and Robert E. Monaghan, of Chester county, and an answer will be returned by the distinguished gentleman in a few days.

Reopening of the Radical War Against General Grant.

Wendell Phillips discourses as follows in the Anti-Slavery Standard of this week, under the head of "Forgotten Promises:"—

General Grant was commended to the country as a man of few words, but sure to mean even more than he said, and to do far more than he would condescend to promise. The few words he had uttered were all carefully gathered up and made the most of. The weighty sentences of the Delphic oracle were never studied with more anxious care than were his rare and brief sayings.

A man who speaks so seldom and with such deliberation may fairly be presumed to weigh all he says, and each sentence so treasured and built on is a pledge, to which the nation may not unreasonably hold him. When he said, in 1866, "I never could have believed that I should favor giving negroes the right to vote, but that seems to me the only solution of our difficulties," men felt assured that on this point he might be trusted, and hence almost expected the countenance which his inaugural gave to the fifteenth amendment. Indeed General Grant may be said to have been elected more on the promises he had incidentally made than on any express contract with the Chicago Convention.

Why, then, is not martial law proclaimed? Is the promise forgotten? He cannot claim that circumstances have changed. Georgia, Texas, Mississippi remain still in the same condition, so far as their relation to the nation is concerned, as they were when General Grant recommended this course to Andrew Johnson. Has life grown any more secure there? We know that every trustworthy witness who gets audience of the President brings him evidence that the same anarchy prevails. Does the great captain eat his own words? Are there any influences in the White House that blind the eyes which saw so clearly while in the camp? We have sometimes wished that some clear-headed and keen-sighted adviser could approach the President. But, after reading this, we know no one who could put the duty in a clearer light than the President himself has placed it two years ago.

Assassination for opinion is as frequent—loyal men flying, or hiding, for safety, while rebels are firing salutes under Confederate flags in Southern capitals! Is it a King Log with a paper sceptre that sits in the White House? We were told that if we made a soldier President we should have a strong government, full of decision; one that could not be bullied. For all we have seen in four months, we might as well have had, in the White House, clumsy James of England, who always fainted at the sight of a sword. Gloomy prophets feared that under Grant we should have a coup d'état, and that he would take possession of the government. Thus far it seems more likely that Beauregard will make a coup d'état and take possession of Grant.

WENDELL PHILLIPS.

ARGENTINE CONFEDERATION.

Latest from the Seat of War in Paraguay—Further Advance of the Allies—Commercial Intelligence—Railroad Schemes—Petition to Abolish the Export Duties.

BUENOS AYRES, June 14, 1869.

The steamer from Paraguay has just arrived, bringing news of a further advance of the allies. General O'Barrett, at the head of a strong division, is preparing to cross the river Tebicuari and take the important town of Villa Rica. Minister Paranhos leaves this place on Thursday for Paraguay to proceed to carry out the objects of his mission. Three Paraguayans—Ezuzguza, Bedoya and Valiente—leave in a few days for Paraguay to inaugurate the provisional government. The cause of Lopez is now considered lost.

From the Montevidean revolution there is nothing fresh here. It is generally supposed that the government and rebel chiefs will come to an understanding.

The market is flat to-day. Money is getting into better demand, and it is believed that the Provincial Bank will raise its rate of interest. Produce is flat, with but few sales and with but few arrivals from the country.

The bill authorizing the Maderos new port scheme is before a committee of the House, and it is supposed that there is a large majority in favor of the measure.

Mr. A. Runnhall, C. E., leaves to-morrow for the South to survey the new line of railway from Chascomus to the south. Some anxiety is felt here at the non-arrival of the steamship Patagonia. The Savoie has been placed in quarantine, owing to yellow fever at Rio Janeiro.

Governor Castro has ordered the new Labos Railway extension to be commenced without further delay.

The new bonds are to be sent to London to be negotiated.

A meeting was held at the Stock Exchange this afternoon to petition Congress to abolish the export duties. The petition was numerously signed.

Exchange on England 49. Discounts eight per cent per annum.

COLLEGE COMMENCEMENTS.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.

Large Graduating Class—The Alumni Dinner—Speech of General Sherman.

HANOVER, N. H., July 22, 1869.

Commencement Day, proper, at Dartmouth College was celebrated to-day, and the exercises have passed off with more than the usual eclat. A large meeting of the alumni was held this morning, at which a resolution was adopted with a view to obtaining $200,000 for the college, of which $25,000 were subscribed on the spot, and the friends of the college are sanguine that the full amount will be readily raised.

The commencement exercises took place in the large tent, which was again crowded to its utmost capacity. The exercises consisted of orations, dissertations and disputations, in which some twenty members of the graduating class took part, and one poem, the whole pleasantly interspersed with music by the Germania band. The class numbered fifty-four—just fifty more than the first class that graduated from the college.

At the close of the literary exercises honorary degrees were conferred as follows:—D. D.—Rev. Edmund O. Hovey, of Wabash College, Indiana; Rev. Daniel Hopkins Emerson, of Philadelphia; Rev. Horace Eaton, of Palmyra. LL. D.—James F. Joy, of Detroit, Mich.; Henry A. Bellows, of New Hampshire; Jonathan E. Sargent, of Massachusetts. A. M.—Rev. John W. Allen, of Northampton, Mass.; Ossian Ray, of Lancaster, N. H.; Josiah H. Benton, Jr., of Lancaster, N. H.; General John Bedell, of Bath, N. H.; John Ward Dean, of Cambridge, Mass.; Dr. William H. Muzzey, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Ryland Fletcher, of Cavendish, Vt.

The alumni then formed in procession and marched to a temporary structure erected on the common, where about 700 sat down to dinner, with invited guests and others, who increased the number to nearly a thousand. A blessing was invoked by Rev. Professor Calvin E. Stone, of Andover, Mass., and then about an hour was spent in making away with the good things at the table, to which a fast of eight hours gave a peculiar zest. At the conclusion of the repast the doxology, was sung, in accordance with a time-honored custom, after which the company repaired again to the tent, where the after dinner speeches were to take place. Judge Chase occupied the chair and called first upon Governor Stearns, whom he said, he trusted the men and women of New Hampshire knew how to love and to honor for his services to New England in connection with her railroad interests. Governor Stearns was greeted with hearty applause and spoke briefly of the importance of extending the advantages of such a literary institution as the college as widely as possible, expressing the opinion that the State should extend to it whatever aid might be necessary to make it effective for the public good. The Governor concluded by proposing the lasting honor and prosperity of Dartmouth College and of all her sons.

The President then said:—Two things within the last few years have astonished the world. The first was when, the country being in danger, a million of citizens became soldiers for its safeguard: the other that when the million of soldiers, the danger being passed, at once became citizens; the last hardly less glorious than the first. Of these citizen soldiers one of the gallant leaders is now here—one who led them to honorable victory in the field, and now contemplates with joyous satisfaction their return to the peaceful walks of life. I call upon General Sherman.

The General was enthusiastically cheered as he rose to respond. He said:—Mr. President, I was in hopes, of course, that anything I had to say would be said in yonder building, where the jingling of glasses and plates might have covered up some of the deficiencies of my words. (Laughter.) But these old gentlemen are cunning ones to have adjourned to this tent, now so beautifully filled with ladies and gentlemen who probably expect of me far more than I can give. I almost feel abashed on attempting to speak in the presence of the Chief Justice and the many men of learning here—aye, of the very boys who but a short time since were speaking in language far more appropriate than I could ever hope to utter. I am simply a plain soldier and can say what I have to say in few words, direct to the purpose, and if I had any special subject whatever worthy of this occasion I would endeavor to pursue it; but for want of a better, I will express the very great pleasure I have experienced to-day and yesterday in seeing not only the intelligence of the young men whose graduation we have come here to witness, but the spirit of kindness and reverence which every one of them, and all, in fact, have manifested towards the aged men who direct its interests and towards the cause of learning. Learning of all kinds is entitled to our veneration, whether it be at Dartmouth, or Yale, or Harvard, at West Point, or in the common schools. Learning is learning; it improves us all, and we never become too old to learn. We learn to-day and we learn to-morrow, and I suppose we shall continue to learn to the very last hour of our lives. We cannot tell; it is for God alone to say on which day we shall make the most progress. I am not, and do not profess to be learned in books, learned in arts or learned in mere words, but in deeds; I profess to having some knowledge of forming men into organizations where their physical power as well as their mental power may produce its full effect. You here have an organization, you here have a system which you may call civil, but it is military. The authority of every one of your professors is defined, and they group you into classes; they group classes into other classes, and even after you leave the institution they have a hold on your affections, which makes you a body with a single soul, which the man who wants you may move to some common purpose. That is exactly like a military organization. We combine men by tens, hundreds, thousands and tens of thousands—all animated by one purpose and guided by one mind, so that they are a concentrated purpose, and will press forward to the accomplishment of any object. If that object be the salvation of a nation, then the cause is glorious, and enlists the feelings and challenges the admiration of all mankind. (Loud applause.) Therefore, in that sense, I, too, profess to be a teacher, simply in the lesser art of organization; simply in the lesser art of combining units into tens and tens into thousands, and directing them in the interests of the government, which commands me to do that which is her pleasure, and is my pleasure, too. (Renewed applause.) It is a common feeling among civilians that soldiers are men of violence. There is nothing further from the truth. I appeal to the history of America, to the history of our own country from Washington to the present moment, to show that the military men of this country have always been subordinate men—subordinate to the law, subordinate to the authorities—never setting up their own judgment in antagonism with that of the nation, but executing its will when that will had found expression in law, with a fidelity beautiful to behold; and so long as I continue to hold power and influence I shall ever direct that power and influence to the end that the military of this country, whether a small force scattered all over the nation, or a vast army of volunteers gathered together for some special purpose, shall sustain the laws of the land and support the authority you may place over me. Therefore I feel the same interest in education that you do. It lessens my task; it lessens the task of every governor; it lessens the task of the Chief Justice. Where throughout the land, in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Florida and Ohio—where schools and colleges are founded, where men are taught what law means, what order means, what civilization means, what refinement means—it is far easier and more pleasing to govern intelligent men than govern rude, unlettered men. The one acts from a high motive and principle, aiding and supporting you in carrying out your purpose without confusion, whereas the other must be driven to it by force. Therefore I have a personal interest in education, and in every intelligent lad I meet I see that which, I hope, will pervade all America, and when it does there will be no need of armies and very little need of courts. (Applause.) Gentlemen, I thank you for the many compliments you have paid me; especially would I thank the young men, who have alluded to me in three or four passages of surpassing compliment. I would also express my thanks to the President and other officers of the college. I wish them one and all a long life. I wish the college may live to the third and fourth and tenth centuries, and I hope it will live as long as there is an America, and that I know will live to the end of time. (Prolonged applause.)

The President then called upon Mr. Job Lyman, of Vermont, graduate of the class of 1804, who, in a few words, expressed the great gratification with which he had listened to the exercises of the day. He said it would give him great pleasure to recount some of the events connected with the college which had come under his own observation and to mention the names of the alumni with which it had been his privilege to be acquainted; but, as his voice was too feeble to be heard he would forbear.

Judge Barrett, in behalf of the committee appointed this morning for the purpose of nominating a committee to take measures to raise $200,000 for the college, reported the following names for that committee:—Ira Perley, of New Hampshire; Dr. Samuel H. Taylor, of Massachusetts; Amos Tuck, of New Hampshire; Charles Reed, of Vermont; Rev. Dr. Quint, of Massachusetts; Hon. James W. Patterson and George W. Burleigh, of New Hampshire. On motion of President Brown, of Hamilton College, New York, the names of the nominating committee were added to the committee, as follows:—James Barrett, Harvey Jewell, and Professor S. C. Bartlett, of Chicago.

Short speeches followed by Harvey Jewell, of Massachusetts; Judge Whittaker, of New Orleans; John Wentworth, of Illinois, who spoke in a humorous strain; Hon. Mr. Sandborn, member of the Canadian Parliament; Professor C. Bartlett, of Chicago; Dr. Taylor, of Andover; Dr. Upham, of Boston, and President Smith.

The following note was received from Rev. Dr. Leonard Bacon, of Yale College:—

> Yale gave to Dartmouth a father and founder; the grandmother sends her salutation to the hundred year granddaughter.

The benediction was pronounced by President Smith, and the exercises terminated.

YALE COLLEGE.

NEW HAVEN, July 22, 1869.

The doings of the alumni were concluded last evening by the meeting of classes. Those which met were the classes of 1819, '29, '39, '44, '49, '54, '59, '63 and '66. They all had suppers for the most part at the hotels, and spent the evening very pleasantly reciting portions of their life history since leaving college, proposing toasts and making responses.

The class of 1866 held its triennial reunion at the New Haven House. The class cup, made of silver and beautifully ornamented, was presented to a son of Mr. C. C. Chatfield, editor of the College Courant, said son being the first male child descendant of one of the class, those being the qualifications necessary to secure the gift. The cup was presented by Mr. ——, Mr. Chatfield responding, and the young hopeful occasionally adding a little of baby lingo, much to the amusement of many present.

In the evening the Phi Beta Kappa Society met in the North church and listened to an oration by Professor Emory Washburn, of the Harvard Law School, upon the subject of the relations of the college to the State. In England the universities, the speaker held, exerted a reforming influence, and in this country the influence of the college was widely felt. In England the college was exclusive; here it was based upon a recognition of the rights of every individual, and every man was given an equal chance. The spirit of the government was infused into the colleges and each helped the other. He spoke of the university system, but thought there was in this country a necessity for such colleges as we had. In conclusion he spoke of the necessity of universal education in a land like ours, where every man is one of the governing class.

After the oration Edward R. Sill, of Ohio, read a poem entitled, "The Clocks of Nostertown; or, the Truth of the Majority." The story of the poem aimed to show the necessity of every man doing his own thinking, and not yielding assent to public opinion when it was wrong. It was a fine production.

In the morning the society met and elected for orator next year Dr. McCosh, of Princeton, N. J., and for poet James K. Lombard, of Bridgeport, Conn., with substitute for orator Prof. Dwight, of Yale College, and for poet Rev. I. N. Tarbox, of Boston. The first third of the class of 1870 were also elected members.

This forenoon the commencement exercises of the graduating class took place at the Centre church, and were attended by a full audience. They were of the usual interest. After the close of the speaking the degrees were conferred. The following named delivered orations:—

Salutatory Oration in Latin, by Gardner Lathrop, Columbia, Mo.

Dissertation, "Robert Burns," by John Cowles Grant, Lockport, Ill.

Dissertation, "German Unity," by Henry Clay Missimer, Pottstown, Pa.

Oration, "Olden Barneveldt," by Charles Theodore Weitzel, New Haven.

Oration, "Dr. Arnold, of Rugby," by Frank Russell Childs, East Hartford.

Dissertation, "The Failure of Protestantism," by Henry Taylor Terry, Hartford.

Oration, "The Eastern Question," by Henry Lear, Doylestown, Pa.

Oration, "Ochlocracy," by Stuart Phelps, Andover, Mass.

Oration, "Free Trade," by Edward Gustin Coy, Sandusky, Ohio.

Oration, "A Plea for Shylocks," by Charles William Bardeen, Fitchburg, Mass.

Oration, "Railroads and the Government," by Henry Clay Bannard, New Haven, Conn.

Oration, "The Fictions of History," by Edward Heaton, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Oration, "The Court of King René," by Henry Augustin Beers, Hartford, Conn.

Philosophical Oration, "Macchiavelli's Art of War," by Bernadotte Perrin, New Britain, Conn.

Philosophical Oration, "The Heresy of Speculation," by Edward Payson Wilder, Kolapoor, India.

Oration, "College Friendships," with the Valedictory Address, by Arthur Shirley, New York city.

The degree of B. A. was conferred upon 112, M. A. upon 32, Ph. B. upon 27, Ph. D. upon 5, C. E. upon 1, LL.D. upon 5 and M. D. upon 2. The degree of D. D. was conferred upon Rev. I. N. Tarbox, of Boston, and Rev. Lavelette Perrin, of New Britain, Conn., and that of LL.D. upon Professor Salisbury, of Yale, and Dr. Taylor, of Canandaigua, N. Y.

After conferring the degrees the alumni sat down to a dinner at Alumni Hall, and pleasantly discussed the viands. In the evening President Woolsey received the graduating class and other graduates at his house. This was the concluding feature of the Commencement.

The evening trains carried away many of the alumni, and a considerable number of the students also left for Worcester, to attend the regatta, so that the town is regaining its wonted quiet.

AQUATIC.

Exciting Race Between James White and R. B. Deely—Deely the Winner.

A single scull three mile race in seventeen feet working boats came off yesterday afternoon on the "Hudson Amateur Association Course," at the Elysian Fields. Some three weeks since the champion badge of the Gulick Club was contested for by a field of five and easily won by Deely in the good time of 23m. 34s. James White, also a member of the Gulicks, was unavoidably kept from competing for the badge, and, with the idea that the "best man" in the club was not evidenced by the result of that race, promptly challenged the winner to row for a prize of $100. Side bets were also made amounting to something like $1,000. A large crowd had assembled to witness the race. The weather was all that could have been desired, and the Hudson has rarely presented so inviting an aspect as that offered yesterday. Time bets were made in consequence, and a hot contest was expected.

After taking a preliminary pull, in which White showed to poor advantage alongside of his more graceful opponent, the boats were called into line for the "event." Barney Biglin and James Waterson were chosen judges for White and Deely respectively, and H. S. Truax referee. George Springstein, the old "boating horse" of the Atalantas, officiated as timekeeper. A wretched start was effected, Deely catching the water at the words 'Are you ready?" and White delaying at least a second after the word "Go." In consequence Deely showed a length in advance before twenty yards were gone over, which distance he increased to five lengths 300 yards further up the course. Just before reaching the oil dock White caught a "crab," enabling Deely to widen the gap another length. White, having recovered himself, spurted vigorously, and by the time the coal docks were reached the bow of his boat was on a line with the sculls of Deeley. The latter quickly shook him off, however, and, rowing at his ease, turned the stakeboat two lengths in advance in the good time of 11m. 15s. The race home was entirely one-sided, Deely jogging along at his leisure and not exerting himself in the slightest. White pulled gamely, but to no effect. He was plainly overmatched and could never once head his adversary. Both men rowed a quick stroke, Deely graceful and with real power, White, as usual, stiff and crabbed. As they neared home each simultaneously mended the pace, and the score was crossed at a lively gait. Deely's time was 24m. 34s., White's 24m. 50s. Had the winner been desirous of making time there is no doubt but that he could have reduced these figures a good minute. The official time kept was allowed by the parties to be correct, an admission not often made at the races on this course. Altogether the affair was highly interesting, though the result was almost a foregone conclusion, and the betting was heavily in favor of the winner. After the race White put in a claim of foul, on the ground that Deely had crossed his path without being a boat's length in advance. This the referee disallowed. A match between Deely and Ed. Smith, of the Atalantas, was talked of on the passage home, but it is not likely that it will eventuate.

Celebration of the Decennial Anniversary of the Waverley Boat Club.

Among the amateur rowing organizations of this city and vicinity the Waverley Club has ever held a position in the foremost ranks for skill as oarsmen and gentlemanly deportment, and last night they added to those characteristics that of generous and attentive hosts. The occasion of their appearance as hosts was the celebration of the tenth anniversary of their organization. The natty club house, adjoining the Christopher street ferryhouse was completely transformed, as far as its interior is concerned. The ceiling and walls were hidden beneath flags and ensigns arranged in all manner of fantastic and artistic styles, and where the shells and skiffs and wherries and barges of the club were wont to rest, was spread a table loaded with good things and brilliant with glass and plate. The members of the Waverley, clad in their handsome uniform, were dancing around attending to their guests, who comprised the members of the Alcyone Club of Brooklyn, the Atlantic Club of Hoboken and the officers of the other clubs belonging to the Hudson Amateur Rowing Association. Mr. J. Fortheimer, president of the Waverley Club, occupied the chair, and was assisted by ex-Commodore B. F. Brady as master of ceremonies. When the business of the ferry had been closed for the night the guests and hosts had possession of the ferryhouse as a promenade, and there a little time was whiled away amid the flavor of partagas and the vintage of champagne, and then at word of command all took their seats, manned their knives and forks and struck in. They made a good pull of it, giving fully fifty strokes to the minute, and when the Fort-hammer rapped on the table as a signal that the line had been reached all felt satisfied at the work that had been done. Toasts and sentiment then reigned for a while. "Our Anniversary" was responded to by ex-Commodore Brady in a fitting epic poem. "Our Sister Societies" found a good representative in Mr. Tucker, of the Alcyone Club. "The Amateur Oarsmen of America" were answered for by Mr. Tuttle, of the Atlantic Club, and "The Harvard Crew" was enthusiastically cheered by all present and spoken for by Mr. Shea, of the Gulick Club. A number of other toasts, "The Press," "The Ladies," were given and duly honored. With festivity, song and unalloyed mirth several hours were passed, when the guests were taken in tow by the Waverleys, placed on a tugboat, which was in readiness, and conveyed to their respective headquarters. The Waverleys may be taken as fair specimens of the amateur oarsmen of America, and if the Harvard crew do appropriately represent the associations here, then in the land of monarchs they must be taken as types of natural princes.

THE HOBOKEN MURDER.

The Inquest Resumed Before Coroner White—The Case Still Shrouded in Mystery—A New Yorker "Wanted"—Robery and Murder—A Double Revenge.

The inquest on the body of William Lawrence, who was murdered at Hoboken last Thursday night, was resumed last evening before Coroner White.

Officer Thomas Burke deposed that he arrested Douglass, Persons and McCullough. Very few material points were elicited from his testimony. Nattas, the prisoner, after being arrested was detailing the conversation and incidents at Jesse Wood's saloon, especially the conversation between Lawrence and Douglass concerning the girl Hugg; Nattas remarked that "the dirty sucker won't make much by it;" there is no policeman left on duty at the ferry all night, but two officers are detailed to make a certain round, each arriving at the ferry every half hour; officers Carroll and Murphy were on duty that night (Thursday): examined the body of deceased; cannot say how the wounds were inflicted; the bottom at the place where deceased was found is quite soft; one can see the mud at low water.

William T. Havens sworn—I live at 313 Willow street; am in the employment of the Hoboken Ferry Company; knew William Lawrence; found his body in the water on Saturday morning.

Officer John Murphy deposed that he was on duty last Thursday night on First and Second streets; knew William Lawrence; did not see him that night; arrived at the ferry every hour; heard no disturbance; was at the ferry at a quarter past eleven and from fifteen minutes before twelve to twelve o'clock; Lawrence generally took up his position inside the ferryhouse; sometimes he sat opposite the ferrymaster, at other times he stood at the bridge on the arrival of each boat; this was his principal duty; he also went around to call the men at certain hours; saw him on Wednesday night at his post; did not see him afterwards.

Officer Owen Carroll testified—I was on duty last Thursday night; my beat was on Hudson street; I arrived at the ferry every half hour; knew William Lawrence; saw him that night about twenty minutes past ten o'clock; he was standing outside the entrance to the ferry, talking to a girl; I went into the ferryhouse, and when I came out I saw him and the girl running up the bridge; did not see him after that time; I came to the ferry again at half-past eleven; heard no disturbance that night; the absence of Lawrence was commented on that night; Lawrence was quite sober when I saw him, as far as I could judge from appearance.

Abraham Van Buskirk sworn—I live at 59 Second street; knew William Lawrence; met him last Thursday night at the ferry, between nine and half-past nine; he asked me if I would not go and have a cigar; I went and took a cigar, and he took a glass of lager; he seemed to have plenty of money, judging from the bills I saw stuffed in his pocket book; I left him there, in a few minutes, and went home as it was commencing to rain; I did not see a club with him; he was quite sober.

Henry C. Child examined—I live at 54 Sixth street; went over to New York last Thursday night by the quarter-past eleven boat; met William Lawrence crossing the bridge going towards Newark street, in company with a young woman; heard the latter remark in the conversation, "I'll take my oath it's so;" Lawrence spoke in a low tone, but the woman appeared somewhat excited; could not say where they went to afterwards.

Alexander Neafie sworn—I live at 11 Newark street; Lawrence resided at the same house; saw him at his supper last Thursday evening at a quarter past seven o'clock; at twenty-five minutes past seven he got up with the intention of going to the ferry; could not say whether he took his club; when he was going out his wife called him back and gave him some supper in a tin pail; this meal he generally ate about twelve o'clock; he went into the room before he left to get the key and the club; the club was not there after he left, from which I inferred that he took it with him; he was quite sober when he left the house; he spoke frequently about parties threatening to take his life, but I do not recollect whether he mentioned names; he said these parties were smugglers; he mentioned one man, a Spaniard, who was arrested and fined ten dollars; he remarked with great stress, "I am working for a position which I am promised if I follow that party up;" he did not say what party or by whom the position was promised; Lawrence was a quiet man in his family relations.

This was the last witness examined and the inquest was adjourned for one week. A warrant was issued for the arrest of a man who resides in New York, and who has been missing since last Friday. The name of this individual it would be manifestly improper to disclose at this stage of the proceedings. He was a turbulent fellow, and was engaged in several disputes with the workmen on the dry dock. Many of the mechanics were afraid of him. Last Thursday he was involved in a difficulty with Douglass, and two of the men on board the Galatea and Lawrence, it is stated, were also concerned in the affray. That was the last day of Lawrence's existence, and the new theory lays down that the fellow carried out his threats against Lawrence that night.

By the evidence given last evening a very material point was established. The witnesses Van Buskirk and Neafie swore that Lawrence had from fifteen to twenty dollars in his possession on Thursday night. This money he pulled out frequently to pay for drinks in presence of several parties. He also exhibited a memorandum book. When the body was found in the water the pocketbook, with its contents, and the memorandum book were missing. It is also quite evident that he took the club away from his residence, and this, too, is missing. The only effects found in his pockets were a night key and three or four pennies. The inference remains that the murderer plundered him before he threw him into the water. The mist which surrounds the case only thickens as it proceeds. Nattas is now the only prisoner in custody.

THE HUDSON CITY DISASTER.

Inquest Before Coroner Warren Last Evening—How Other Lives were Saved.

The inquest on the bodies of Roger Tighe, Lucius Andrews and Lawrence O'Connor, who were killed by the falling of the arch at the new Catholic church in Hudson City, commenced last evening at McCarthy's Hotel before Coroner Warren. The first witness was John Hogan, a stonecutter, who testified that he was standing inside the building when the catastrophe occurred. In his opinion the arches gave way because of the great weight resting on them and the insufficient strength of the pillars which supported the arches. The heavy rain of Wednesday morning so damaged the mortar that it contributed in a great measure to the disaster. Dr. Hammond testified that he examined the bodies of the deceased men; Tighe received a compound fracture of the skull, and this was the cause of death; there were no other wounds visible; Andrews had both legs fractured; death was caused in his case not more by the extent of these injuries than by the violent shock he received in the fall; O'Connor remained unconscious, venous blood oozing from his right ear; there was an incised wound on the forehead and the skull was fractured. When the medical testimony was completed the inquest was adjourned till Monday evening.

It appears that ten or twelve minutes elapsed between the falling of the two arches. While the men were engaged in extricating the sufferers who were buried under the first arch, a laborer named Duck heard the timbers creak on the other arch and he called out lustily to the men to make their escape. Five or six seconds more and the centre prop gradually commenced to swerve, and, toppling over, the whole structure came down with a crash. To the warning given by Duck the men standing on the scaffold over the second arch, as well as those standing under it, owe their lives.

POWDER EXPLOSION AT PATERSON.

Two Men Severely Burned.

Between five and six o'clock yesterday afternoon an explosion occurred on the side of Garret Mountain, near Squirrel Woods, a short distance from Paterson, N. J., by which two men were severely and perhaps fatally injured. The Morris & Essex extension is being graded at this place, under the superintendence of Dillon & Co., contractors. The laborers had lighted a fuse leading to a blasting charge in a large rock. They betook themselves as usual to a safe distance, but the blast did not explode. After waiting long enough to convince themselves that the charge had missed, they began to move cautiously towards the rock. The foreman of the gang and one laborer then approached the blast, and, finding, as they supposed, the fire had gone out, commenced to pick out the charge, when a fearful explosion took place. The men were thrown some yards, amid a thick shower of heavy boulders, falling near a large keg of powder, which also exploded at the same time. In an instant both men were one mass of flames. With great presence of mind, however, the laborer, wounded as he was, rolled himself in an old coat, subduing the blaze until his terror-stricken companions could come to his relief.

The foreman, blinded with the flames in which he was enveloped, plunged headlong into the canal, from which he was soon rescued.

Both unfortunate men were conveyed to a neighboring house and a surgeon was sent for. Their faces, bodies and limbs are one blackened, crispy mass; nearly every stitch of clothing was burned from their backs. Dr. Moss examined their injuries and did all he could to alleviate their sufferings, and gave his opinion that they might recover, although their death was most probable. At nine o'clock last evening their condition was not improved, and it was not thought they would survive until morning. Their names or condition in life could not be ascertained.

THE SEVENTH REGIMENT EXCURSION.

The Route to Troy—Scenes and Incidents on the Boat—The Reception by the Trojans.

TROY, N. Y., July 22, 1869.

The departure of the Seventh regiment for Saratoga from your city last evening, amid the acclamations of thousands of enthusiastic spectators, has doubtless already been chronicled in the columns of the HERALD. As for the voyage up the river it was as delightful as the most fastidious of gray coats could have desired. All along the route the various towns and villages which were passed between New York and Troy did their patriotic utmost to show their admiration for the command. At Yonkers especially the people turned out in full force, and as the steamer passed the wharf sent up cheer after cheer amid the waving of flags and the discharge of cannon.

At Pleasant Valley, where Colonel Clarke, the commandant of the regiment, resides, there was quite a display of fireworks and a good deal of enthusiasm manifested by a crowd of ladies and gentlemen who assembled along the shore to greet the gray coats. At Newburg, Mr. James H. Banker's yacht Rambler, which lay midstream, was gaily bedecked with flags and banners in honor of the excursionists, and as the Hartford steamed by hundreds of sky rockets shot up from her decks, lighting up the waters from shore to shore.

The City of Hartford, on which the regiment embarked, is not one of the largest vessels in the world, and as there were over five hundred men on board when she left the wharf at New York, the crowding and crushing for "place, position and comfort," for a time, was anything but agreeable; but as soon as the muskets had been stacked and all the cosey nooks in the boat had been captured by the knowing ones, every one set to work to enjoy himself as best he could. The feature of the evening's enjoyment—if such it may be called—was the drawing of lots for beds. Each company was awarded a certain number of berths, but no one man was assigned to any particular tick, and every man had to take his chance by lot to find a pillow whereon to lay his military head. The unlucky dogs who, of course, expected to get a berth, but did not, had to fall back on the reserve mattresses, which at a late hour of the night were strewn on the floors in the saloon, and even in the passage ways leading from the ladies' saloon, where there were no ladies, to the forepart of the boat, which was used as a dining room.

Of course before going to bed everybody who had anything like an appetite—and everybody seemed to have an appetite that would have made a boarding housekeeper commit suicide—partook of whatever kind of supper Commissaries Ingersoll and Rader were able to get up at short notice. The passage ways which extend from the ladies' saloon to the forepart of the vessel, on either side of the engines, were used as a dining room. Two long extension tables stretched from one end of the passages to the other, and from eight in the evening until long after midnight

The clash of plate and knife and fork
That fell, like tomahawk, to work,

was appetizingly incessant. Then, when the inner man had become satisfied with his quantum sufficit of ham and eggs and steak, about the Washington Market quality of which there was no mistake, time was killed in various ways, singing being the chief method resorted to to while away the dull hours that divided the night from the early morn. But everything has an end, and so had the singing in chorus, in cabin, on deck and along the bulwarks about three o'clock, when the guards declared every man to be in bed and fast asleep.

The boat arrived at the landing at Troy about five o'clock, and the only individual who was present to receive the regiment was a lonely looking policeman, who was awakened from a sound slumber on a coal box by the whistle of the steamer as she sidled up to the wharf. The boat had no sooner touched the landing than everybody who was awake—and nobody seemed to be asleep—made rapid tracks for the interior of the town, just to see the elephant before the people had got out of their last snooze. At a quarter-past eight o'clock a salute was fired from the shore, and the Mayor and several of the Common Council came on board the boat and welcomed the regiment in the name of the people of Troy. The command shortly afterwards, in full dress uniform, with white pants, filed into the street adjoining the wharf and formed by platoons. It was received by the Twenty-fourth regiment, Colonel Stienburgh commanding, and the procession moved through the principal streets, the sidewalks being densely packed with enthusiastic men, women and children, who welcomed the regiments by cheers and waving of handkerchiefs.

The regiment during the parade formed into line before the residence of General Wool, who welcomed the command in a neat little speech, in which he referred to the services which the Seventh had rendered the country during the war. At the conclusion of the parade and reception a magnificent collation was spread in the Troy House, to which the gray coats did ample justice.

The regiment is now on its way to the depot, where it will take the twenty minutes past one o'clock train for Saratoga.

Arrival of the Seventh Regiment at Saratoga—Enthusiastic Reception—Brilliant Ball at the Union Hotel.

SARATOGA, July 22, 1869.

The Seventh regiment arrived here late this afternoon from Troy and was received in the most enthusiastic manner, the whole resident population and the visitors at the various hotels turning out to do it honor. The complimentary ball given to the command at the Union Hotel to-night by the citizens and residents of the place was the grandest affair of the kind which has ever occurred at this world renowned resort, and the crowds of visitors who arrived from various parts of the country, and especially from New York city, during the day, for the express purpose of attending the ball, were numbered by the thousands; in fact, before the opening of the hop there were over 1,500 guests at the Union Hotel alone. Every other hotel in the village was crowded to its utmost capacity. By six o'clock in the evening there were at least 4,000 strangers in the place.

The grounds in the rear of the Union Hotel were brilliantly illuminated during the ball with Chinese lanterns, and the ballroom itself was lighted with hundreds of gas jets. The band of the regiment and two other bands furnished the music for the occasion. The upper ten of New York was represented by as brilliant an assemblage as ever graced a ballroom. The toilets of the ladies were of the most superb character, and at midnight, when the hop was at its height, the scene presented by the dazzling uniforms of the Seventh and many officers of the regular army, who were present in large numbers, was grand in the extreme. Shortly after midnight a magnificent supper was had, after which the dancing festivities were kept up until daylight.

The event was one long to be remembered at Saratoga.

It is also a Mortgage upon rolling stock and franchise of this first class railway, now running through the State of Kansas,
AND IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION FOR 437 MILES
west of the Missouri river, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides
MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN.
In addition to this the bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,
extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas, to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the trustees in the 7 per cent bonds themselves up to 120, or in United States bonds, as a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds. The lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of
THREE MILLIONS OF ACRES IN THE STATE OF KANSAS,
and although not pledged as a security for this loan, their possession adds largely to the company's wealth and credit.
We estimate the
VALUE OF THE COMPANY'S PROPERTY,
COVERED BY THIS MORTGAGE,
AT $23,000,000 NET, WHILE THE LOAN
IS MERELY $6,500,000.
The bonds have thirty years to run, from May 1, 1869, and will pay
SEVEN PER CENT INTEREST IN GOLD,
semi-annually, on May 1 and November 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION,
the company paying the tax.
The principal of the loan is made payable, in gold, in the city of New York, but each coupon will be payable in Frankfort, London or New York, at the option of the holder, without notice, at the following rates:—
On $1,000 bond in New York..$35 (gold) each half year.
On $1,000 bond in London.....£7 5s. 10d. each half year.
On $1,000 bond in Frankfort.. 87 florins, 30 kreuzers, each half year.
The agents of the loan, before accepting the trust, had the condition of the road and the country through which it runs carefully examined. They are happy to give the loan an emphatic indorsement as a
in every respect, perfectly sure, and in some essentials even better than government securities. The bonds will be sold for the present at 96, with accrued interest, both in currency, the agent reserving the right to advance the rate.
The attention of investors is invited to these well secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market. Gold and government securities taken in payment at their market value, without commissions. Pamphlets, with maps, giving full information, sent on application.

THE NEWS.

Europe.

The cable telegrams are dated July 22.

A large number of the tory lords held a meeting on Wednesday night. They repudiated the course of Lord Salisbury and placed themselves under the leadership of Lord Cairns, who yesterday had an interview with the Earl of Granville. In the course of the interview Lord Cairns announced the submission of the Peers. The Lords were evidently frightened at the determined stand of the government and the fear of popular indignation. The Harvard boat crew are at Putney. They have declined the challenge of the London Club. A dreadful colliery explosion took place yesterday at St. Helens, a few miles from Liverpool. Over thirty lives were lost and sixty persons were injured.

The Ministerial Council of France have presented to the Emperor the basis of a State paper giving effect to political reforms proposed in the Emperor's message to the Corps Législatif. The Deputies of the Left held a meeting recently to resolve on some course of action. MM. Thiers and Favre advocated measures; but the meeting adjourned without taking any action on either of them. MM. Victor Duruy and Adolph Viatry have been made Senators.

The news about Don Carlos having entered Navarre is confirmed. The Spanish government is greatly alarmed.

Cuba.

Two Americans and a Mexican have been released from prison through the intercession of the American Consul General. Twelve hundred estates have so far been confiscated.

Mexico.

Advices from Mazatlan are to the 12th instant. General Vega is still at Tepic, revolving his favorite scheme for organizing a Northwestern Confederacy of Mexican States, in which, it is understood, he is strongly seconded by Lozada, who has for some time maintained a little independent republic of his own in the State of Jalisco.

Miscellaneous.

The Republican State Convention in Sacramento, Cal., on Wednesday nominated Lorenzo Sawyer and O. C. Pratt Judges of the Supreme Court. Resolutions were adopted endorsing President Grant, the Fifteenth amendment and universal amnesty, but opposing the granting of the suffrage to the Chinese in any form, expressing regret at their immigration and announcing that the government has a right to restrict their immigration by closing its ports against them. They do not, however, favor the latter course at present.

The ecclesiastical trial in Chicago yesterday presented a novel phase. Counsel for Mr. Cheney, the clergyman on trial, obtained from the Superior Court a writ of injunction prohibiting all farther proceedings in the case, and the Sheriff, who was present in the church, served the necessary papers upon the members of the court amid loud and prolonged applause.

President Grant's favorite trotting mare Ada, which could make a mile in 2:22, died yesterday, and, as there was suspicion of vegetable poisoning, a post mortem examination was made and her stomach was sent to the Army Medical Museum.

Secretary Boutwell is reported to have said yesterday that he did not intend to sell any gold while the premium remains as it is at present.

The trial of Yerger for the murder of Colonel Crane, in Jackson, Miss., was concluded yesterday, but the verdict is not known, and will not be until promulgated by special order of the General Commanding. Judge Hill, of the United States Circuit Court, was applied to to issue a writ of habeas corpus in the case to have Yerger taken out of the hands of the military commission, but the writ was denied and Yerger was remanded to military custody.

Judge Dent, it is said, will be supported by the conservatives of all parties for Governor in the coming Mississippi election.

The California airship Avitor, which is to fly from San Francisco to New York in twenty-four hours, was tried again in San Francisco yesterday and again proved a success.

The hoisting works in the Chollar Potosi mines, in Virginia City, Nev., were destroyed by fire on Wednesday. The loss is $100,000. The workmen escaped.

The republican majority in Washington Territory in the recent election for delegate to Congress was 148, Garfield being elected.

The Holy Father at Rome is anxious for more Canadian zouaves, and Father Moran is on his way to Canada to organize another corps.

Justice J. T. Joslyn, of Marlboro, Mass., is on trial before a committee of the Governor's Council for compounding felony and for excessive sentences.

Lieutenant Commander H. B. Seely, of the Pawnee, has been arrested at Portsmouth, N. H., for alleged excessive cruelty to two seamen.

Father McMahon, who has been in Kingston (Canada) jail since the fall of 1866, for being a Fenian, was released yesterday.

Hon. John Rose, the Canadian Finance Minister, has resigned.

Efforts are being made to get up a World's Fair at Washington a year hence.

In the Salt Lake City land office 983 pre-emption claims were entered during the first two weeks of June. The claims cover 140,000 acres.

The City.

President Grant, accompanied by his wife and daughter, quietly visited the city yesterday morning, spent about five hours shopping and returned in the afternoon to Long Branch.

General John Cochrane's declination of the Collectorship of the Sixth revenue district of New York is held in abeyance by the Secretary of the Treasury, as it is probable arrangements will be made with the Assistant Treasury in this city to accept deposits from the Collector's office at a later hour than is usual at present. It will be remembered that General Cochrane declined the place because the risk was too great, the Collector having to hold over through the night a portion of the money collected during the day.

The smallpox in a virulent character has finally arrived at the lower bay. The emigrant ship Admiral, which brought 298 steerage passengers from Bremen, is now in Quarantine, where she arrived yesterday morning, with twenty-nine cases on board. They have already been removed to Blackwell's Island.

The Nineteenth ward roughs who assaulted officer Higgins on the 11th inst. were released on $1,000 bail each yesterday by Coroner Schirmer, who investigated the case and found that Higgins is at present completely out of danger. A Mr. Morris Roberts, who does business as a merchant at No. 183 Eighth avenue, was summoned to serve as a juror in the case, but he became excited over the summons and threatened to shoot the officer who served it. He was arrested and committed.

The body of young Feilheimer, who was drowned in a bathing establishment at the foot of Sixtieth street, East river, on Sunday last, has been recovered. The person who pushed him into the water is still at large.

In the trial of officer Campbell for the murder of Maurice Long, yesterday, one of the jurors was sick, and the case was adjourned until Monday.

Gold opened yesterday at 135¾, and, after fluctuating during the day between that figure and 135½, closed at five o'clock at 135¾. The stock market was steady and quiet during the morning, but advanced in the afternoon, and closed firm at the highest figures.

The Irish Church Bill—The Revolution Averted—The Compromise.

It appears from our latest news that the aspect of affairs is considerably changed in Great Britain. The excitement on the part of the people on Tuesday and Wednesday had been quite as intense and quite as alarming as we had been led to believe. The London Times yesterday morning reflected the situation when it said that the Ministry had resolved not to yield, and that in consequence the differences between the Lords and Commons offered no insuperable obstacle to the passing of the bill. It is manifest that the Times was put in possession of the sentiments of the two Houses before it went to press. At all events, we now know that the Lords looked upon the situation as serious and dreaded the results that were more than likely to follow from persistent opposition on their part to the expressed will of the people; and that on Wednesday night, at a private meeting, the conservative Peers instructed Lord Cairns to act as their chief and make peace with the Ministry. A meeting between Lord Cairns and Earl Granville was the immediate result. A compromise, it appears, was agreed upon, and the presumption now is that the bill will be accepted by both Houses without further contention and passed into law. The tory opposition yielded gracefully and with dignity. Lord Cairns conceded that the original date, 1871, named for disestablishment should be restored, and that the Peers would not insist on amendments merely technical, such as those relative to curates, ecclesiastical residences and clerical annuities. In the House Earl Bandon, with one Irish bishop, protested against the compromise, but with these exceptions the tone was conciliatory and the chances of a collision were looked on as "tided over" happily.

The crisis for the present is therefore averted. It was not our opinion that it would be otherwise. We remembered the constitutional crisis of 1831-2—the only similar crisis in the history of England for many generations. The situation then was really alarming. Government was brought to a standstill. The Lords were stubborn, the Commons were imperious. The Ministry of the hour deemed it wise to resign. It was found impossible, however, to fill their places. The late ministers were called back, but refused again to take office until the King had formally given his consent to create as many new peers as should be deemed necessary to carry the bill through the upper house. The King's consent to adopt this extreme course virtually settled the question; for although matters were not pushed to this extremity, the fear that they might be induced the tory lords to absent themselves in such numbers that the bill was read a third time and passed without further trouble. Stubborn as the Lords seemed to be in the present instance, they were not more stubborn than they were in 1831-2. It was difficult to see why, if they found it necessary to yield then, they should not find it necessary to yield now. This, however, does not fully state the case. Since that great crisis the power of the Commons has been increased by two reform bills, the power of the Lords being in the same proportion diminished. Nor should it be forgotten that besides the changes brought about in the interests of the Commons by the extension of the suffrage, the railroad, the telegraph, the newspaper have all come to the assistance of the popular branch of the legislature. Since 1831-2 public opinion has been weightier, intensified, quickened a thousand-fold, and public opinion is now unmistakably against the Lords and in favor of the Commons. It was inevitable, therefore, that in such a struggle as that which we are now considering, no matter how protracted, the popular branch of the legislature must win. Resistance on the part of the Lords could only have resulted in larger popular exactions and deeper humiliation to the resisting party. To win in the long run was simply impossible. In yielding gracefully, after fighting manfully and being defeated, the Lords have acted wisely and well.

It is impossible, however, to overlook the fact that a great revolution has been effected in the constitution of England. Time was when the Peers were really masters of any and every situation that might present itself. All power was in their hands. It was the Peers, not the people, that effected the revolution under the second James. It was the Peers, not the people, that affected the revolutionary settlement which gave the crown to William and Mary. It was the Peers, not the people, that established the Hanoverian succession. It was the good sense of the Peers rather than the power of the people that accomplished the great reform of 1832. But it is the people's power which, in spite of the Lords, has accomplished this last great reform—the disestablishment and disendowment of the Irish Church. It would be vain to imagine that popular demands would be satisfied with this concession. All over Great Britain the people are hungry and impatient for radical changes. Grievances ecclesiastical, political, social, exist in rich abundance. The people have waited long and wearily; and now that they feel their strength they are but little likely to slacken their efforts. Disraeli by his late Reform bill gave the people power. Gladstone by this Irish Church measure has revealed to the people that power in action. The people have seen the Lords succumb to it. With the many social inequalities that stare them in the face and that goad them to action, they are but little likely to rest satisfied with any present success. The cry will soon be loud against the Church in Scotland. It will soon be loud against the Church in England. The army and the navy will be made the subjects of searching study and the many existing abuses will be unsparingly dealt with. The law of entail, which protects the great landlords, will be wiped out of the statute book. Hereditary legislation will be put to a severe test, and it will not be wonderful if the aristocracy and the Crown be denounced as useless relics of a bygone age.

In view of all this, we shall look for great activity on the part of the upper house of the British Parliament. Everything, we may rest assured, will be done to strengthen it and to bring it into harmony with the new state of things. If they cannot preserve their ancient power and their hereditary titles we may take it for granted they will do their very best to preserve their ancestral estates. The current of events in England shows us that the success of popular government in the United States is destined soon to revolutionize the world. It has been our mission to rouse the peoples to the knowledge and exercise of their power, and to teach them the true value of coronets and crowns.

Disappointed Newspaper Organs on President Grant.

There are two or three organs in the republican party that are growing more or less ferocious upon President Grant. This virulence can easily be traced to its natural source—namely, disappointment in not receiving the lion's share of the spoils. They pronounce Grant a failure, an imbecile, an ungrateful, avaricious man, one whose heart is of ice and whose blood is of milk. But the ghost "spoils!" stalks up amid this mirage of vituperation, and the secret is out. No doubt President Grant has disappointed a great many people, and no doubt his administration has shown a greater amount of imbecility within the same space of time than any other administration since the government was founded. But give President Grant a chance. What can be expected in six months, and the hot season on at that? The grumblers should remember that Rome was not built in a day. Why should President Grant be expected to make his mark after only a few short months of civic authority? It took him a longer time than that to "get out of the Wilderness." Reflect, ye growlers, upon the result of that campaign!

PLEASANT NEWS FROM THE COLORADO EXPEDITION.—We publish to-day a letter from the brother of Professor Powell, a member of the perilous expedition through the Colorado cañons, which brings intelligence from the adventurous party down to the 3d inst. The account, without doubt, will be read with pleasure, especially the concluding words:—"And now, as we looked down the long vista of the narrow cañon, while we were sliding down an inclined plane, in fact 'coasting,' the walls seemed to meet where the river turned round a short bend; the water was lost from sight, and the earth had opened, as we imagined, to gulp us down. The illusion is dispelled as we round the bend of the river, and, dashing through a succession of breakers, we suddenly debouch into a beautiful valley." The picture is fine. It could not have been better portrayed by the pen of a Bunyan. We are hopeful that the most beneficent results will flow from this extraordinary exploration, both to science and to the general interests of our country.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.—We are glad to see from our reporters' reports in this department that the Board of Health is up and doing. We are particularly glad at this juncture, when we have the yellow fever at quarantine in the Lower bay and may have the cholera with the next ship from the West Indies. At such a time, when New York city is filled with travellers moving in every direction, it becomes our health authorities to be especially vigilant.

GENERAL SHERIDAN AT SENATOR SPRAGUE'S.—General Sheridan as a Southern military district commander became and still continues the model soldier of the radicals; and Senator Sprague has of late become to them an abominable heretic. Yet Little Phil Sheridan finds it agreeable to accept the hospitalities of little Senator Sprague, and Sprague rejoices in having such a guest as Sheridan. Moral—Little Sprague and Little Sheridan are both larger than the ordinary calibre of the bigoted and narrow-minded party politicians.

STILL ANOTHER ESCAPE FROM SING SING.—We must insist upon a visit to Sing Sing by the Governor, to see if he cannot discover these loopholes of escape and provide for stopping them up. Surely for this purpose the Governor can spare a day or two from Saratoga.

The Progress of Cuban Independence.

If an insurrection could be put down by falsehood and systematic misrepresentation the Spaniards would be the most successful people in the world in that way. From the supreme government at Madrid and its immediate agent, the Captain General of Cuba, to the smallest official or vilest Spanish volunteer, they are all mendacious. In fact, in political matters, and particularly with regard to what is transpiring in Cuba, they are the veriest gasconaders. What they cannot accomplish by arms they expect to do by falsehood. The Cuban revolution, according to the Spanish authorities and the Spanish press in Cuba, was a mere bagatelle from the beginning, and has been put down effectually many times since. Indeed, if it were possible to believe these incurable gascons, there is nothing of the revolution left. But what are the facts? It is notorious that the Cubans, from the very inception of the movement, have been gaining strength all the time, and to-day their cause looks brighter and more promising than ever. From the insignificant movement of Cespedes and a few of his patriot companions in the sparsely settled neighborhood of Bayamo, the insurrection has spread and acquired power over a large part of the island. It embraces now the most powerful and most numerous party by far in Cuba, and has constituted a better and abler government than that of the Spaniards. The large batch of news from different parts of the island published in yesterday's HERALD shows this to be so, notwithstanding the garbled and mendacious telegraphic despatches from Havana. The object of these misrepresentations is, of course, to deceive the American people and government; but they will fail to blind our people to the facts. Nor can the administration, however partial, stupid and shortsighted it may be, long resist the light of truth and popular sentiment. The time is not far off when the voice of the American people, through its representatives in Congress and otherwise, must be heard, and when the cause of Cuban independence must be recognized and sustained.

THE PENNSYLVANIA CAMPAIGN.—Mr. Asa Packer, the democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, was serenaded in Philadelphia a few evenings since, and made the first speech of the campaign. It was a model speech. The speaker did not rake up defunct issues, as the platform upon which he was nominated has; he did not parade Sambo, nor did he breathe hostility to any class of people, nor made he promises to friends or foes, foreign or domestic. But, like a plain, common-sense citizen, he declared that he was no talker, but a worker, and as such was ready to lead the van of the Pennsylvania democracy to victory. That is all the democrats of the Keystone State ask, and with victory perched upon their banners this year they will be prepared to enter the next Presidential contest with some of the official State plunder well in hand. If the campaign be pursued upon the model plan adopted at the outset by Mr. Packer the democracy may achieve an easy triumph, and teach the administration that silence is a virtue that can be employed in politics as well upon one side as another.

THE NEW PAPER FOR GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.—Secretary Boutwell has notified the public that by authority of law he has adopted a distinctive paper, which will hereafter be used, until otherwise ordered, for all obligations and other securities of the United States. One of its peculiarities is the introduction of colored silk, cotton and other fibrous materials into the body of the paper while in the process of manufacture. By the law of the United States it is made a felony, subjecting the convicted offender to a maximum fine of five thousand dollars or a maximum imprisonment, with hard labor, for fifteen years, or both, at the discretion of the court, for any person to have or retain in his possession or custody any paper adapted to the making of such obligations or securities and similar to that designated by the Secretary of the Treasury or some other proper officer of the United States. The new national currency has done much to reduce counterfeiting, and it is to be hoped that the effect of Mr. Boutwell's new order will be to abolish it altogether.

ANOTHER BARK FROM THE RADICAL WAR DOG.—Wendell Phillips is out not only in a growl, but a decided, deep-mouthed canine bark against President Grant. He barks at him under the head of "Forgotten Promises," as if he were ignorant of the well-known aphorism that "promises, like pie crust, are made to be broken." The President will, no doubt, feel as much refreshed as if he had just emerged from an ocean bath at Long Branch when he learns that the eloquent scold has thus ventilated his wrath and cut himself adrift from the administration.

THE LAMENTABLE FLOOD IN TEXAS—A CALL FOR AID.—We have published accounts of a terrible flood in Texas. It is the most disastrous that ever visited a new country. A vast amount of property has been swept away, and those who yesterday rejoiced in the possession of a competency to-day find themselves and their families in absolute want of the common necessaries of life. The Colorado and Brazos rivers have overflowed their banks, and the public squares in some of the chief towns were at last accounts ten feet under water. The loss of life, no doubt, has been fearful, but we are as yet without particulars in that respect. A call for aid is already raised in the Texan papers. Will it not be cordially responded to by the merchants and people of the North?

THE NEW POLITICAL PARTY.—The Savannah News says that a new opposition republican party is forming, under the leadership of Seward, Chase, Charles Francis Adams, ex-Senator Morgan, Thurlow Weed and Charles A. Dana. The News, we suppose, means a new party on the platform of the Virginia election; but, if so, the managers of the movement are men who are more actively concerned in the battle down South than the above named parties. These men are decidedly dissatisfied with "the powers that be," but, like Micawber, they are "waiting for something to turn up," excepting Seward and Weed, who, so far as political party movements are concerned, are laid upon the shelf.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOAR'S LATEST OPINION—That women's rights include the right of suffrage. There is life in the old man yet.

Our Latest News from China and Japan.

Our Chinese and Japanese news reports, as given in yesterday's HERALD, have this in common—that from both countries the news must be looked upon as unfavorable. China is threatened with a bad harvest, and, to cap her misfortunes, another rebellion. The "outer barbarians" seem, besides, to be in as little favor as ever, if we may credit the report that while the English gunboat Opossum lay at Ichang placards were posted on the gates of the town offering rewards "for the murder of foreigners and the destruction of their steamers." From Japan we have news of a glut in the market, trade being unusually depressed and business all but suspended. The rebellion moves along, though with Asiatic slowness. The fort at Kanagawa still holds out, but the city of Hakodadi has, it is said, been captured by the imperialists. The prospect before both China and Japan is for the present, therefore, by no means cheering. Should famine be felt in China we may expect an immigration of Celestials to our shores sufficient to satisfy the most sanguine of the delegates to the late "Chinese Labor Convention." John Chinaman is by no means a stranger among us, but when his countrymen come over, not in tens, but hundreds and thousands, and take a fancy, as no doubt they will, to our soil and form of government, there is no telling in what numbers they may spread over this vast continent, or what social revolutions their presence may in course of time effect.

Thanks to steam and the telegraph, the shores of China and Japan are now brought as near to us as these States once were to the mother country. Our commerce with them is as yet in its infancy, but the extent to which it may hereafter develop itself is practically illimitable. They, however, must move ahead and take up some of our modern notions, like new blood, into their systems, before such results can be possible. At present they are not unlike what the kingdoms of Europe were when emerging from the feudal system, and must expect, before settling down into free governments, to pass through scenes of bloodshed and confusion. But this transition state may not be of long duration. Our Pacific Railroad, with new lines of swift and powerful steamers from San Francisco, will both expand commerce and help to break down the barrier of exclusiveness between us and them, and Lesseps' splendid work, the Suez Canal, will bring them into closer intercourse with Europe. What then, with Europe and America in this way carrying civilization to their shores, it is not too much to hope that the work of progress may not only be done well, but done quickly.

MR. BERGH'S NEW TRUCK FOR DISABLED ANIMALS.—The indefatigable President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has accomplished a great and good work. He has, after much time, labor and expense, introduced a new and practical arrangement by which disabled animals may be removed from the public streets without at all offending the eye or shocking the sensibilities of the most delicate spectators. The truck for the humane purpose of relieving disabled animals is as much of an improvement on the old system as is the present fire engine on the lumbering old hand machine of bygone days. Mr. Bergh has done well in this instance, and if he has at times been subjected to humorous comments through his excessive zeal, his latest act is such as must commend him to all humane and considerate citizens. The society of which he is the head well deserves its name.

JUDGE DENT ON HIS OWN HOOK.—It is given out that Judge Dent is running for Governor of Mississippi, not on the strength of his brother-in-law, General Grant, but on his own hook. Whether this announcement is made to help him or hurt him it does not appear; but we suppose that all the people of Mississippi attach some importance to the brother-in-law and the administration platform.

THE SEVENTH REGIMENT EXCURSION—A nice thing for the summer holidays. It gives the regiment a pleasant campaign among the fashions and the ladies at Saratoga, and will serve at the same time to keep up its martial spirit and its chivalry. We hope soon to hear that others of the fine city regiments of our National Guard, New York State Militia, are following this good example. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

SENATOR WILSON ON THE VIRGINIA ELECTION.—He talks like a man of sense in arguing for an honest recognition of the results of the late Virginia election. Senator Wilson, however, has been over the Southern field of politics and knows how the land lies in Virginia, and as the mountain will not come to Mahomet he wisely concludes that Mahomet must go to the mountain.

GETTYSBURG.—It is proposed to mark by monuments the positions held by each of the several corps of the opposing armies in the crisis of the battle of Gettysburg. A neat idea for embossing in enduring stone on the field the most important battle of the war, (excepting only the first Bull Run), the turning point in the great struggle for the Union.

THE PRIDE OF OUR VALLEY.—A Pennsylvania democratic paper heads its editorial column with the party's nomination thus:—"For Governor—The Pride of Our Valley, Hon. Asa Packer." When there is a woman's rights candidate the title will probably be "The Prude of Our Valley."

A SMASH-UP IN WALL STREET.—Suppose "Mountain Boy" should run away and spill his owner. After the spill—what? A smash-up in Wall street? That's the question.

ARREST OF BURGLARS.

Last evening Detective Willoughby, of the Third precinct, arrested two boys, John White and Richard Sullivan, in the act of negotiating for the sale of a silver watch. They were taken before Captain Ulman, to whom they confessed they had burglariously entered the house of a gentleman at Fall River and stolen thirty dollars in greenbacks and three watches worth $100. They will be held for the arrival of the Fall River authorities.

PROBABLE MURDER AT YONKERS.

The Thirty-second precinct police report that at nine o'clock P. M. on Wednesday William Mulvaney, aged forty-nine years, was assaulted at Spuyten Duyvel and dangerously wounded about the face, head and body, by two brothers named Kearns and Martha Shannon, employed in a foundery at that place. Mulvaney was taken to the hospital in a very critical condition, and yesterday a warrant was issued for the arrest of the brothers Shannon, who had fled the county.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

General and Mrs. Grant on a Quiet Shopping Expedition—"Let Me Have No Intrusion"—Amusing Scene Between General Grant and a Celtic Female "Mimber Iv the Dimocracy."

The President, Mrs. Grant and little daughter, arrived in this city unexpectedly about half-past nine yesterday morning, by the boat from Long Branch. The proprietors of the Astor House had been previously instructed that, as the visit was only one of a few hours and made for the purpose of making certain necessary purchases here, the President desired, during the little time he would be in the Astor House, to be spared from the intrusion of visitors. The President, his wife and little daughter drove from the Barclay street pier, and, almost unobserved, entered, and very shortly afterwards left, the Astor House by the Barclay street entrance. They had arrived and proceeded on their shopping expedition so quietly that Mrs. Grant had made extensive purchases of dry goods before the small gathering of uninterested looking persons (who, having no better way of amusing themselves, had assembled in the hall of the Astor House to look at the President) were aware of his arrival. General Grant accompanied his wife and daughter to the various stores to which they went. The greater part of the time was spent by them at Stewart's, where they bought a quantity of goods more remarkable for their variety than costliness. They had finished their shopping and returned to the Astor House by three P. M. They entered, as before, quietly and almost unobserved, partook of a slight lunch, and, again leaving the hotel noiselessly, arrived at six o'clock at the Barclay street pier to take the steamer for Long Branch. Whether it was that the visit did not interest the public much, or that the fact of their visit was not generally known, or, again, that the people were willing to leave the President as much to himself as he could desire, very few went to the pier to get a glimpse of him—the persons there consisting mainly of the passengers by the boats for Long Branch or Newark, and of the laborers who work on the wharf. There were no manifestations of any kind, no rush to get a nearer view of General Grant, no sycophantic gathering of worshippers at the shrine of office.

The President stood for some time on the lower deck, and there shook hands with several persons who came forward, the only prominent citizen among them being Peter Cooper. While the President was standing there a ludicrous scene was enacted. An old Irishwoman, well known on the pier, went up to the President, shook hands with him, and taking from her orange basket two as good oranges as she could find among the far from tempting collection, thrust them into the President's hand, and insisted on his accepting them. The act caused considerable merriment among the bystanders, but General Grant did not seem to appreciate the joke. He looked first at the oranges, which had seen better days, and then with a bewildered expression at the genial looking, voluble old woman, and, after a little time, comprehending that she meant these treasures from her humble store as a present to him, put them in his pocket. He then ascended to the upper deck and sat down beside his wife and daughter. The old Irish woman was enthusiastic over the little event in which she had been a prominent figure, and amid the laughter of the crowd cried out in the same breath—"Musha, but he's a rale foine looking gintleman intirely—here yees are, four beautiful oranges for tin cints." This was followed by "Shure I shook hands wid the Prisident, so I did," on which a wag in the crowd cried out, "A nice thing for a democrat like you to shake hands with a republican like him." This blow at her devotion to principle seemed to stagger her for a moment, but recovering her presence of mind, she retorted, "Divil a bit of black republican blood in his body!" The crowd laughed loudly, and the old woman, evidently feeling that she had not yet redeemed herself in the eyes of the great "dimocracy," exclaimed, "Shure Andy Johnson was the rale pure dimocrat entirely! Arrah, but he was the jewel iv a man!"

At half-past four the steamer left the pier for Long Branch, General Grant, with his wife and child, being seated among the passengers on the upper deck, no demonstrations being made by the small group of persons who watched the departure.

MUSICAL AND THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Sinbad" will be ausgespielt July 30.

"Patrie" will be revived about the 1st of September.

The Fifth Avenue theatre reopens on the 16th of August.

Jefferson, "Rip Van Winkle," at Booth's August 2.

"Arrah na Pogue" and brogue at Niblo's on the same night.

"Lalla Rookh," on the same night, makes her first bow at the Museum.

Miss Kate Fisher—"Mazeppa" will be the recipient to-night of a benefit at the "Old Drury."

"Long Strike," with a strong cast, will be produced at Wallack's next Monday evening.

The Théâtre Français reopens September 11 under the management of Parepa-Rosa, with English opera.

Fanny Janauschek sailed from Bremen on Saturday last for this city, where she appears in English tragedy about December.

Stair, the reformed opéra bouffe manager, handed $2,100 over to the Cuban Junta as the proceeds of the late benefit given at the Academy of Music in aid of the Cuban patriots.

"The Catacombs," in Fourteenth street, will be made vocal with the strains of French grand opera, from the 1st of November until February. Nobody in the city appears to know anything concerning the company who are to furnish us with this great treat.

"The Original Christy's Minstrels" (?) who are now performing at St. James Hall, London, were reinforced on the 8th inst. by Messrs. Wambold, Bernard and Backus, of the San Francisco Minstrels in this city. All three were well received. The elongated Nelse Seymour, late of Bryant's Minstrels, is cutting up his Shanghae capers in the same English company, and is quite a favorite with the appreciative cockneys.

Bryant's Minstrels close their hall in the big wigwam to-morrow night for renovation and repairs, preparatory to opening for the fall season. The hall will remain closed for about three weeks, during which time the troupe of dusky favorites will endeavor to tickle the stoical "Broadbrims" of the Quaker City into something like "appreciation" for the grotesque and eccentric.

A prestidigitator, rejoicing in the felicitous cognomen of "Professor Domore," is at present delighting the simple minded Chicagoese with feats of sleight-o'-hand and other marvellous deceptions. It is a little doubtful, however, whether "Professor Domore" is more expert at humbugging than the very people he is now endeavoring to deceive. If "Professor Domore" can get the best of the moral Chicagoese he can do more than most men.

[illegible] is rapidly improving in Paris. In the revival of "Le Prophète" at the Grand Opera House in that city two English skaters, who were expressly engaged for the opera from the Alcazar, make the greatest effect and nightly carry off the lion's share of the honors. What are the Parisians coming to? Opera bouffe apparently has not benefited them.

The Emperor of Russia recently ordered his Imperial Opera director to offer Mme. Alboni $600 in gold per month and $2,000 travelling expenses. Mme. Alboni replied that she would not accept lower terms than those on which La Patti had sung. In reply the Emperor telegraphed that he agreed with her view of the case, and requested Mme. Alboni to accept an engagement for St. Petersburg identical to the one La Patti had signed last winter.

During this dull season in theatrical affairs many of the enterprising Western managers have journeyed to New York to make arrangements for the fall and winter season. Manager Duffield, of the Louisville Opera House, determined to give a succession of first class performances, has engaged the following "stars" for engagements during the coming season:—Joe Jefferson, Forrest, Lydia Thompson, Owens, Scott-Siddons, Mary Mitchell, Abaugh, Leffingwell, Miss Marriott, Mrs. Bowers, Fanny Price and others, besides the Richings English opera company, a German opera company and Grau's Italian opera company. The season commences on September 6.

M. Offenbach is said to be growing ambitious and intends writing a "Guillaume Tell," after which he will be satisfied. Like Alexandre Dumas fils, he is tired of his reputation. The world has only recognized in him a master of frothy, catchy, attractive melodies, the illustration of indelicate subjects. Now, he protests that he writes musical tomfooleries like "La Périchole" and "Tulipatan" for the simple reason that they pay better than any other form of composition. Having amassed a handsome fortune he designs to produce one important work and then throw down his pen, in imitation of the example of the recently deceased maestro, Rossini.

ALLEGED HEAVY DEFALCATION.

Reported Loss of $63,000 by the Security Insurance Company.

About two days ago the officers of the Security Insurance Company made a startling discovery, implicating Frank W. Ballard, the secretary of the corporation, in alleged defalcation to the extent, it is claimed, of $63,000. The reported embezzlement was made public only yesterday, and the affair was discovered during Mr. Ballard's absence from the city. Taking, therefore, this fact into consideration it would perhaps be well to receive the report with caution, particularly as the alleged defaulter has hitherto held a high position among insurance men, having filled the position of secretary in both the New York Board of Fire Underwriters and the National Board. He has been secretary of the company since November, 1866, and for a long time before that was secretary of the Importers and Traders' Insurance Company.

The facts as revealed appear to be as follows:—The amount of the defalcation is $63,000, all of which has gone to meet losses incurred by Wall street speculations. The loss was discovered two days ago, when Mr. Ballard was promptly displaced.

The defalcation was managed in the most ingenious manner, and could have been accomplished only by an expert bookkeeper. The company usually has a surplus of about $200,000, part of which is used to make call loans. The company never charges more than seven per cent, and receives only government bonds as collateral security. These collaterals were used by Mr. Ballard for purposes of speculation.

The Irish Church Bill—Surrender of the Peers—Triumph of the Commons.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

There has been a compromise on the question of the Irish Church bill, resulting through fear on the part of the peers of the consequences arising from the threatened collision of the two Houses of Parliament. Last night a large meeting of the tory lords was held at the private residence of one of the peers, when it was resolved to repudiate the leadership of Lord Salisbury and place themselves under the lead of Lord Cairns, who was authorized to make peace with the Ministry and express the willingness of the peers to yield. To-day Lord Cairns sought an interview with the Earl of Granville, when he informed him that he was ready to give in the submission of the peers whenever the Cabinet agreed to a compromise.

It is announced to-night that the prompt and loud expressions of popular indignation had terrified the Lords, and thus postponed for a while the threatened agitation.

The Consideration of the Church Bill Resumed in the House of Lords—The Compromise Effected—The Original Date of Disestablishment Agreed to.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

In the House of Lords to-night there was a full attendance of peers and spectators, and many members of the House of Commons were present.

The consideration of the amendments to the Irish Church bill was resumed.

Earl Granville opened the debate by stating that her Majesty's Ministers regarded the vote of Tuesday night as one of a very grave character; but they were unwilling to prevent the consideration of the other amendments to the bill, and were anxious to conduct the discussion in a spirit of peace and conciliation. He proposed the reinsertion of the original date of disestablishment—namely, January 1, 1871—but should not insist on a division of the House. If the motion was contrary to the feeling of the House he would withdraw it.

Lord Cairns said since the adjournment he had had a conference with Earl Granville. He (Lord Cairns) thought the amendments remaining few and capable of solution. He was glad to find that Earl Granville was actuated by a similar spirit. Nothing could be more culpable on either side than to encourage or protract controversy on a measure of this kind where materials for a solution were at hand. With that view and that sentiment everything which took place at the conference accorded. He argued that the question of date was of secondary importance, and declared that he was ready to accept the original date. He advised the Lords not to insist on their amendments in regard to curates, ecclesiastical residences or the commutation of annuities. If three-fourths of a diocese were willing to commute they would have twelve instead of seven, per cent added. The question with respect to the disposition of the surplus might be left over; but power should be given to Parliament to apply a portion of the fund to the alleviation of unavoidable calamity. Lord Cairns concluded by admitting that he still had strong objections to the bill; but if it was to pass at all it was not for the interests of the country or the Church to prolong the struggle on minor details.

The Marquis of Salisbury, Earl Russell and other leading peers accepted the compromise and praised the conduct of Lord Cairns in the present emergency.

The motion for the restoration of the original date of disestablishment was agreed to, and other amendments were disposed of according to the terms of the compromise.

Clause sixty-eight was altered so that none of the surplus shall be applied without the separate and distinct sanction of Parliament.

The Earl of Bandon and the Bishop of Tuam protested against the compromise.

Earl Granville thanked Lord Cairns for the frankness with which he had entered into confidential communication with the government in order to smooth down the difficulties in the way of the bill.

The London Times on the Irish Church Bill.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

The Times this morning, in an editorial, says that the ministry has resolved to preserve the Irish Church bill, in spite of the majority against it in the House of Lords. Therefore, the conclusion is, the Times continues, that the differences between the houses in respect to the preamble and the sixty-eighth clause do not offer an insuperable obstacle to the passage of the bill.

An English Opinion of the Present Condition of Ireland.

LONDON, July 22, 1869.

The Times, alluding to the recent agrarian outrages in Ireland, says centuries of misrule have planted perverse views in the Irish peasant's breast, which must disappear under beneficent and enlightened legislation. For this reason we trust in such measures of justice as the Irish Church bill, which should not be left unsettled a moment longer than can be avoided. Until it is settled there is little hope for tranquility in Ireland, and the gravest results are to be apprehended from temporary postponement. Heavy indeed is the responsibility of those who have the power to rescue the measure from delay.

The ecclesiastical court engaged in the trial of the Rev. Mr. Cheney assembled at half-past nine this morning.

The President announced that the exceptions taken yesterday afternoon by the counsel for the accused, and which had been held for advisement at the adjournment, were overruled.

Mr. Fuller rose and said:—"We have, up to this time, presented such objections as we had to the jurisdiction and to the various papers that have been laid before you, and to the court, of which you are the presiding officer, until we have reached the point at which we will go no further. I have applied to the Superior Court of Chicago for an injunction, which has been granted, against all further proceedings in the case. We have determined that if our client is smitten it shall not be contrary to law, and we have been compelled to pursue this course. The Sheriff of Cook county, who is present, will serve the gentlemen whom he will find named in the writ."

The Sheriff of Cook county, Gustave Fischer, then proceeded to serve the writs in due form, his entrance being greeted with loud and continued applause by the audience.

As soon as he could be heard the President demanded order, and said if such demonstrations should again occur he would order the house to be cleared.

Stoppage of the Sales of Gold—Favorable Effects of Boutwell's Financial Policy.

The Secretary of the Treasury, on being questioned on the subject, replied that he had no intention at present of selling gold, and that he did not expect to sell any while the premium was at the present figure. The impression at the Treasury is that it will go lower. This seems to be founded on the fact that United States bonds have advanced in Europe in consequence of the favorable exhibit of Boutwell's financial management, and that by the time there is a demand for the shipment of gold the crops will be ready to bring into the market. A letter received here to-day from an American gentleman travelling in Europe alludes in warm language to the beneficial effect of Boutwell's policy in strengthening the credit of our government abroad.

Another Scramble for Office—General Cochrane's Declination Held in Abeyance.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue finds the business of his bureau so far behind after his absence that it will be several days before he can turn his attention to the various applications on file for offices which have become vacant during the past month. In the meantime several politicians are here from Pennsylvania making a scramble for a vacant collectorship in the Fifteenth district of that State. The collectorship of the Sixth district New York is still unsettled. The refusal of General Cochrane to accept is held in abeyance, as it is understood that he will take it if certain arrangements are made with regard to the deposits. The Secretary of the Treasury is rather inclined to make this arrangement, and if he does, that will settle the business.

Fenian Matters Before the Cabinet.

Colonel Warren called to-day upon Secretary Cox and Postmaster General Creswell, and had a talk with them about Fenian matters. The Colonel has now seen every member of the Cabinet except Secretary Rawlins, and has found them all favorable except Attorney General Hoar. He believes that some decided action one way or the other must be soon taken by the administration on the subject, and from the opinions expressed by different Cabinet members hopes that the expected action will be favorable to the rights of naturalized citizens.

Peruvian Claims Commission.

Official proclamation is made of the recent convention between the United States and Peru for the adjustment of claims of the citizens of either country against the other. One commissioner is to be appointed by each government and the two shall name an arbitrator. They are to sit at Lima.

Movements of George Peabody.

Mr. George Peabody arrived here to-day in a special car, and, accompanied by Mr. W. W. Corcoran, proceeded to the White Sulphur Springs.

Death of the President's Favorite Horse.

A post mortem examination was made this afternoon of President Grant's trotting and blooded mare Ada, which died, after several hours' sickness, this morning. She could trot her mile in 2:22. There being suspicion of vegetable poisoning, the stomach has been sent to the Army Medical Museum for analysis. In response to a telegram from President Grant his carriage horses, Egypt and Cincinnati, were to-day sent to Long Branch.

Homestead Entries in Utah.

THE CUBAN FILIBUSTERS.

Probable Discharge of the Prisoners To-Day—Names of the Captives—The Grand Army of the Republic Calls Upon the Government for the Recognition of Cuba.

This morning District Attorney Pierrepont, Marshal Barlow and United States Commissioners White and Shields will proceed to Fort Lafayette to take some action with regard to the Cuban filibusters recently captured at Gardiner's Island and who have been confined in the fort since Saturday last. It has not transpired, however, what action is to be taken in the matter—whether the object is to arrest the prisoners on formal warrants or to discharge them on giving bonds to keep the peace. In all probability, however, they will be discharged on their own recognizances, as was the former batch. All of the present number were those who remained with Colonel Ryan on Gardiner's Island nearly three weeks, and their names are as follows:—George Kuncan, H. Sayres, John Baker, Franz Martin, Joseph Rusch, George Frondsberg, Peter Mofort, John Schmidt, John Schnickelfritze, Herman Loff, Samuel Jammerthal, John Thomas, Henry Williams, Gottleib Waldschloscher, Charles Kastoro, Lewis Koltwitz, Philip Schinderhanness, James Schmidt, James Schwangman, Albert Schmidt, John Weissel, Felix Plifki, John Brown, August Pfiterling, Richard Frost, Henry Hill, James Smith, John Witherly, James Gordon, John Mason, P. ACTION OF THE GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

The Grand Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic of the State of New York has been holding its annual session during the past two days at Booth's theatre, concluding yesterday. About 250 delegates were in attendance, representing nearly 100 posts, Vice Commander Colonel E. W. Lansing presiding. A special committee on the Cuban question, comprising General H. A. Barnum, G. W. Brown, J. B. Murray, M. H. Ellis and J. B. McKean, presented the following report, preamble and resolutions, which were adopted unanimously yesterday afternoon:—

NEW YORK, July 23, 1869.

TO THE GRAND ENCAMPMENT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK:—

Your committee to whom was referred the resolution on Cuba would respectfully report that, while they favor a resolution of sympathy for the cause of Cuba, still they deem it inexpedient that a resolution requesting the administration to recognize Cuba as a belligerent Power should be adopted. They feel satisfied that the question is perfectly safe in the hands of our President; that delicate and complicated questions of international law are involved, and that those who by their official positions are charged with the duty of superintending our international relations are better capable of determining this question; that our own Grand Commander—whose official relationship with us still exists—would be very much embarrassed in his diplomatic mission in Spain by such a resolution. That in view of the embarrassment which it would occasion to him as well as to our own government we would report against the resolution requesting recognition of Cuba. Your committee offer the following resolution in its stead:—

Whereas it is impossible for those who have themselves carried to a successful issue a fierce and protracted struggle in defence of freedom and their native land to contemplate unmoved the heroic efforts of a sister country to throw off the thraldom which centuries of oppression have made so galling as to be no longer within the bounds of human endurance; and whereas we recognize in the patriot army of Cuba, now so nobly contending against fearful odds, a righteous determination to deliver their beloved isle from the tyranny of a foreign Power; therefore be it

Resolved, That we congratulate them on their past success; that we commend and rejoice at their heroic and noble stand against great odds, and hereby extend to them our deepest, warmest and most hearty sympathy, and will hail their day of delivery and independence with heartfelt joy and gratitude.

Resolved, That our government be requested to take such steps as it may deem necessary to prevent the cruelties and barbarities perpetrated by the Spanish troops upon the prisoners of the patriot army and patriot citizens of Cuba.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the President of the United States and furnished the press for publication.

CUBAN VOLUNTEERS AT THE TOMBS.

Samuel C. Beman was yesterday arrested and taken to the Tombs Police Court, before Justice Dowling, on a charge of drawing a dirk knife on Cornelius Gillespie, of No. 1,110 Third avenue. Both were among the enthusiastic volunteers who recently enlisted to fight for the struggling Cubans. They got talking over Cuban matters, when a dispute arose which led to the alleged attempted murderous assault. The accused was committed for trial at the Court of Special Sessions.

OBITUARY.

John A. Roebling.

This gentleman, one of the most distinguished civil engineers in the United States, died at his residence, in Brooklyn, at an early hour yesterday, of tetanus, the result of an accident which occurred at the Brooklyn ferry on the 28th ult. He had been standing on a beam, next to the standing piles which form the entrance to the ferry house, surveying for the New York and Brooklyn bridge, when the boat coming in forced the piles against the beam, accidentally catching one of his feet between the two, crushing the toes frightfully. He was soon after conveyed to a surgeon's office, where, after an examination, it was decided that the mutilated members would have to be amputated. This was done, after which Mr. Roebling was taken to his residence. Unfortunately for himself he had a great faith in the cold water cure, and instead of seeking the advice of a physician, as his friends recommended him, he insisted upon treating the injury according to his ideas. The result was that gangrene set in, followed almost immediately after by symptoms of tetanus. When a physician was called in it was too late. His recovery had become impossible, and, as we have stated above, he died yesterday morning, in the sixty-third year of his age.

HIS BIRTHPLACE, EDUCATION AND EARLY PROFESSIONAL CAREER.

Mr. Roebling was a Prussian by birth, but had resided in this republic for nearly forty years. He was born in the town of Mulhausen, in Thuringia, Prussia, on the 12th of June, 1806, and received a fine education at the Royal Polytechnic School of Berlin, from whence he graduated, taking the degree of Civil Engineer. Three subsequent years were spent in the service of the government, mainly at Westphalia, where he superintended the public works in course of erection, gaining considerable experience in his profession and giving numerous evidences of the great engineering skill he possessed. About the year 1831 he emigrated to the United States, settling in Western Pennsylvania, where he purchased a large tract of land. This section of Pennsylvania was then very sparsely populated, and for several years Mr. Roebling worked on his farm, seeing but few persons of cultivation whose society were congenial to him. Of course such a life had no charms for the deceased, and he abandoned it at the earliest opportunity to resume the profession of engineering. His first professional work in the United States was upon the slack water navigation of the Beaver river, one of the Ohio river tributaries. He was afterwards employed on the Sandy and Beaver Canal, which was never completed, and later on the Upper Alleghany river. This was his last connection with canal engineering. Some time after he entered into an engagement with the State of Pennsylvania to survey and locate a route for three lines of railways across the Alleghany Mountains. This work employed him for three years, and was most satisfactorily performed, although the roads were finally constructed by a private company.

Mr. Roebling now engaged in the manufacture of wire ropes, then in its infancy in this country, but now a most important branch of business. The use of these ropes in transporting the canal boats of the Pennsylvania State Canal across the Alleghany Mountains and the experience gained by him as to the capacity of wire to sustain a great pressure first assured him of the feasibility of suspension bridges with great spans, the idea of which he had long entertained. As a matter of course great opposition was encountered. There never was a great enterprise which in its incipiency did not meet with ridicule and prophecies of failure until complete success put an end to all doubts and positive assertions of its impossibility. Mr. Roebling met the fate of all men of genius. He was told that his idea was not only impracticable, but it was utterly impossible of realization. He, however, persevered heedless of adverse criticism, to finally win, and by winning, to achieve a lasting reputation.

HIS SUSPENSION AQUEDUCTS AND BRIDGES.

In 1844 Mr. Roebling obtained the opportunity he had long sought for. During that year the wooden aqueduct of the Pennsylvania State Canal across the Alleghany river required rebuilding, or rather it was found necessary to replace it with a new structure on the old piers, which were quite sound and serviceable. Mr. Roebling was the lowest bidder for the contract, which he obtained, to do the work within a specified time. Even after the aqueduct was completed, comprising seven spans of 162 feet each, and consisting of wooden tanks to receive the water, the whole supported by a continuous wire cable, the opponents of this new method of constructing aqueducts declared that the structure was not safe. It would give way, they said, before the tremendous pressure of water to be turned upon it. These predictions were never fulfilled, and the complete success which attended the work placed the engineer at the head of his profession. He subsequently constructed on the same plan the Lackawaxen, Delaware, High Falls and Neversink aqueducts, on the Delaware and Hudson Canals, all of which are permanent structures of great value.

But the great work with which Mr. Roebling's name is associated, and which must ever cause him to be remembered as one of the greatest of American engineers, was the construction of the suspension bridge across the Niagara river, connecting Canada with the United States by rail. Efforts had been made to build this bridge, and, in fact, there had been a temporary bridge erected for the use of travellers and light vehicles. In addition, Mr. Ellet, the engineer, had been employed by the New York Central Railroad and the Great Western Railway Company, of Canada, to construct a suspension bridge, but some time passed without anything doing until finally Mr. Ellet left the companies. The subject of this sketch was then engaged to construct the bridge. How well and how permanently it was done we need not state here. For the first time in the history of civil engineering over 800 feet of water were covered by a single span, and a bridge calculated to sustain almost any weight that could be placed upon it constructed and supported by four wire cables of ten inches in diameter.

About this time Mr. Roebling began the construction of a much greater work, it being the construction of a suspension bridge across the Kentucky river, on the line of the Cincinnati and Chattanooga Railroad, requiring a single span of 1,224 feet. This great work was never completed for want of funds. Two other suspension bridges, one at Cincinnati and the other at Pittsburg, were built by him. At the time of his death he was engaged upon what would probably have proved the main work of his life—the bridging of New York and Brooklyn, with a clear span of 1,600 feet. It is a satisfaction to know, however, that all his plans and estimates had been completed, and that the bridge will be constructed according to them.

CONCLUSION.

Some years ago Mr. Roebling left the West and moved to Trenton, N. J., where he established his works. He also took up his regular residence there, and was living in Brooklyn only temporarily. His body will be conveyed to Trenton for interment.

The death of Mr. Roebling must be regarded as a public calamity; for although the work on which he was engaged will undoubtedly be carried out to a successful termination according to his plans, there were others requiring great engineering skill to which his judgment and ability would have been of incalculable benefit. Personally, too, Mr. Roebling was much esteemed, and his numerous friends will hear of his death with deep regret.

Sidney Smith Lee.

A telegram from Alexandria, Va., reports the death, at his residence in Stafford county, of Sidney Smith Lee, a brother of General Robert E. Lee, and formerly an officer of the Union and later of the Confederate navy. He was born in Virginia about the year 1800 and entered the navy in 1820. At the outbreak of the rebellion he held the rank of senior lieutenant; but he threw up his commission and entered the Confederate service as commodore. During the war he did very little of note, perhaps because he never had an opportunity. Commodore Lee and General Samuel Cooper married sisters, of the name of Mason, descendants of General Mason, of Gunstown Hall. After the war he took up his residence on the Potomac, in Maryland, but subsequently returned to Virginia, where he died.

BAHAMAS.

The Salvador Case—The Spanish Consul Recalled—The British Cruisers—Wedding of a Cuban Couple—Yellow Fever.

NASSAU, N. P., July 10, 1869.

The case of the Cuban blockade runner the British steamer Salvador came on on Tuesday last and was continued yesterday (Friday), when the question had not been concluded. Great concern is shown by the parties interested, as well as the Cubans generally, and it is hoped that it will have a favorable decision. The patriots will hereafter show more caution, and whenever they may have a similar enterprise in hand they will take care, perhaps, that the vessel be any but an English one and to take her to any port but one in the Bahamas.

Mr. John Maury, who has served the Spanish Consulate in the Bahamas for nearly thirty years, has been removed by the Madrid government. Mr. Maury feels quite indignant at the decision of General Serrano for thus rewarding his long services, and pronounces the Spanish government to be a very ungrateful one.

Her Britannic Majesty's steamship Eclipse is in port. Her Majesty's steamship Royalist left to-day for Inagua, and the Philomel is going to Havana.

A Cuban wedding took place last evening in the Cathedral (Episcopal church). The happy couple are Don Lorenzo Jimenez, a native of Matanzas, and Doña Isabel Silva Castellanos, a native of Puerto Principe.

Business is exceedingly dull.

EXCURSION OF COMPANY B, TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT, N. G.

The officers and members of Company B, Twenty-second regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., were entertained in truly princely style yesterday at Oak Grove, Rye, the beautiful summer seat of Mr. S. S. Bent. On arriving at the Portchester station the company was welcomed in the most enthusiastic manner by a reception committee composed of the élite of the neighboring gentry, supported by a host of ladies and a large assemblage of "happy peasantry." The younger ladies made rapturous comments on the handsome appearance of the gallant visitors, and in so doing displayed their exceeding good taste, for Company B is composed, without a single exception, of as well-built, good-looking and gentlemanly a set of boys as were ever arrayed in plumed shakos, blue swallow tails and immaculate unmentionables. Having given the good people at the depot the regulation salute of "three and a ti-ger-ah!" the "flower of the Twenty-second" stepped off briskly to the stirring music of Dodworth's regimental band, and after a short but exceedingly pleasant halt at the house of Mr. Thomas Bent, marched through the village of Portchester to Oak Grove, where Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Bent and a select party of invited guests received and entertained them in a most magnificent manner. The banquet in the grove was a prodigious success, the worthy host having provided every delicacy that a reasonable epicure could desire and added no end of "extras." The banquet over, a picturesque group was formed in front of the villa, the military guests occupying the centre, and a faithful photograph of the gay and festive gathering was secured. The flirtation between the "boys in blue" and their lovely companions in silks and muslins of all the colors now in fashion culminated in a dance on the lawn, and tripping on the "light fantastic" was followed by a delightful trip down to Rye Beach.

In addition to Captain T. H. Cullen, Lieutenant George W. Laird and Second Lieutenant M. R. Pearsall, the officers of Company B, the following officers of the Twenty-second regiment participated in the pleasures of the day:—Colonel Remmey, Lieutenant Colonel Porter, Major Camp, Captain McGrath, Lieutenants Austin, Styles and Briggs, and Dr. Rodenstein.

FIRES IN THE CITY.

In Mercer Street—Damage About $7,500.

About forty minutes after eight o'clock last evening fire was discovered by an officer of the Eighth precinct issuing from the garret of No. 75 Mercer street, owned by Mr. Thomas Crippen, of Staten Island, and leased to A. Bourlier, who has an insurance of $4,000 on improvements, and loses probably $1,000 by the fire.

The basement was occupied by Edward Hoole, baggage check manufacturer, whose damage by water is about $100.

The first main floor is occupied by Harlow Roys, leather dealer. Damage by water about $350. The second and third floors and garret are occupied by James McBride & Co., manufacturers of gents' silk and cloth hats, ladies' hats, &c., who had a large stock, and sustained probably $4,000 to $6,000 damage by fire and water. In their premises the fire originated, it is believed, in two places—in the garret and in a middle room of the second floor, where a valuable stock evidently was located. The appearance of the premises, after the smoke and fire had been expelled, was calculated to impress a close observer with the idea that the conflagration was the work of an incendiary. As none of the occupants were present the insurance could not be ascertained. The loss on the building will be fully $900, which is fully covered by insurance.

In New Street.

Between eight and nine o'clock last night a fire occurred from the generation of gas in the distillery of Woodson & George, Nos. 42 and 44 New street. The damage was about $2,500, which is fully covered by $6,000 insurance. The building at the time of the breaking out of the fire was in charge of Joseph Cavanagh, engineer, and the still and engine were at work. Reports were circulated that the still would probably explode, and citizens beat a hasty retreat from the fire lines. The fire department worked so promptly that in a few minutes the flames were sufficiently subdued to permit of the entry of the engineer, who took precautions to prevent the explosion.

THE COURTS.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Judge Cardozo.

The High and Low Church Lunacy Case—Interesting Opinion by Judge Cardozo—A Reference Ordered.

In re Caroline C. Allen.—It will be remembered that the full particulars of this case appeared in the HERALD a few days since. The son of the lady, who is an Episcopal minister, seeks to prove his mother insane and to get possession of her property in consequence. Judge Cardozo had delivered the following opinion in the premises:—

To subject the person and property of a lady to the custody and care of others on the ground of her being of unsound mind is always a matter of great delicacy and importance, while it is not possible to be too cautious. I only intend now to say that this case presents some considerations which impress me with the belief that certainly it should form no exception to that general rule, if, indeed, it does not demand unusual circumspection. I have concluded, therefore, upon a very careful examination of the papers, to direct a reference to ascertain the mental condition of Mrs. Allen at the present time, and in view of the gravity of the inquiry and of the peculiar circumstances attributed to the case, I have determined to call to my aid, as referee, Mr. Nathaniel Jarvis, Jr., whose judgment the community generally will respect, and on whose opinion my judicial conscience, for the information and satisfaction of which the reference is ordered, can rest with perfect confidence. The referee will report the evidence, with his opinion; and, should he think it necessary or advisable, the lady must submit to such examination as he may approve, either by himself or such other gentleman as he may select; and he will incorporate in his report the substance of any such interviews and a statement of the effect made upon his mind by them. In the meanwhile an order may be entered staying all proceedings in the lunacy matter, except to prosecute the reference, and upon the coming in of the referee's report I will hear the counsel further upon this application, on two days' notice by either side to the other. As those who institute the proceedings to declare this lady a lunatic, waited, according to their own version, for a period of three years before moving in the matter and it does not appear that there is any especial reason for haste now, no harm can happen by the little delay incident to the reference. While, if the lady be right in her assertions (upon which, of course, I do not mean to intimate any opinion at present), the consummation of a monstrous wrong will be prevented.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Trial of Policeman Matthew Campbell for the Alleged Murder of Maurice Long—One of the Jury Sick—The Trial Adjourned to Monday.

SECOND DAY.

Before Judge Cardozo.

The People vs. Matthew Campbell.—The court room yesterday was crowded to the doors, and standing room even for one more could not by any possibility be obtained. The interest felt by the large crowd of spectators in the proceedings was far more intense than was exhibited on the first day, as might be inferred from the low buzz of conversation which ran through the assemblage for nearly an hour before Judge Cardozo took his seat on the bench. At eleven o'clock the prisoner, who was attired in the summer uniform of the force, was brought into court handcuffed and in the custody of two deputy sheriffs. He is a young man of about twenty-eight years of age, tall and lithe in figure, and on the whole presents rather a quiet demeanor.

The court opened at half-past eleven o'clock and the jurors having answered to their names, except one, who was sick, several other jurors who had been summoned were called and challenged for various sufficient reasons.

Mr. Charles Spencer, associated with Mr. Vanderpoel to defend the prisoner, then expressed his desire to have the case adjourned to a future day.

Mr. Robert Holmes said that if this jury should be absolutely discharged now for the reason that one of their number was sick it might be a question for a court of review, and perhaps that proceeding might be fatal to the case of the people. His suggestion was, therefore, this:—He had looked into this case and carefully examined the facts, and he felt bound to say that his learned and esteemed friend the District Attorney would not say to the court that he deemed this case to be a case of murder, even on the ex parte statements which he had before him. If not a case of murder in the first degree it then became a bailable case. If the District Attorney should make that suggestion by all means let this man be bailed. Let passion cool with the coolness of the weather, and let this man be tried in October. The only question to be decided here was, was this a bailable case; or, in other words, did the District Attorney deem this a case of murder in the first degree? To keep this man in prison during the months of August and September he deemed to be a cruelty.

Judge Cardozo—I don't think any of you gentlemen are advised how long this Oyer and Terminer will sit. It is my intention to sit just as long as the public interests require it.

Mr. Holmes—The withdrawal of a juror, I contend, is a vital objection.

District Attorney Garvin—I do not propose to say anything on the subject except this:—The District Attorney of the city and county of New York represents a million of people. The public business is absolutely enormous. The consequence is that the District Attorney and his assistants are unable to say when a case is brought up for trial precisely what sort of case it will turn out to be. Now, it might turn out on this trial, for ought he knew, that this was one of the boldest cases of murder that ever was committed in the city of New York. He was not going to stand up there before his Honor and the audience now and say that he was satisfied that this was not a case of murder in the first degree and consent that this man be bailed and have his liberty, while, if he had been a common man and not a policeman he (the District Attorney) would refuse to bail him. He held that a public officer, be he district attorney, judge, juror or policeman, should be held up to the law, and if he was guilty of any offence he must be convicted like any other man. He was not prepared to say that this was not a case of murder. Neither was he prepared to say it was a case of murder. Therefore he should let it take the ordinary course. Only a few days ago he tried a man and convicted him for shooting a policeman, and considered that a bold case of murder. In all cases where the police did their duty they should be protected, justified and cared for by the District Attorney. But if they overstepped their line of duty, and that this turned out to be such a case, the prisoner must take the consequence the same as any common individual. He would consent that the case stand over until Monday morning, when an additional juror could be obtained. If that was not satisfactory, he was ready to let it stand over until August; or he was ready to dissolve the jury now empanelled and get a new one.

Judge Cardozo said he would adjourn the case to half-past eleven o clock on Monday morning, and discharged the eleven empanelled jurors until then, with the usual caution.

The name of the juror who pleaded sickness is William J. Mathes.

KILLED BY FALLING DOWN STAIRS.—Coroner Flynn was yesterday called to 307 East Twenty-fourth street, to hold an inquest over the remains of Mrs. Ellen McGrath, an Irishwoman, seventy years of age, whose death was the result of injuries received by falling down a flight of stairs on the 9th inst.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE.—A boy four years of age, son of Mr. E. Coleman, of No. 249 West Thirty-ninth street, on Tuesday last fell from the third story window to the pavement, and, strange to relate, was not killed. When picked up the little fellow was insensible, but in a short time, by medical attendance, the boy was restored to consciousness. However, on examination the child's skull was found fractured in two places. He is about again, and the opinion of the physician is that he will surely recover.

FATALLY KICKED BY HIS HORSE.—Yesterday afternoon information reached the Coroner's office that Frederick Histe, a German, twenty-eight years of age, had been found dead in his wagon, under circumstances which induced the belief that he had been kicked to death by his horse. The affair occurred in the upper part of the city, but where, or the circumstances connected with it, did not transpire. The body of deceased was conveyed to the Thirty-first precinct station house, where Coroner Schirmer will hold an inquest. The residence of deceased was not ascertained.

BURGLARY IN STANTON STREET.—Some time during Wednesday night the barber shop of Solomon Goldmann, No. 172 Stanton street, received the attention of burglars. They effected an entrance by forcing the lock of the door, and on entering broke open the money drawer, where a considerable sum of money was found. The thieves also carried away a large number of towels, razors, shears, &c., belonging to the poor barber, whose total loss is about $250. The robbery was yesterday reported at the Eleventh precinct station house, and a detective detailed by Captain Dixon to hunt up the thief and property.

THE ST. BRIDGET'S TEMPERANCE PICNIC.—Rev. Father Mooney, pastor of St. Bridget's church, makes the following statement relative to the picnic of the St. Bridget's Temperance Society, held on Wednesday:—In the HERALD of Thursday morning it is stated that I did not disapprove of St. Bridget's temperance picnic nor caution my parishioners from going there. Will you please do me the justice in stating in your paper that I did disapprove of said picnic, and on last Sunday spoke at the four masses to that effect, both in the name of the Most Rev. Archbishop McCloskey and in my own name? And, notwithstanding the reported success of said picnic, I can assure you that my congregation complied with my advice.

COMMISSIONERS OF PUBLIC CHARITIES AND CORRECTION.—The regular meeting of the Commissioners was held yesterday, President Bowen in the chair, and several important matters were considered. It appeared from the reports made by the officers that the supply of Croton water is very scant in some of the institutions, particularly in the Almshouse, Penitentiary, Charity Hospital and the Lunatic Asylum. The late important regulations establishing a system of medical attendance for the outdoor poor will be speedily perfected. It was resolved to fix the salaries of the district physicians at $500 and to appoint Drs. Austin Flint, Isaac E. Taylor, Stephen Smith, Alonzo Clark, Alfred L. Loomis and Henry D. Noyes a committee to examine candidates for such positions. The contract for painting the schoolship Mercury was awarded to S. S. Lockwood at $635. The lower floor of the Plimpton Building was leased for the Labor Bureau at $3,000 per year. It was ordered that permission be requested of the Central Park Commissioners to allow ambulances to pass through the Park. The secretary reported that he had received $2,677 22 since the last meeting.

DEATH FROM INJURIES—AN AGED MAN FALLS AND FRACTURES HIS LEG.—Yesterday morning Warden Brennan, of Bellevue Hospital, informed Coroner Flynn that Henry Kelly, a native of Ireland, sixty-seven years of age, had died in that institution. The warden states that deceased had been brought in by ambulance from the Nineteenth precinct station house, where he was taken after being injured. In the warden's note it was further stated that on the 22d of June deceased was at the store of his son, Daniel Kelly, Forty-seventh street, between First and Second avenues, when they had some words which resulted in the ejection of the father. The latter fell on the walk, and received a compound fracture of the left leg and a severe shock to the system. These injuries proved fatal. After the above information was received the son of deceased called at the Coroner's office and stated that his father was a man of intemperate habits, and most emphatically denied having used force to put him out of the store, and says that the latter fell when no one was near him. Coroner Flynn will hold an inquest on the body.

SUPERANNUATED POLICEMEN.—The following policemen, against whom charges have been made on the score of incapacity, resulting from disease or old age, were placed on trial yesterday afternoon before the Board of Police Commissioners. They have lost the following amount of time since July 1, 1868:—Sergeant Thomas Wright, of the Forty-fourth (Brooklyn) precinct, 133½ days; patrolmen Michael Haggerty, of the Fifth precinct, 75½ days; Hugh McElavy, Tenth precinct, 320½ days; John C. Lorigan, Seventeenth precinct, 13 days; Patrick Kelly, Twentieth precinct, 240½ days; Peter Rice, Twenty-sixth precinct (injured from injuries during the riots), has lost no time; John B. Davis, Twenty-ninth precinct, 336 days; Henry Goischard, Forty-fifth precinct, 4 days; John H. Arnoux, First District Police Court, 53 days; David Roach, detective squad, 382 days. The reports on each of these men will be referred to the full Board of Police Commissioners.

Charles Gardner, of the Twenty-sixth precinct, also has been growing blind for a long time past, until now he is incapacitated from doing duty, and has resigned, his resignation to date from August 1. It is more than likely that all of the above will be placed on the retired list with a pension of $300 each a year.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

ASSAULT WITH A KNIFE.—Daniel Murray, a fierce-looking rough, was brought before Justice Dodge yesterday morning, charged by Mathew Rohen, of No. 106 Prince street, with stabbing him in the neck and face with a knife, on Wednesday, by which he was severely injured.

SHOPLIFTERS.—Sarah Thompson and Annie Jones, two shoplifters, were arrested yesterday afternoon by officer Daniels, of the Eighth precinct, on the complaint of Eliezer W. Frank, of the firm of Frank & Keister, 38 Walker street, who detected them in endeavoring to conceal and carry away from the store a quantity of pocket handkerchiefs valued at $8 25. They were brought before Justice Dodge, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, who committed them to answer at the Special Sessions.

CHARGED WITH BIGAMY.—A middle aged German, named Frederick Bauman, was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Coulter, at the Yorkville Police Court, on a charge of bigamy. The first wife, whose maiden name was Christina Neeheimer, testified that she was married to Bauman some years ago, and that four years ago her husband left her. She is the mother of four children by Bauman, and has had to work to support them since he left her. Bauman has since married another woman, and was locked up to give time for the second wife to appear against him.

STOLEN PROPERTY RECOVERED.—Officer Wilson, of the Twentieth precinct, discovered Margaret Mooney, at the corner of Twenty-seventh street and Ninth avenue, yesterday morning, having in her possession a gold watch and chain, valued at $250, which she was endeavoring to dispose of for forty dollars. He caused her arrest, and upon being arraigned before Justice Dodge in the afternoon she was committed to enable the officer to find an owner for the property. The watch is an excellent one, and on the chain attached to it is a silver coin with a private mark.

CURIOUS CHARGE OF ABANDONMENT.—Among the most frequent complaints at the police courts are charges of abandonment. Among those made yesterday before Judge Dowling at the Tombs was one based on rather unusual grounds. Mrs. Margaret Harris, of No. 92 James street, charged her husband with abandoning her. It turned out on investigation that she is not pleased with the home furnished her by her husband and wants to go into the country, and took this method to compel him to furnish security for payment of her board bill during her absence. The Judge gave a very impressive disquisition on the subject of marital duties and then dismissed the complaint.

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES.—A young man called C. A. Metz, but who also has a large number of aliases, was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Coulter, at Yorkville Police Court, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences. Mr. Pfinger, of No. 1,110 Second avenue, testified that Metz called upon him to collect the money for some ale delivered to him from the house of Mr. Gottsberger, of No. 52 New Bowery. Mr. Pfinger had a suspicion that Metz was not all right and paid him a portion of the money, and shortly after was called upon by the authorized agent of Mr. Gottsberger, who entirely ignored the man Metz. On this ground Mr. Pfinger accuses the prisoner of obtaining the money under false pretenses. Metz was locked up for examination.

THE WOUNDED POLICEMAN.

The Assault on Officer Higgins—His Statement.

Officer Patrick Higgins, of the Sixteenth precinct, who was so murderously assaulted in Sixteenth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, on the morning of the 11th instant by several desperadoes, is now out of danger and able to be about his room. On Wednesday evening Coroner Flynn called at the officer's residence, 238 West Nineteenth street, and took his statement, which is the same in substance as was printed in the HERALD the day following the occurrence. The men charged with making so unjustifiable an assault on the officer who has since been confined to his bed and room are Hugh Campbell, Owen Lafferty, Simon Fitzsimmons, Edward Lannon and John Meines.

The medical testimony showed that the officer had received thirteen scalp wounds, some of which were of a serious nature. The wounds are now mostly healed, and there appears to be no immediate danger from the injuries he has received. Such is the opinion of Dr. Shine.

A verdict against the above named prisoners was rendered by the jury, and the Coroner released them on giving $1,000 bail each for their future appearance.

Among the jurors summoned to serve in the case was Mr. Morris Roberts, a merchant doing business at No. 183 Eighth avenue. When officer Glck called upon Mr. Roberts he became unduly excited, refused to go, and procuring a pistol made some threats against the officer if he did not at once leave the place. The Coroner subsequently ordered the arrest of the refractory gentleman, who was detained to await an examination.

SMALLPOX IN THE BAY.

Twenty-Nine Cases on One Vessel—The Malady of a Virulent Character—The Sick Removed to Blackwell's Island—Precautions Against the Spread of the Contagion.

The emigrant ship Admiral, Captain Hesloop, arrived this morning at the lower quarantine with twenty-nine cases of smallpox on board. The Admiral left Bremen on the 5th of June, with 298 steerage passengers, and on the fifth day out the first case of smallpox occurred. Every precaution that could be taken under the circumstances was observed to prevent the spread of the malady, but without success, and for forty days the passengers were exposed to the ravages of the disease, which daily assumed a more threatening aspect. One patient died at sea and was hastily consigned to the ocean, and when the vessel reached New York one-tenth of her passengers were prostrated with the malady.

Immediately upon the arrival of the Admiral at the lower quarantine the sick were removed to the Smallpox Hospital at Blackwell's Island. Most of the cases are children, and all are of the most malignant type. The other passengers are detained on board the vessel, and every measure necessary to check the further appearance of the disease, such as vaccination of all on board and fumigation of the vessel, has been adopted.

The Admiral has hitherto had the reputation of being a very healthy ship, this being the first instance of her bringing contagion into port.

The ship Cynosure, Captain Teevers, with forty-one passengers, also arrived this morning, forty-three days from Liverpool, all well on board. No new cases of cholera or yellow fever are reported at quarantine, although, several steamers and sailing vessels have arrived, within a day or two from the West Indies and Brazil. The Saratoga which brought the yellow fever from Havana, and which lost a number of her officers from the epidemic, still lies at her anchorage, in the Lower bay, with a few men on board to take care of her. She will remain at her present station until cold weather, experience having taught that the ordinary disinfectants are not always sufficient to purify a vessel from the contagion. Of twenty-five deaths on board the Saratoga, in addition to Surgeon Quinn, who died at Havana, the following were officers:—Lieutenant Commander William A. Van Vleck, died June 29; Lieutenant George A. Flagg, June 20; Lieutenant Herman C. Roebel, June 25; Master's mate Samuel G. Blodgett, June 23; Captain's clerk William E. McMullen, June 22, and carpenter Hiram L. Dixon, June 26.

The appearance of yellow fever and smallpox in our bay, and the terrible ravages of yellow fever and cholera in the West Indies, from which vessels are daily arriving at this port, impressively warn our citizens against carelessness in sanitary measures during the approaching hot season. The filthy condition of our streets, manifested in the most offensive manner to sight and smell, and the immense quantities of unripe, cholera-breeding fruit with which the city is gorged, demand the immediate and thorough attention of our Health officers; but judging from the neglect of duty manifested by city officials whose business it is to avert epidemics from the community, there seems but little hope of our escaping any or all of the fearful pestilences threatening us, except in the careful observance by individuals of the laws of health. Every family should see that its place of residence and the gutters adjacent to it are kept thoroughly clean, and the green apples, peaches and other deadly fruits for sale at the street corners should be avoided as poisonous things. Unless such precautions are taken the cholera may be upon us suddenly and with as great violence as in the terrible years of pestilence from which New York and her sister cities have previously suffered.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

An Alleged Brooklyn Nuisance—Children Sicken and Strong Men Vomit—The Public Denounce It—A Health Official Loves It.

In the proceedings of the Board of Health from time to time action has occurred upon the acetic manufactory of Sprague & Close, corner of Flushing and Carlton avenues, Brooklyn.

The subject was first brought to the attention of the Board by a report from Dr. H. C. Stiles, Assistant Sanitary Superintendent, in which he eloquently portrayed the danger to life from the sickening chemical fumes that were thrown into the air by the establishment, which was run without a permit from the Board.

The Board, on his report, issued an order for its discontinuance, and the firm came in for a hearing before the referee. The evidence that was for and against the firm was submitted to the Board, the chief complainants being Colonel Broome and officers of the United States marines, whose barracks are near by. The Board heard argument by defendants' counsel and District Attorney Morris on last Wednesday week, and gave the firm a week's grace to enable them to improve upon their mode of manufacture, instructing Dr. Stiles, in the meantime, to watch the place, and report whether the same continued to be offensive, and whether a permit ought to be issued.

So much for the action of the Board last week. During the week the smell, it is alleged, became so insufferable that Mr. Morris, at the request of citizens, caused the proprietors to be arrested by the police for committing a nuisance, and it was temporarily abated.

On Wednesday last, at a meeting of the Board of Health, the matter again came up, when Mr. Spencer and his clients and District Attorney Morris were in attendance. The clerk presented the following report from Dr. Stiles—the same Dr. Stiles, be it remembered, who originally reported against the alleged nuisance and supported his report by an eloquent appeal for its abatement:—

OFFICE ASSISTANT SANITARY SUPERINTENDENT,
BROOKLYN, July 20, 1869.

EMERSON CLARK, Secretary Metropolitan Board of Health:—

SIR—The Board's resolution of Wednesday last, required the Assistant Sanitary Superintendent for Brooklyn to report concerning the acetic acid factory at the corner of Flushing and Carleton avenues, in this city—first, whether the same continues to be offensive, and, second, whether a permit ought to be issued.

The former of these questions is not difficult to answer. The abundant streams of acid fumes formerly complained of have not existed during the past week, and with the present apparatus, as modified by the Board's order, need not exist. But this so-called factory consists of rough buildings of boards, or closed sheds rather, through the cracks and holes of which all the gases and odors generated within are readily diffused through the neighborhood, which is constantly pervaded with the odor of the acid to such an extent as to be disagreeable to most persons. In a word, the said factory is made up of pestilent little shanties, disagreeable to both sight and smell, and incompatible with the comfort and prosperity of the neighborhood.

The question whether a permit ought to be granted or not is more difficult to decide and can most readily be valued by considering the effect of granting the permit in contrast with that of the immediate suppression of the nuisance. If the manufacture were summarily suppressed great loss and hardship would be sustained by the estimable gentlemen who have it in charge; loss of time, of contracts in rent, of material, of trade.

If the manufacture be not interfered with at once the senses of the immediate neighbors will still be, as they have been for nearly two years, and during the prevalence of south winds mainly, offended, and sometimes seriously so; but whatever sickness might ensue would be but slight and temporary.

By immediate suppression, therefore, the hardship sustained would be altogether out of proportion to the benefit conferred for any short period of time. I would, therefore, recommend that a permit be granted for the remainder of the year only, or until the expiration of the present lease of the premises, which terminates in May next, and that the parties be required to conduct the manufacture in the meanwhile in such a manner as not to give needless offence.

Yours respectfully,
H. C. STILES,
Assistant Sanitary Superintendent.

This report caused quite a stir in the Board, and in a discussion Mr. Morris declared he could bring fifty witnesses, if necessary, to prove that during the period covered by the above report of Dr. Stiles the smell had been worse than ever. The matter was recommitted to the referee, who yesterday took further evidence, Mr. Hastings and Mr. Morris appearing for the prosecution. The defendants and their counsel were not present.

Colonel Broome testified that on certain days last week and this the smell was worse than before; that only yesterday morning he conversed with the chemist of the works, who admitted the factory was a nuisance; that the firm proposed to move and that all the witness had testified was true.

Lieutenant Saltmeister had made investigations and found that these disgusting smells came from the factory: on Sunday morning last the smell was unusually sickening and offensive.

Captain W. J. Squires testified that on Sunday morning he saw the place in full blast, and corroborated the other witnesses that the stench was as bad, if not worse, than before.

Robert Lewis, patrolman of the Forty-fourth precinct, had frequently noticed fumes like smoke issuing from the factory, that he could smell for three blocks; it was very sickening, especially so on last Saturday and Sunday, from half-past one to three o'clock A. M.

Thomas Pfeifer, of No. 15 Carlton avenue, had often complained of the nuisance; had been compelled to close his windows to enable him to take his meals. It was especially bad on Saturday, Sunday afternoon and night. One day last week, while passing and the doors were open, the fumes came out like smoke, set him vomiting and he went home very ill.

Charles Mortimer, apothecary, testified that he lives at No. 13 Carlton avenue; the smell on Sunday morning was worse than ever.

Ellen McShane, of No. 11 Carlton avenue, swore that the smell last Sunday made her sick all day; had smelled it last night and this morning; it was insufferable, and all the neighbors complained.

Mrs. Mary Hoye, No. 15 Carlton avenue, stated that the odors made her children vomit fearfully and herself as well. Mrs. Mary Smith of the same number; Mrs. Kiernan, of No. 13; M. M. Kerr, of No. 14 Adelphi street, and officer W. A. Perrin, on the post where the factory is located, bore testimony as to the sickening and repulsive character of the smells, which made most children vomit and destroyed the appetite.

District Attorney Morris, at the conclusion of the hearing, stated that if the Board did not abate the nuisance he would do it more summarily with the aid of the Metropolitan police, and he stated to the attorney for the Board that if they had any other refractory nuisances in Brooklyn that the Board could not abate to appeal to him. The offal boat of Van Brunt was called to his attention.

The New York Rendering Company.

Among the other nuisances that the Board of Health seem to fear to face is the New York Rendering Company, foot of West Thirty-eighth street, which has been recommitted to referee for further evidence. The hearing has been set for Monday, at ten o'clock, at the Central Police Office, when all who are prepared to testify under oath to the character of the nuisance committed will have an opportunity of being heard.

MELANCHOLY DROWNING CASUALTY.

A Man Pushed Overboard.

Some weeks ago Julius Feilheimer, a young German who lived in Chicago, came to this city to visit his parents and other relatives, living at No. 231 East Sixtieth street. On Sunday last young Feilheimer, accompanied by some friends, went to the foot of Sixty-sixth street, East river, to bathe, in a private bathing establishment at that place kept by Messrs. Brown & Wemckens. After the necessary preparations the young man went in one of the basins where the water was shallow, and after remaining there for a time came out on the platform near where a spring-board had been placed. While standing there in his bathing dress, with his face to the water, a young stranger who had been bathing came from the water and, stepping up behind Feilheimer, gave him a violent push out and he fell into the water, which is sixty feet deep at that place. Feilheimer, who was unable to swim but little, if any at all, twice rose to the surface, and then, sinking to the bottom of the river, was drowned. The young man who pushed deceased overboard, on seeing the result of his act, jumped into the water, swam away and disappeared. His name and residence are unknown and the friends of deceased have not yet been able to find him. Search was made for the body of the deceased man and yesterday it was found floating off the foot of Twenty-second street, East river. Coroner Flynn commenced an investigation in the case and after examining Simon Seeligmann, of 108 East Eighty-fifth street, uncle of deceased, who was with him at the time of the occurrence, adjourned the further hearing until to-morrow (Saturday) morning. Two bathing masters, in attendance at the bath where Mr. Feilheimer was drowned, and also a young man, have been summoned as witnesses. The captain of the Nineteenth precinct has also been requested to make efforts to secure the young man whose presence is so much desired. It is not believed that in pushing deceased overboard he had any intention of taking his life, as they were entire strangers and had had no difficulty.

THE MYSTERIOUS WOUNDING OF AN ITALIAN.

Partial Solution of the Mystery—An Explanatory Letter.

The mystery surrounding the case of Dominick Viety, the Italian minstrel, now lying at No. 70 Thompson street, in the rear, who was brought to this city several days ago with a compound fracture of the skull, was yesterday partially dispelled by the receipt of a letter by Coroner Flynn, of which the following is a copy:—

JUNCTION, July 20.

CORONER FLYNN:—

DEAR SIR—I see in to-day's HERALD were you have two Italians arrested on suspicion of having inflicted a serious wound across the forehead of a certain man whose name has now escaped my memory. Your description in the HERALD answers to a man who was brought to my office last Saturday night by two of the men of this place and two Italians to have a man's head dressed, who had received an injury on the Central Railroad of New Jersey by a coal train, near Hampton Junction, the man was perfectly unconscious, which made it somewhat difficult to dress the wound; I found it a compound fracture of the frontal bone; I dressed it and told them it would most likely terminate fatally; the two men that accompanied him seemed to be very much hurt about it; it is the opinion, as far as I can learn, that they intended getting on a coal train to go to New York, so as to avoid the fare.

Respectfully yours,
D. P. G. CROWLEY.

Within the last day or two Viety has been partially restored to his senses, and some of his friends say that he does not charge the prisoners, with whom he was travelling, with assaulting him.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

A BODY FOUND.—The body of a child about a month old was found floating in the bay at the foot of Fifteenth street. It was supposed to have been thrown in the water while alive.

ROBBERY.—During the temporary absence of Mr. William Wright from his milk depot, at the corner of Johnson and Carll streets, yesterday afternoon, three boys entered the place and robbed the money drawer of twenty dollars. The young thieves succeeded in making their escape.

EXCURSION OF FIREMEN.—Ridgewood Hose Company, No. 7, of Greenpoint, will make an excursion to Paterson, N. J., on Monday next, and will return the same evening. The members of this company are favorably known in Paterson and will receive an ovation from the firemen of that city.

DROWNING CASUALTY.—Mr. Charles Cornell, twenty-five years of age, was accidentally drowned in the East river, foot of Quay street, Greenpoint, on Wednesday evening. His body was recovered yesterday. Mr. Cornell was an iron moulder by occupation. He met his death while bathing, the tide being strong at the time and he being weak after a hard day's work.

THE ALLEGED DEFAULTING PAYMASTER'S CLERK.—R. D. Bogart, the paymaster's clerk on board the receiving ship Vermont, who decamped last December with $30,000 of Uncle Sam's money, as it is said, and was arrested a few weeks ago in Texas, where he was running a shoe store, arrived in Brooklyn on Wednesday night on board the steamship Tillie from Galveston. He was taken in custody of a deputy marshal and consigned to quarters where he will be likely to be found when the indictment against him shall be called up for trial.

ANOTHER RAILROAD INJUNCTION.—The Brooklyn and Newtown Railroad Company, acting under an act of the last Legislature, authorizing the removal of one of their tracks from Debevoise street and the laying of another in Gold from Willoughby and DeKalb avenues, commenced the work of putting down this track Wednesday afternoon. An injunction granted by Judge Gilbert was served upon the company and operations ceased. The ground of the application for the injunction was that under the recent decision of the Court of Appeals no railroad company has a right to lay a track in a street without compensation to the owners.

FIRE IN WILLIAMSBURG—LOSS $25,000.—At ten minutes past twelve o'clock yesterday morning a fire occurred in the large four story brick building corner of Ainslie street and Union avenue, Williamsburg, occupied by three manufacturing firms, and a loss of $25,000 resulted on stock and machinery; but the building was saved by the firemen. The building was owned by Mr. William Cabble, who occupied the first and third stories as a wire factory; his loss is $4,000; insured in various companies. The second story was occupied by the Eagle Pencil Company; their estimated loss is $12,000; fully insured. The fourth story was occupied as a hoop skirt factory by O. H. Barnard; his loss will reach $7,000; insured for $2,500 in various companies. The origin of the fire is not known. It took place in the third story.

ALLEGED ATTEMPTED SUICIDE BY A LADY.—Mrs. George Broach, wife of the son of Mr. John Broach, cashier of the Williamsburg Savings Bank, entered Smith's drug store, at the junction of Fulton and Washington streets, and, after having procured a phial of laudanum requested the clerk to put a little arsenic in it, as she wished it for a particular purpose. She did not have the appearance of a person who contemplated self-destruction, being very respectably attired and carrying a fancy little parasol in her hand, yet the clerk suspected this was her object. He desired her to hand him the phial so that he might mix it; but this she refused to do. Detective Frost stepped in the store just at this time, and being informed of the circumstance and knowing that she had previously had some trouble with her husband took her in charge, and probably thereby saved her life. It is believed that she had already taken some of the laudanum, from the fact that she subsequently grew rather stupid. She is about twenty-five years of age, and previous to her marriage resided in the West. A few days since she appeared at the Police court and obtained a warrant for the arrest of her husband on the charge of abandonment, but the officer in whose hands the warrant was placed has been unable to discover the whereabouts of the accused.

CLAMBAKE AT ROCKAWAY BEACH.

The little steamer R. L. Mabey, Captain Phillips, left pier No. 4 yesterday morning with a numerous pleasure-seeking party of excursionists for Rockaway beach. Nearly all disembarked at the Seaside House, a handsome marine hotel, which extended through its proprietor, Mr. A. D. Failing, quite a number of invitations to an old fashioned clambake. Prior to the hour appointed for the bivalvular feed, the guests strolled through the grounds around the hotel, or gambolled in the foamy, rolling surf which nowhere else tumbles in upon the sandy strip of beach in such magnificent abundance. The ladies of the party, many of whom were as beautiful as they were cheerful and light-hearted, took to the water with all the accustomed grace and glee of naiads or sea nymphs. The weather was remarkably well adapted, not alone for the bathing, but the bake as well. The latter, however, was the great and eager anticipation of the visitors, as to many of them the novelty of clams cooked upon boulders and covered with a steaming blanket of marine vegetation was a novelty of a very delightful character. Early in the afternoon a lively rataplan upon the immemorial gong announced that the feast of shellfish, &c., awaited the incisive appetites of the guests. The keen sea breeze gave additional zest to the feast, which was, altogether, a very relishable and successful entertainment. This over, the party dispersed in various directions and made merry in arbor and flowering garden plot, or down by the beach listened with sentimental ear to what the rippling waves murmured to the breeze. As a watering place it was generally conceded that Rockaway beach, after all, possesses attractions which neither Newport nor Long Branch can surpass.

THE COLORADO EXPEDITION.

COLORADO RIVER EXPLORING EXPEDITION,
CAMP IN RED CAÑON, GREEN RIVER,
July 3, 1869.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHICAGO EVENING JOURNAL:—

The object of the expedition of which I am a member is well known to the readers of your paper, and anything in regard to it is unnecessary at this time. Our boats having arrived at Green River City, on the Union Pacific Railroad, were launched on the 24th of May and loaded with the freight, consisting of the instruments necessary for the scientific work of the expedition and provisions, chiefly flour, bacon, coffee and sugar, with such other creature comforts as the nature of the voyage and the capacity of the boats would allow.

We were thoroughly tired of our sojourn at Green River City, which is situated in a desolate region, surrounded by sandy, barren bluffs, and at one o'clock in the afternoon of the 24th we rowed into the stream and were soon out of sight of the town. Dropping down the river ten or twelve miles we landed and camped in a cottonwood grove, well satisfied with the trial trip of our little fleet of four small boats, which were built with all the "logic" displayed in the construction of the "wonderful one-hoss shay."

Continuing on our voyage the next morning, we made a distance of seventy miles during the 25th and 26th, and on the 27th passed the mouth of Henry's Fork—a small stream flowing into Green river from the west—when the vertical walls of "Flaming Gorge," the entrance to the upper cañon of the Green, came in view, but a few miles distant. As we entered the narrow cañon the walls of brilliant red sandstone, rising to a height of 1,200 feet, looked threatening and ominous. The low, narrow banks between the river and the walls were covered with cottonwood and box elder.

We remained at this place during the 28th and 29th, engaged in measuring the height of the walls of the cañon, collecting fossils, mending broken instruments, &c., and resumed our voyage again on the 30th. Through this cañon the river has cut a narrow channel a distance of fifty miles, with often just sufficient room for the water to flow between the walls, leaving no bank of dirt or rock on either side. Sometimes, at irregular intervals, are low, narrow banks of sandy soil, dotted with small groves of cottonwood trees, with an undergrowth of box elder. Wild grapevines trail on the ground or festoon the undergrowth of the groves. Flocks of wild geese paddle in the shoal water along the banks or hurry across the rapid current in front of our boats as we pass. The stream is comparatively sluggish for some distance from the entrance, and then rapidly increases in speed till it becomes a mountain torrent, with often a succession of rapids and cataracts, when the bed of the river is encumbered with large rocks, that sometimes rise a number of feet above the water.

On the night of the 30th we camped at a bend of the river, which we called Beehive Point, from the appearance of a cliff, on the left side of the river, rounded to the shape of a dome at the top, and covered with cells carved by the action of the water during some past age, to which hundreds of swallows had built their nests of clay. As the swallows flit about the cliff they look like swarms of bees, and the cliff has the appearance of a colossal beehive. Opposite this cliff, and where we camped, is a vast amphitheatre, composed of a succession of terraces, rising to a height of 1,500 feet; each platform or terrace is built of red sandstone, and the space between is a gentle slope clothed in green verdure, and on which a row of pine trees grow in the arc of a circle, and the amphitheatre is painted with alternate bands of green and red. As we near this marvellous work of nature in our little boats, a herd of mountain sheep are seen standing in a line on a terrace 200 or 300 feet above the river; and as they remain motionless, watching our approach, they look like statues exquisitely chiselled by some master artist, and we are half surprised to see them suddenly wheel around, like a platoon of well drilled soldiers, and leaping gracefully to a platform above, file again into line and eye us with suspicion as we land our boats. This animal is much larger than the domestic sheep, and is pursued by hunters on account of the fine flavor of his meat; but is less frequently secured than other game because of the ease and rapidity with which he climbs the highest cliffs and most precipitous peaks, of which he is sovereign and sole inheritor.

Continuing our way from this place on the morning of the 31st, it became necessary to proceed with the greatest caution, as the rapids became more and more dangerous; and the most skilful handling of the oars was required to prevent the boats from being hurled by the water against the rocks that strewed the bed of the river and dashed to pieces. Finding now only a succession of rapids, many of which we had to let the boats over with ropes, we proceeded in this manner. The light boat, carrying no freight, and manned by two oarsmen and a pilot, the commander of the expedition, took the lead. The pilot, closely observing the best course to take to avoid the rocks, ran the boat ashore as soon as possible after running the rapids, and then signalled the direction with a red flag to the other boats, which were often half filled by the waves and breakers of the rapids, and if the next rapid was thought to be practicable, we rowed into the stream and the current soon carried us to the next signal station. In this manner twenty-five or thirty miles were made during the 31st of May and the 1st day of June, and on the afternoon of the latter day we came to a direct fall of twelve or fourteen feet. The current is scarcely perceptible for some distance above the falls, and we ran our boats ashore, without danger, within but a few feet of where the water makes a perpendicular descent, and is beaten into foam on the rocks below. On the morning of the 2d we unloaded our boats and let them over the falls by tying a rope to either end of a boat, and then fastening one of the ropes to a rock below the falls held the boat with the other till taken from our hands by the force of the water, but held by the rope below, and by eleven o'clock in the morning the portage was made and we continued down the stream. The velocity of the current now steadily increased till we attained a rate of almost railroad speed. The river, however, was comparatively free from rocks, and we stopped only to bail the water from the boats. And now as we looked down the long vista of the narrow cañon, while we were sliding down an inclined plane, in fact "coasting," the walls seemed to meet where the river turned round a short bend; the water was lost from sight and the earth had opened, we imagined, to gulp us down. The illusion is dispelled as we round the bend of the river, and dashing through a succession of breakers we suddenly debouch into a beautiful valley.

THE GREAT FLOOD IN TEXAS.

Further Particulars—Immense Destruction of Property—Reported Great Loss of Life—Intense Suffering—Call for Relief.

[From the Houston Telegraph, July 15.]

ADDITIONAL IN REGARD TO THE FLOOD AT LA GRANGE.

A letter from Captain L. W. Moore, from La Grange, will be found below, giving particulars of this awful calamity. In another letter a friend writes us that that part of the town in which the negroes had built residences is all gone. The river rose at the rate of five or six feet an hour and so suddenly and unexpectedly as to give little time to save property, and in many instances the sufferers were glad to save their lives. Thirteen houses were seen floating by the town, which had come from above. The crops in the valleys of the river and all its tributaries subject to back water are ruined. Thousands of live stock have been drowned. The old corn kept for bread has been rendered useless by the water. Provisions of all kinds which have been under the water have met the same fate.

Captain Moore gives a true picture of what the poor must suffer.

The poor of all colors in the towns and valleys which have been submerged have lost all, and must suffer unless relieved, and we earnestly call upon the authorities and the public to extend relief with a liberal hand.

LA GRANGE, July 11, 1869.

This note will inform you of the effects of the flood from the Colorado, which overflowed our town on the 9th—day before yesterday. The water was six feet over the public square, and, as you are familiar with the town of La Grange and the entire situation of the streets, houses and residences, I will give you an exact idea of our great and unexpected disaster. All the buildings situated in the valley under the square, where Behren's house is, are gone. So are many on the side of the slope towards the public square. Several buildings also at the lower portion of the town toward the lower ferry.

Among our principal sufferers on the public square are C. Fink, $5,000; A. Alexander, $3,000; Richers, $2,000, and Gus. Willenburg, $2,000.

The waters have now receded from the public square, falling very slowly. The entire valley from Austin has been overflowed and the crops and fences totally destroyed and a great many houses washed away.

Mr. S. McAshan's farm above town, who now lives in your city, is ruined, the fences gone and the whole crop destroyed. This is simply an instance from which you can judge how complete is the destruction to our farming interests in this valley.

No lives were lost in La Grange, but we fear the country will not be so fortunate. Without some relief from the government and all philanthropists, wisely and immediately directed, the laborers and poor of our valley will be reduced at once to suffering and want, and I know of no public journalist so familiar with our people and their great distress nor one more in sympathy with them than yourself, and ask confidently that you direct the attention of the authorities and public to our situation. The planters have invested all their money in this growing crop. Their supplies have been consumed in making it, and to-day they are without bread. What will they do? And how shall these laborers find support for their families at this season of the year?

The Brenham Banner of Tuesday says:—It was reported here yesterday that 200 persons at Bastrop had perished in the waters. That, however, is unfounded. A citizen of this place was in that town last Thursday. The water was then over most of the town, but the citizens had all escaped to the hills.

COLUMBUS, July 12, 1869.

The Colorado river is higher than ever before known: the water rose forty-seven feet eight inches. Colorado valley is entirely overflowed. The damage to this county will probably reach $1,000,000. The railroad is damaged to the amount of $150,000. The river is three miles wide; about 100 acres of the town are out of water; in some portions the water is fifteen feet deep. Quite a number of persons were drowned below here; names not known. The river is falling slowly.

RICHMOND, July 12, 1869.

Alleyton is six feet under water. The Columbus bridge is still safe. The water at Columbus is falling. Trains cannot go West beyond Eagle Lake. The road is badly damaged between Eagle Lake and Alleyton. The Brazos is rising eighteen inches in twenty-four hours.

A BLOODY CHAPTER OF HORRIBLES.

Several Murders and Suicides in a Single Day in Cincinnati—A Husband Kills His Wife and Drowns Himself—A Young Lover Commits Suicide—One Brother Chops Another Down.

[From Cincinnati papers, July 20.]

SAVAGE ATTEMPT AT MURDER AND SUICIDE OF THE MURDERER.

Again we are called upon to give the details of one of those terrible deeds of blood which occur at intervals in all large cities, in its features forcibly recalling the Cowan butchery of many years ago or the Esbach horror of more recent date. The victims of the present heartrending affair were John Meagher, aged forty, and his wife, Mary Meagher, some ten years younger, both natives of Ireland. About fifteen years since Meagher, who was then an industrious, thrifty young tailor, of sober, temperate habits, married the woman who has become his victim. Three years ago John gave up his trade and commenced driving an express wagon, and from that time the ruin of the family can be dated, as he began drinking to excess. Often, when under the influence of drink, he would whip and otherwise abuse the wife toward whom he had previously only shown the greatest kindness. Recently he had failed entirely to assist in supporting his family, and the wife found that to gain the necessaries of life for herself and four children she must toil herself, and, being a woman of unusual energy, she got work at keeping insurance companies offices on Front street in order, for which she received sufficient remuneration to furnish funds to keep her family comfortable. Such was the passion of the husband for strong drink that he continually forced the wife to give her hard earned money to purchase whiskey. During the past few days he was somewhat changed, and made constant endeavors to get some sort of work to do at a late hour last night calling on Dr. Maley, who had often before rendered him many favors, for a letter to the superintendent at Eden Park, requesting work for him. From Dr. Maley's he went to his home, located in the second story of a three story brick, No. 103 Second street, where he again commenced to violently abuse his wife because she would not give him a dollar to buy whiskey. Finding his abuse of no avail, he retired to bed and was soon followed by his wife, when all became quiet. A little before four o'clock this morning the woman got up and commenced her household work by sprinkling a large lot of clothing that she had washed the night before for some of the neighbors. Soon afterwards the other families living in the house were aroused by hearing Meagher cursing his wife because she still adhered to her determination not to give him funds. At last his abuse became so intolerable that the wife ordered him to leave the house, to which he replied with a fearful oath, "I will fix you," and at the same instant raised an ax—which, unfortunately, happened to be behind the stove—striking her a terrible blow over the head, making a fearful gash, and laying her insensible at his feet. The eldest daughter, seeing that the father was killing her mother, screamed "Murder! murder!" which so excited the infuriated wretch that he missed his aim the second blow, and only made a deep gash in the side of the face and severed the left ear. Hearing footsteps approaching, the would-be murderer dropped the fatal weapon and rushed down stairs, through a covered alley way into the street, out to Race, down Race to Commerce, east on Commerce to Vine and down the latter to the wharf-boat of the Cincinnati and Louisville steamers, from which he leaped into the river and found a watery grave.

An elderly gentleman, named John Duffy, living in the same house, surmising that Meagher intended to commit suicide, followed him, with the vain hope of getting aid, so as to secure him before he could have the chance to put his terrible design into execution. Dr. Maley, the family physician, having been summoned, arrived in a very short time and gave all the assistance in his power, binding up the wounds and administering such other relief as he deemed necessary. A Catholic priest from the Cathedral arrived at quite an early hour and performed the solemn rite of anointing the woman, preparatory to administering "extreme unction."

We happened to be present at the same time as the priest, and freely admit that the sight was one of the most impressive we have ever witnessed. The room is plainly furnished, the wall being decorated with small, cheap engravings, symbolical of the Catholic Church. In the left hand corner as you enter the door is the bed, against the west partition a lounge, on the opposite side the cooking stove and on the floor, immediately under the front windows was the outstretched form of the apparently dying woman, with the priest rubbing the anointing oil on her face and hands, at the same time reading from a prayer book the proper service, and kneeling around were about a dozen persons, all of the same faith, counting the beads on their rosaries, at the same time muttering over their prayers. On the lounge before mentioned was the little babe, about a year and a half old, fast asleep, and around its mouth played a gentle smile, telling too well that little did the innocent thing dream of the irreparable loss that it had just sustained. The other children, three nice looking, interesting girls, Sarah, Eliza and Mary, aged respectively thirteen, nine and five years, stood in the hall, crying as if their hearts would break, and begging the lookers on to "not let their good mamma die." The other families of the house are quiet, respectable people, and seemed to be perfectly awe stricken at the terrible affair to which they were such unwilling witnesses.

At the last account the poor victim exhibited some signs of consciousness.

SUICIDE OF A YOUNG MAN FOR LOVE.

The suicide is Emil Jaworski, a young Pole, twenty-two years of age, who was engaged in the last revolution of his fatherland, and was compelled to flee the country to save his life. He sought an asylum in America, and came, we believe, almost immediately to this city. He was a man of fine education and good personal appearance. Notwithstanding his culture, he has spent the greater part of his time as a barkeeper. This may have been a matter of apparent necessity, as we know since the war it has not been an easy matter for a stranger to get a situation. In this capacity he stood in the confectionery of Mr. A. Descolso, an Italian grocer on Third street, near Elm. While there he fell in love with an Italian girl, a relative of his employer, in whose family she lived. The passion was reciprocated, and an engagement followed. From some cause, however, the engagement was broken. This reverse bore heavily on the young Pole. Ten days ago he left his situation at the Winne House. He was with an acquaintance Monday night and yesterday morning. As late as ten o'clock yesterday he went out to lunch with the same person. At a quarter of eleven o'clock he and his friend separated, the former promising that he would call again last evening or this morning. The friend went to his place of business. The troubled man resumed his walk up Plum street, until he reached Washington Park, which he entered. At fifteen minutes past eleven a pistol shot was heard in the grounds. For a few minutes no one knew whence it proceeded. In a very short time Fred Miller was passing along the graveled walk that leads from the west to the north entrance, when under the shade of a tree he saw the young Pole stretched upon the ground quite dead, with the crimson tide yet ebbing from a bullet hole in the middle of the chest. He at once gave the alarm. Policemen Machle, Waltz and Fries were soon upon the ground, and remained until a coffin was procured and the body removed to Mr. Soard's office, on Sixth street, where an inquest was held late in the day. At first the pistol with which the deed was done could not be found. A search, however, discovered that it had been thrown among the flowers and bushes immediately after its discharge.

In the pocket of the deceased was the following letter in German:—

ONE HOUR BEFORE DEATH.

My name is Emil Jaworski. I have been trying to kill myself for the last two weeks, and regret exceedingly that I was not killed while fighting in the Union army. Let none of my friends who read this mention how I died to my poor mother and sister.

Adieu, dear home.

The verdict of the jury was death from suicide.

ONE BROTHER CHOPS ANOTHER DOWN.

There are two brothers, William and Benjamin Bryan, who live about twelve miles back of Covington. William, the elder, is married and has three or four children. Benjamin is considerably younger, hardly having yet arrived at man's estate. A dispute arose yesterday morning between these two, on a matter of sufficiently small importance. Each wanted to use the wagon, and the dispute soon became very warm. At last the younger seized an axe which happened to be near at hand and struck his brother four blows upon the head, knocking him senseless, and, it is feared, inflicting so serious wounds that life cannot be saved. The aid of a surgeon from this city was called as soon as possible, and all was done that could be done for the sufferer. Our informant told us, however, that it was hardly probable that his life could be saved. The younger brother, he said, had been apprehended and brought to Covington.

PREVENTIVE OF CHOLERA, DIARRHŒA, ETC.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican furnishes the following timely recipe:—A weak lye made from good wood ashes, about as strong as common tea, put in bottles. Drink after each meal about half a wineglassfull of the above water, which I guarantee will be a complete preventive against cholera, cholera morbus or dyspepsia. This can be given to an infant without injury. Whenever the bowels become changed lyewater should be used freely. In the year 1849 I passed up the river on the steamer Robert Campbell, William Eads, captain. Two men died out of the cabin from four o'clock in the afternoon to ten o'clock next morning. I consulted with Captain Eads and advised that he should put wood ashes in the drinking water, so that all the passengers should have to drink from it. He did so. This happened at Wackadaw Prairie, on the Missouri river. He had not another sick or complaining passenger from there to Council Bluffs, and I have conversed with him frequently since, and he told me that he had always adopted that plan, and never had any sickness on his boat during the California emigration. This simple medicine is in the reach of everybody. When made and put in bottles it will last good a year.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, July 22—6 P. M.

The markets in Wall street continue to exhibit even more than their usual summer dulness, noticeable not so much in the falling off in the amount of the dealings, although these are below the average, but in the absence of the excitement so usual about the Stock Exchange, and the general appearance of almost idleness as compared with the rush and confusion of a month ago. To-day did not form an exception to this condition, at least during the morning and early afternoon hours, although a slight awakening occurred after the second call. The market opened steady, with moderate activity, at almost the closing figures of last night, and continued without special features until the first call, fluctuating within an extremely narrow margin. At the first call prices were steady, but succeeding that a slight improvement occurred up to the period of the second call, at which most of the railways were a fraction higher than in the morning, Pacific Mail sympathizing in the advance. The rest of the miscellaneous list, with the expresses, on the contrary, were a shade off. Succeeding this call, however, the market developed a sudden activity, New York Central advancing to 212, and Hudson River to 184½, the balance of the railway list sympathizing in the advance. Reading advanced to 94½ on the report that the rates for carrying coal over the road are to be advanced next week. Michigan Southern likewise exhibited fresh activity, on the statement that the Toledo and Wabash difficulties had been amicably adjusted and all suits withdrawn. It was further stated that the company would only issue $1,000,000 of new stock instead of $4,000,000, the same to be equally divided between the parties at variance represented by Jay Gould and Azariah Boody. Also that the road from Akron to Toledo is to be built in eight months, and one from Decatur to St. Louis. Before the close the market fell off a little on the Vanderbilt shares, closing firm, however, on them, and strong on the rest of the list. The following were the prices on the second call:—Cumberland, 30 a 32; Wells-Fargo Express, 22¾ a 23; American Express, 42½ a 42¾; Adams Express, 60 a 60½; United States Express, 73⅝ a 73¾; Merchants' Union Express, 10½ bid; Quicksilver, 16 a 16½; Mariposa, 6½ bid; do. preferred, 15¾ a 16; Pacific Mail, 83⅜ a 83½; Western Union Telegraph, 36⅛ a 36¼; New York Central, 210⅞ a 211; Hudson River, 183½; Reading, 93⅞ a 93½; Chicago and Alton, 158 a 160; do. preferred, 161; Wabash, 75½; Milwaukee and St. Paul, 76½ a 76⅝; do. preferred, 87; Fort Wayne, 151½ a 154; Illinois Central, 140 bid; Pittsburg, 106½ a 106¾; Rock Island, 113¾ a 114; Northwestern, 79⅞ a 79½; do. preferred, 93⅞ a 94⅛; New Jersey Central, 101⅞ a 102.

The steadiness of the general list was shared by the governments at the opening, prices on the first call exhibiting but slight alteration from the closing figures of last night. At the noon call, upon information of a firm tone in the market on the other side and a stronger feeling in gold here, there was a marked improvement, which was maintained at the last call, the market closing steady. The transactions during the day were light. The following were the closing prices at half-past five o'clock:—United States sixes, 1881, registered, 120¼ a 120⅜; do. do., coupon, 120⅞ a 120⅞; do. five-twenties, registered, 121½ a 121¾; do. do., coupon, 1862, 123½ a 123⅝; do. do., coupon, 1864, 121½ a 121¾; do. do., coupon, 1865, 121⅞ a 121⅞; do. do., coupon, new, 1865, 120⅛ a 120⅜; do. do., coupon, 1867, 120⅛ a 120⅜; do. do., coupon, 1868, 120⅛ a 120⅜; do. ten-forties, registered, 109½ a 109⅞; do. do., coupon, 110⅛ a 110⅜; currency bonds, 107⅞ a 108.

North Carolinas, new, were the features of State bonds to-day, advancing sharply on the second call to 51, in consequence of the receipt of telegraphic advices from North Carolina to the effect that the Supreme Court of that State had declared all bond appropriations authorized to new railroads by the last Legislature unconstitutional. As the bonds which are now a good delivery at the Stock Exchange are not affected thereby, and as this decision excludes a large amount, it was expected would come on the market, the logic of the advance is obvious. After North Carolinas, new Tennessee bonds were most inquired for and strongest. The balance of the list was steady, the market closing firm at the following figures:—Tennessee, ex coupon, 62 a 62½; do., new, 56¾ a 57; Virginia, ex coupon, 57½ a 58; do., new, 60½ a 61; Georgia sixes, 83 a 83½; do., sevens, 91½ a 92; North Carolina, ex coupon, 58 a 59; do., new, 50 a 50½; Missouri sixes, 87½ a 87¾; do., Hannibal and St. Joseph, 90 a 91; Louisiana sixes, 69 a 70; do., Levee sixes, 65 a 65½; do., do., eights, 84 a 86; Alabama eights, 93½ a 94; do., fives, 63 a 65; do., sixes, sterling, 90 a 95; South Carolina sixes, 65 a 67; do., new, 64½ a 65½; do., registered stock, 65 a 67; City Memphis sixes, 49 a 50; do. Atlanta eights, 85 a 87; do. Savannah sevens, 92 a 94; do. New Orleans consols, 70 a 73; do. do. issue railroads, 68 a 69; Mobile Ohio sterling, 65 a 67; do., eights, 57 a 60; Mississippi Central Railroad, first mortgage, 70 a 73; do., second do., 60 a 65; Memphis & Charleston, first, 87 a 90; do., second, 74 a 76; do., stock, 45 a 47; Greenville & Colorado Railroad, guaranteed, 57 a 60.

Gold opened this morning at 135¼, and advanced quickly to ⅜, from which it fell again to ⅛ and ranged during the greater part of the day between these extremes, reaching 135⅜ at five o'clock. The tendency to the higher figure was due in part, besides the heavy shipments of specie, to the parliamentary crisis in England, which is fraught with the gravest danger. A Cabinet crisis there has always been sufficient to produce very severe disturbance in money circles. We may well then look with alarm upon the present attitude of the Lords and Commons as one capable of producing the most afflicting results. The report of the Gold Exchange Bank for to-day furnishes the following items:—Gold cleared, $60,203,000; gold balances, $1,575,377; currency balances, $2,108,844. The disbursements of coin interest were $262,042. The steamer Weser took with her $350,000 in specie, and the Missouri $480,000, making an aggregate of $830,000.

The aggregate amount of proposals submitted to the Sub-Treasurer to-day for the $1,000,000 government gold, advertised to be sold, was $1,975,000. The awards were as follows:—100,000 at 135.30; 200,000 at 135.25½; 200,000 at 135.22½; 200,000 at 135.21½; 150,000 at 135.20½; 50,000 at 135.30; 50,000 at 135.22; 25,000 at 135.26; 25,000 at 135.23.

Foreign exchange is steady, without change in rates. We quote:—Sterling, sixty days, commercial, 109¼ a 109½; bankers', 109⅞ a 110⅛; short sight, 110⅜ a 110½; Paris, sixty days, 5.13¾ a 5.12½; short sight, 5.12½ a 5.10⅝; Antwerp, 5.18¾ a 5.12½; Switzerland, 5.18¾ a 5.12½; Hamburg, 35⅞ a 36; Amsterdam, 40⅛ a 40¼; Frankfort, 40½ a 40⅝; Bremen, 78⅞ a 79¼; Prussian thalers, 70⅞ a 71¼.

The money market worked during the early part of the day similarly to yesterday, the rate on call loans being six per cent on government and seven on stocks. Later, however, owing to the heavy disbursements by the Treasury on account of the bonds purchased yesterday, there was a relaxation from these figures, and transactions are reported at five and six towards the close. Discounts are also easier, the extreme range being eight to twelve per cent, with the bulk of business between these figures.

The Campaign in Pennsylvania.

SERENADE TO ASA PACKER—A SHORT SPEECH.

Asa Packer was serenaded at his hotel in Philadelphia on Wednesday evening last, and in response to a call made the following remarks:—

Gentlemen of the Asa Packer Club and fellow-citizens and democrats—I thank you for this expression of your kindness, and for the honor you have done me in conveying to me in this manner your congratulations. I thank you for having designated me as your standard bearer in the coming campaign. I can hardly give expression to my feelings in acknowledgment of the compliment paid me by the Asa Packer Club and the democratic party, both here and in Harrisburg. It is deserving of my highest gratitude. I hope to be worthy of all the honor you bestow upon me. The efficiency of this club in the work begun and carried on thus far is deserving of great praise, and I trust you will continue the good work to the end of the campaign. I know you will from the earnest manner in which you have entered upon it. I will endeavor on my part to lead you, as you have placed me in the van, to victory. If we fail it shall not be because of any neglect on my part. You will excuse me from making a speech, as it is no part of my vocation. There are those whose calling it is to talk; mine has been to work. (Cheers.) I leave the talking to others, and will myself endeavor to do my share of the work. Thanking you for the kindness and friendship manifested in this greeting, I bid you good night.

The Philadelphia Age of the 22d inst. says:—

Asa Packer and Cyrus L. Pershing were yesterday officially notified of their nomination as the candidates of the democratic party for the offices of Governor and Judge of the Supreme Court. The notification was in the form of a letter signed by Charles R. Buckalew, Lewis C. Cassidy, of this city, and Robert E. Monaghan, of Chester county, and an answer will be returned by the distinguished gentleman in a few days.

Reopening of the Radical War Against General Grant.

Wendell Phillips discourses as follows in the Anti-Slavery Standard of this week, under the head of "Forgotten Promises:"—

General Grant was commended to the country as a man of few words, but sure to mean even more than he said, and to do far more than he would condescend to promise. The few words he had uttered were all carefully gathered up and made the most of. The weighty sentences of the Delphic oracle were never studied with more anxious care than were his rare and brief sayings.

A man who speaks so seldom and with such deliberation may fairly be presumed to weigh all he says, and each sentence so treasured and built on is a pledge, to which the nation may not unreasonably hold him. When he said, in 1866, "I never could have believed that I should favor giving negroes the right to vote, but that seems to me the only solution of our difficulties," men felt assured that on this point he might be trusted, and hence almost expected the countenance which his inaugural gave to the fifteenth amendment. Indeed General Grant may be said to have been elected more on the promises he had incidentally made than on any express contract with the Chicago Convention.

Why, then, is not martial law proclaimed? Is the promise forgotten? He cannot claim that circumstances have changed. Georgia, Texas, Mississippi remain still in the same condition, so far as their relation to the nation is concerned, as they were when General Grant recommended this course to Andrew Johnson. Has life grown any more secure there? We know that every trustworthy witness who gets audience of the President brings him evidence that the same anarchy prevails. Does the great captain eat his own words? Are there any influences in the White House that blind the eyes which saw so clearly while in the camp? We have sometimes wished that some clear-headed and keen-sighted adviser could approach the President. But, after reading this, we know no one who could put the duty in a clearer light than the President himself has placed it two years ago.

Assassination for opinion is as frequent—loyal men flying, or hiding, for safety, while rebels are firing salutes under Confederate flags in Southern capitals! Is it a King Log with a paper sceptre that sits in the White House? We were told that if we made a soldier President we should have a strong government, full of decision; one that could not be bullied. For all we have seen in four months, we might as well have had, in the White House, clumsy James of England, who always fainted at the sight of a sword. Gloomy prophets feared that under Grant we should have a coup d'état, and that he would take possession of the government. Thus far it seems more likely that Beauregard will make a coup d'etat and take possession of Grant.

WENDELL PHILLIPS.

ARGENTINE CONFEDERATION.

Latest from the Seat of War in Paraguay—Further Advance of the Allies—Commercial Intelligence—Railroad Schemes—Petition to Abolish the Export Duties.

BUENOS AYRES, June 14, 1869.

The steamer from Paraguay has just arrived, bringing news of a further advance of the allies. General O'Darreta, at the head of a strong division, is preparing to cross the river Tebicuari and take the important town of Villa Rica. Minister Paranhos leaves this place on Thursday for Paraguay to proceed to carry out the objects of his mission. Three Paraguayans—Ezatguza, Bedoya and Valiente—leave in a few days for Paraguay to inaugurate the provisional government. The cause of Lopez is now considered lost.

From the Montevidean revolution there is nothing fresh here. It is generally supposed that the government and rebel chiefs will come to an understanding.

The market is flat to-day. Money is getting into better demand, and it is believed that the Provincial Bank will raise its rate of interest. Produce is flat, with but few sales and with but few arrivals from the country.

The bill authorizing the Maderos new port scheme is before a committee of the House, and it is supposed that there is a large majority in favor of the measure.

Mr. A. Runnhall, C. E., leaves to-morrow for the South to survey the new line of railway from Chascomus to the south. Some anxiety is felt here at the non-arrival of the steamship Patagonia. The Savoie has been placed in quarantine, owing to yellow fever at Rio Janeiro.

Governor Castro has ordered the new Labos Railway extension to be commenced without further delay.

The new bonds are to be sent to London to be negotiated.

A meeting was held at the Stock Exchange this afternoon to petition Congress to abolish the export duties. The petition was numerously signed.

Exchange on England 49. Discounts eight per cent per annum.

COLLEGE COMMENCEMENTS.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.

Large Graduating Class—The Alumni Dinner—Speech of General Sherman.

HANOVER, N. H., July 22, 1869.

Commencement Day, proper, at Dartmouth College was celebrated to-day, and the exercises have passed off with more than the usual éclat. A large meeting of the alumni was held this morning, at which a resolution was adopted with a view to obtaining $200,000 for the college, of which $25,000 were subscribed on the spot, and the friends of the college are sanguine that the full amount will be readily raised.

The commencement exercises took place in the large tent, which was again crowded to its utmost capacity. The exercises consisted of orations, dissertations and disputations, in which some twenty members of the graduating class took part, and one poem, the whole pleasantly interspersed with music by the Germania band. The class numbered fifty-four—just fifty more than the first class that graduated from the college.

At the close of the literary exercises honorary degrees were conferred as follows:—D. D.—Rev. Edmund O. Hovey, of Wabash College, Indiana; Rev. Daniel Hopkins Emerson, of Philadelphia; Rev. Horace Eaton, of Palmyra. LL. D.—James F. Joy, of Detroit, Mich.; Henry A. Bellows, of New Hampshire; Jonathan E. Sargent, of Massachusetts. A. M.—Rev. John W. Allen, of Northampton, Mass.; Ossian Ray, of Lancaster, N. H.; Josiah H. Benson, Jr., of Lancaster, N. H.; General John Bedell, of Bath, N. H.; John Ward Dean, of Cambridge, Mass.; Dr. William H. Muzzey, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Ryland Fletcher, of Cavendish, Vt.

The alumni then formed in procession and marched to a temporary structure erected on the common, where about 700 sat down to dinner, with invited guests and others, who increased the number to nearly a thousand. A blessing was invoked by Rev. Professor Calvin E. Stone, of Andover, Mass., and then about an hour was spent in making away with the good things at the table, to which a fast of eight hours gave a peculiar zest. At the conclusion of the repast the doxology, was sung, in accordance with a time-honored custom, after which the company repaired again to the tent, where the after dinner speeches were to take place. Judge Chase occupied the chair and called first upon Governor Stearns, whom he said, he trusted the men and women of New Hampshire knew how to love and to honor for his services to New England in connection with her railroad interests. Governor Stearns was greeted with hearty applause and spoke briefly of the importance of extending the advantages of such a literary institution as the college as widely as possible, expressing the opinion that the State should extend to it whatever aid might be necessary to make it effective for the public good. The Governor concluded by proposing the lasting honor and prosperity of Dartmouth College and of all her sons.

The President then said:—Two things within the last few years have astonished the world. The first was when, the country being in danger, a million of citizens became soldiers for its safeguard; the other that when the million of soldiers, the danger being passed, at once became citizens; the last hardly less glorious than the first. Of these citizen soldiers one of the gallant leaders is now here—one who led them to honorable victory in the field, and now contemplates with joyous satisfaction their return to the peaceful walks of life. I call upon General Sherman.

The General was enthusiastically cheered as he rose to respond. He said:—Mr. President, I was in hopes, of course, that anything I had to say would be said in yonder building, where the jingling of glasses and plates might have covered up some of the deficiencies of my words. (Laughter.) But these old gentlemen are cunning ones to have adjourned to this tent, now so beautifully filled with ladies and gentlemen who may fairly expect of me far more than I can give. I almost feel abashed on attempting to speak in the presence of the Chief Justice and the many men of learning here—aye, of the very boys who but a short time since were speaking in language far more appropriate than I could ever hope to utter. I am simply a plain soldier and can say what I have to say in few words, direct to the purpose, and if I had any special subject whatever worthy of this occasion I would endeavor to pursue it; but, for want of a better, I will express the very great pleasure I have experienced to-day and yesterday in seeing not only the intelligence of the young men whose graduation we have come here to witness, but the spirit of kindness and reverence which every one of them, and all, in fact, have manifested towards the aged men who direct its interests and towards the cause of learning. Learning of all kinds is entitled to our veneration, whether it be at Dartmouth, or Yale, or Harvard, at West Point, or in the common schools. Learning is learning; it improves us all, and we never become too old to learn. We learn to-day and we learn to-morrow, and I suppose we shall continue to learn to the very last hour of our lives. We cannot tell; it is for God alone to say on which day we shall make the most progress. I am not, and do not profess to be learned in books, learned in arts or learned in mere words, but in deeds; I profess to having some knowledge of forming men into organizations where their physical power as well as their mental power may produce its full effect. You here have an organization, you here have a system which you may call civil, but it is military. The authority of every one of your professors is defined, and they group you into classes; they group classes into other classes, and even after you leave the institution they have a hold on your affections, which makes you a body with a single soul, which the man who wants you may move to some common purpose. That is exactly like a military organization. We combine men by tens, hundreds, thousands and tens of thousands—all animated by one purpose and guided by one mind, so that they are a concentrated purpose, and will press forward to the accomplishment of any object. If that object be the salvation of a nation, then the cause is glorious, and enlists the feelings and challenges the admiration of all mankind. (Loud applause.) Therefore, in that sense, I, too, profess to be a teacher, simply in the lesser art of organization; simply in the lesser art of combining units into tens and tens into thousands, and directing them in the interests of the government, which commands me to do that which is her pleasure, and is my pleasure, too. (Renewed applause.) It is a common feeling among civilians that soldiers are men of violence. There is nothing further from the truth. I appeal to the history of America, to the history of our own country from Washington to the present moment, to show that the military men of this country have always been subordinate men—subordinate to the law, subordinate to the authorities—never setting up their own judgment in antagonism with that of the nation, but executing its will when that will had found expression in law, with a fidelity beautiful to behold; and so long as I continue to hold power and influence I shall ever direct that power and influence to the end that the military of this country, whether a small force scattered all over the nation, or a vast army of volunteers gathered together for some special purpose, shall sustain the laws of the land and support the authority you may place over me. Therefore I feel the same interest in education that you do. It lessens my task; it lessens the task of every governor; it lessens the task of the Chief Justice. Where throughout the land, in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Florida and Ohio—where schools and colleges are founded, where men are taught what law means, what order means, what civilization means, what refinement means—it is far easier and more pleasing to govern intelligent men than govern rude, unlettered men. The one acts from a high motive and principle, aiding and supporting you in carrying out your purpose without confusion, whereas the other must be driven to it by force. Therefore I have a personal interest in education, and in every intelligent lad I meet I see that which, I hope, will pervade all America, and when it does there will be no need of armies and very little need of courts. (Applause.) Gentlemen, I thank you for the many compliments you have paid me; especially would I thank the young men, who have alluded to me in three or four passages of surpassing compliment. I would also express my thanks to the President and other officers of the college. I wish them one and all a long life. I wish the college may live to the third and fourth and tenth centuries, and I hope it will live as long as there is an America, and that I know will live to the end of time. (Prolonged applause.)

The President then called upon Mr. Job Lyman, of Vermont, graduate of the class of 1804, who, in a few words, expressed the great gratification with which he had listened to the exercises of the day. He said it would give him great pleasure to recount some of the events connected with the college which had come under his own observation and to mention the names of the alumni with which it had been his privilege to be acquainted; but, as his voice was too feeble to be heard he would forbear.

Judge Barrett, in behalf of the committee appointed this morning for the purpose of nominating a committee to take measures to raise $200,000 for the college, reported the following names for that committee:—Ira Perley, of New Hampshire; Dr. Samuel H. Taylor, of Massachusetts; Amos Tuck, of New Hampshire; Charles Reed, of Vermont; Rev. Dr. Quint, of Massachusetts; Hon. James W. Patterson and George W. Burleigh, of New Hampshire. On motion of President Brown, of Hamilton College, New York, the names of the nominating committee were added to the committee, as follows:—James Barrett, Harvey Jewell, and Professor S. C. Bartlett, of Chicago.

Short speeches followed by Harvey Jewell, of Massachusetts; Judge Whittaker, of New Orleans; John Wentworth, of Illinois, who spoke in a humorous strain; Hon. Mr. Sandborn, member of the Canadian Parliament; Professor C. Bartlett, of Chicago; Dr. Taylor, of Andover; Dr. Upham, of Boston, and President Smith.

The following note was received from Rev. Dr. Leonard Bacon, of Yale College:—

> Yale gave to Dartmouth a father and founder; the grandmother sends her salutation to the hundred year granddaughter.

The benediction was pronounced by President Smith, and the exercises terminated.

YALE COLLEGE.

NEW HAVEN, July 22, 1869.

The doings of the alumni were concluded last evening by the meeting of classes. Those which met were the classes of 1819, '29, '39, '44, '49, '54, '59, '63 and '66. They all had suppers for the most part at the hotels, and spent the evening very pleasantly reciting portions of their life history since leaving college, proposing toasts and making responses.

The class of 1866 held its triennial reunion at the New Haven House. The class cup, made of silver and beautifully ornamented, was presented to a son of Mr. C. C. Chatfield, editor of the College Courant, said son being the first male child descendant of one of the class, those being the qualifications necessary to secure the gift. The cup was presented by Mr. ——, Mr. Chatfield responding, and the young hopeful occasionally adding a little of baby lingo, much to the amusement of many present.

In the evening the Phi Beta Kappa Society met in the North church and listened to an oration by Professor Emory Washburn, of the Harvard Law School, upon the subject of the relations of the college to the State. In England the universities, the speaker held, exerted a reforming influence, and in this country the influence of the college was widely felt. In England the college was exclusive; here it was based upon a recognition of the rights of every individual, and every man was given an equal chance. The spirit of the government was infused into the colleges and each helped the other. He spoke of the university system, but thought there was in this country a necessity for such colleges as we had. In conclusion he spoke of the necessity of universal education in a land like ours, where every man is one of the governing class.

After the oration Edward R. Sill, of Ohio, read a poem entitled, "The Clocks of Nostertown; or, the Truth of the Majority." The story of the poem aimed to show the necessity of every man doing his own thinking, and not yielding assent to public opinion when it was wrong. It was a fine production.

In the morning the society met and elected for orator next year Dr. McCosh, of Princeton, N. J., and for poet James K. Lombard, of Bridgeport, Conn., with substitute for orator Prof. Dwight, of Yale College, and for poet Rev. I. N. Tarbox, of Boston. The first third of the class of 1870 were also elected members.

This forenoon the commencement exercises of the graduating class took place at the Centre church, and were attended by a full audience. They were of the usual interest. After the close of the speaking the degrees were conferred. The following named delivered orations:—

Salutatory Oration in Latin, by Gardner Lathrop, Columbia, Mo.

Dissertation, "Robert Burns," by John Cowles Grant, Lockport, Ill.

Dissertation, "German Unity," by Henry Clay Missimer, Pottstown, Pa.

Oration, "Olden Barneveldt," by Charles Theodore Weitzel, New Haven.

Oration, "Dr. Arnold, of Rugby," by Frank Russell Childs, East Hartford.

Dissertation, "The Failure of Protestantism," by Henry Taylor Terry, Hartford.

Oration, "The Eastern Question," by Henry Lear, Doylestown, Pa.

Oration, "Ochlocracy," by Stuart Phelps, Andover, Mass.

Oration, "Free Trade," by Edward Gustin Coy, Sandusky, Ohio.

Oration, "A Plea for Shylocks," by Charles William Bardeen, Fitchburg, Mass.

Oration, "Railroads and the Government," by Henry Clay Bannard, New Haven, Conn.

Oration, "The Fictions of History," by Edward Heaton, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Oration, "The Court of King René," by Henry Augustin Beers, Hartford, Conn.

Philosophical Oration, "Macchiavelli's Art of War," by Bernadotte Perrin, New Britain, Conn.

Philosophical Oration, "The Heresy of Speculation," by Edward Payson Wilder, Kolapoor, India.

Oration, "College Friendships," with the Valedictory Address, by Arthur Shirley, New York city.

The degree of B. A. was conferred upon 112, M. A. upon 32, Ph. B. upon 27, Ph. D. upon 5, C. E. upon 1, LL.B. upon 5 and M. D. upon 2. The degree of D. D. was conferred upon Rev. I. N. Tarbox, of Boston, and Rev. Lavelette Perrin, of New Britain, Conn., and that of LL.D. upon Professor Salisbury, of Yale, and Dr. Taylor, of Canandaigua, N. Y.

After conferring the degrees the alumni sat down to a dinner at Alumni Hall, and pleasantly discussed the viands. In the evening President Woolsey received the graduating class and other graduates at his house. This was the concluding feature of the Commencement.

The evening trains carried away many of the alumni, and a considerable number of the students also left for Worcester, to attend the regatta, so that the town is regaining its wonted quiet.

AQUATIC.

Exciting Race Between James White and R. B. Deely—Deely the Winner.

A single scull three mile race in seventeen feet working boats came off yesterday afternoon on the "Hudson Amateur Association Course," at the Elysian Fields. Some three weeks since the champion badge of the Gulick Club was contested for by a field of five and easily won by Deely in the good time of 23m. 34s. James White, also a member of the Gulicks, was unavoidably kept from competing for the badge, and, with the idea that the "best man" in the club was not evidenced by the result of that race, promptly challenged the winner to row for a prize of $100. Side bets were also made amounting to something like $1,000. A large crowd had assembled to witness the race. The weather was all that could have been desired, and the Hudson has rarely presented so inviting an aspect as that offered yesterday. Time bets were made in consequence, and a hot contest was expected.

After taking a preliminary pull, in which White showed to poor advantage alongside of his more graceful opponent, the boats were called into line for the "event." Barney Biglin and James Watersen were chosen judges for White and Deely respectively, and H. S. Truax referee. George Springstein, the old "boating horse" of the Atalantas, officiated as timekeeper. A wretched start was effected, Deely catching the water at the words "Are you ready?" and White delaying at least a second after the word "Go." In consequence Deely showed a length in advance before twenty yards were gone over, which distance he increased to five lengths 300 yards further up the course. Just before reaching the oil dock White caught a "crab," enabling Deely to widen the gap another length. White, having recovered himself, spurted vigorously, and by the time the coal docks were reached the bow of his boat was on a line with the sculls of Deeley. The latter quickly shook him off, however, and, rowing at his ease, turned the stakeboat two lengths in advance in the good time of 11m. 15s. The race home was entirely one-sided, Deely jogging along at his leisure and not exerting himself in the slightest. White pulled gamely, but to no effect. He was plainly overmatched and could never once head his adversary. Both men rowed a quick stroke, Deely graceful and with real power, White, as usual, stiff and crabbed. As they neared home each simultaneously mended the pace, and the score was crossed at a lively gait. Deely's time was 24m. 34s., White's 24m. 50s. Had the winner been desirous of making time there is no doubt but that he could have reduced these figures a good minute. The official time kept was allowed by the parties to be correct, an admission not often made at the races on this course. Altogether the affair was highly interesting, though the result was almost a foregone conclusion, and the betting was heavily in favor of the winner. After the race White put in a claim of foul, on the ground that Deely had crossed his path without being a boat's length in advance. This the referee disallowed. A match between Deely and Ed. Smith, of the Atalantas, was talked of on the passage home, but it is not likely that it will eventuate.

Celebration of the Decennial Anniversary of the Waverley Boat Club.

Among the amateur rowing organizations of this city and vicinity the Waverley Club has ever held a position in the foremost ranks for skill as oarsmen and gentlemanly deportment, and last night they added to those characteristics that of generous and attentive hosts. The occasion of their appearance as hosts was the celebration of the tenth anniversary of their organization. The natty club house, adjoining the Christopher street ferryhouse was completely transformed, as far as its interior is concerned. The ceiling and walls were hidden beneath flags and ensigns arranged in all manner of fantastic and artistic styles, and where the shells and skiffs and wherries and barges of the club were wont to rest, was spread a table loaded with good things and brilliant with glass and plate. The members of the Waverley, clad in their handsome uniform, were dancing around attending to their guests, who comprised the members of the Alcyone Club of Brooklyn, the Atlantic Club of Hoboken and the officers of the other clubs belonging to the Hudson Amateur Rowing Association. Mr. J. Forthelmer, president of the Waverley Club, occupied the chair, and was assisted by ex-Commodore B. F. Brady as master of ceremonies. When the business of the ferry had been closed for the night the guests and hosts had possession of the ferryhouse as a promenade, and there a little time was whiled away amid the flavor of partagas and the vintage of champagne, and then at word of command all took their seats; manned their knives and forks and struck in. They made a good pull of it, giving fully fifty strokes to the minute, and when the Fort-hammer rapped on the table as a signal that the line had been reached all felt satisfied at the work that had been done. Toasts and sentiment then reigned for a while. "Our Anniversary" was responded to by ex-Commodore Brady in a fitting epic poem. "Our Sister Societies" found a good representative in Mr. Tucker, of the Alcyone Club. "The Amateur Oarsmen of America" were answered for by Mr. Tuttle, of the Atlantic Club, and "The Harvard Crew" was enthusiastically cheered by all present and spoken for by Mr. Shea, of the Gulick Club. A number of other toasts, "The Press," "The Ladies," were given and duly honored. With festivity, song and unalloyed mirth several hours were passed, when the guests were taken in tow by the Waverleys, placed on a tugboat, which was in readiness, and conveyed to their respective headquarters. The Waverleys may be taken as fair specimens of the amateur oarsmen of America, and if the Harvard crew do appropriately represent the associations here, then in the land of monarchs they must be taken as types of natural princes.

THE HOBOKEN MURDER.

The Inquest Resumed Before Coroner White—The Case Still Shrouded in Mystery—A New Yorker "Wanted"—Robery and Murder—A Double Revenge.

The inquest on the body of William Lawrence, who was murdered at Hoboken last Thursday night, was resumed last evening before Coroner White.

Officer Thomas Burke deposed that he arrested Douglass, Persons and McCullough. Very few material points were elicited from his testimony. Nattas, the prisoner, after being arrested was detailing the conversation and incidents at Jesse Wood's saloon, especially the conversation between Lawrence and Douglass concerning the girl Hugg; Nattas remarked that "the dirty sucker won't make much by it;" there is no policeman left on duty at the ferry all night, but two officers are detailed to make a certain round, each arriving at the ferry every half hour; officers Carroll and Murphy were on duty that night (Thursday); examined the body of deceased; cannot say how the wounds were inflicted; the bottom at the place where deceased was found is quite soft; one can see the mud at low water.

William P. Havens sworn—I live at 313 Willow street; am in the employment of the Hoboken Ferry Company; knew William Lawrence; found his body in the water on Saturday morning.

Officer John Murphy deposed that he was on duty last Thursday night on First and Second streets; knew William Lawrence; did not see him that night; arrived at the ferry every hour; heard no disturbance; was at the ferry at a quarter past eleven and from fifteen minutes before twelve to twelve o'clock; Lawrence generally took up his position inside the ferryhouse; sometimes he sat opposite the ferrymaster, at other times he stood at the bridge on the arrival of each boat; this was his principal duty; he also went around to call the men at certain hours; saw him on Wednesday night at his post; did not see him afterwards.

Officer Owen Carroll testified—I was on duty last Thursday night; my beat was on Hudson street; I arrived at the ferry every half hour; knew William Lawrence; saw him that night about twenty minutes past ten o'clock; he was standing outside the entrance to the ferry, talking to a girl; I went into the ferryhouse, and when I came out I saw him and the girl running up the bridge; did not see him after that time; I came to the ferry again at half-past eleven; heard no disturbance that night; the absence of Lawrence was commented on that night; Lawrence was quite sober when I saw him, as far as I could judge from appearance.

Abraham Van Buskirk sworn—I live at 59 Second street; knew William Lawrence; met him last Thursday night at the ferry, between nine and half-past nine; he asked me if I would not go and have a cigar; I went and took a cigar, and he took a glass of lager; he seemed to have plenty of money, judging from the bills I saw stuffed in his pocket book; I left him there, in a few minutes, and went home as it was commencing to rain; I did not see a club with him; he was quite sober.

Henry C. Child examined—I live at 54 Sixth street; went over to New York last Thursday night by the quarter-past eleven boat; met William Lawrence crossing the bridge going towards Newark street, in company with a young woman; heard the latter remark in the conversation, "I'll take my oath it's so;" Lawrence spoke in a low tone, but the woman appeared somewhat excited; could not say where they went to afterwards.

Alexander Neafie sworn—I live at 11 Newark street; Lawrence resided at the same house; saw him at his supper last Thursday evening at a quarter past seven o'clock; at twenty-five minutes past seven he got up with the intention of going to the ferry; could not say whether he took his club; when he was going out his wife called him back and gave him some supper in a tin pail; this meal he generally ate about twelve o'clock; he went into the room before he left to get the key and the club; the club was not there after he left, from which I inferred that he took it with him; he was quite sober when he left the house; he spoke frequently about parties threatening to take his life, but I do not recollect whether he mentioned names; he said these parties were smugglers; he mentioned one man, a Spaniard, who was arrested and fined ten dollars; he remarked with great stress, "I am working for a position which I am promised if I follow that party up;" he did not say what party or by whom the position was promised; Lawrence was a quiet man in his family relations.

This was the last witness examined and the inquest was adjourned for one week. A warrant was issued for the arrest of a man who resides in New York, and who has been missing since last Friday. The name of this individual it would be manifestly improper to disclose at this stage of the proceedings. He was a turbulent fellow, and was engaged in several disputes with the workmen on the dry dock. Many of the mechanics were afraid of him. Last Thursday he was involved in a difficulty with Douglass, and two of the men on board the Galatea and Lawrence, it is stated, were also concerned in the affray. That was the last day of Lawrence's existence, and the new theory lays down that the fellow carried out his threats against Lawrence that night.

By the evidence given last evening a very material point was established. The witnesses Van Buskirk and Neafie swore that Lawrence had from fifteen to twenty dollars in his possession on Thursday night. This money he pulled out frequently to pay for drinks in presence of several parties. He also exhibited a memorandum book. When the body was found in the water the pocketbook, with its contents, and the memorandum book were missing. It is also quite evident that he took the club away from his residence, and this, too, is missing. The only effects found in his pockets were a night key and three or four pennies. The inference remains that the murderer plundered him before he threw him into the water. The mist which surrounds the case only thickens as it proceeds. Nattas is now the only prisoner in custody.

THE HUDSON CITY DISASTER.

Inquest Before Coroner Warren Last Evening—How Other Lives were Saved.

The inquest on the bodies of Roger Tighe, Lucius Andrews and Lawrence O'Connor, who were killed by the falling of the arch at the new Catholic church in Hudson City, commenced last evening at McCarthy's Hotel before Coroner Warren. The first witness was John Hogan, a stonecutter, who testified that he was standing inside the building when the catastrophe occurred. In his opinion the arches gave way because of the great weight resting on them and the insufficient strength of the pillars which supported the arches. The heavy rain of Wednesday morning so damaged the mortar that it contributed in a great measure to the disaster. Dr. Hammond testified that he examined the bodies of the deceased men; Tighe received a compound fracture of the skull, and this was the cause of death; there were no other wounds visible; Andrews had both legs fractured; death was caused in his case not more by the extent of these injuries than by the violent shock he received in the fall; O'Connor remained unconscious, venous blood oozing from his right ear; there was an incised wound on the forehead and the skull was fractured. When the medical testimony was completed the inquest was adjourned till Monday evening.

It appears that ten or twelve minutes elapsed between the falling of the two arches. While the men were engaged in extricating the sufferers who were buried under the first arch, a laborer named Duck heard the timbers creak on the other arch and he called out lustily to the men to make their escape. Five or six seconds more and the centre prop gradually commenced to swerve, and, toppling over, the whole structure came down with a crash. To the warning given by Duck the men standing on the scaffold over the second arch, as well as those standing under it, owe their lives.

POWDER EXPLOSION AT PATERSON.

Two Men Severely Burned.

Between five and six o'clock yesterday afternoon an explosion occurred on the side of Garret Mountain, near Squirrel Woods, a short distance from Paterson, N. J., by which two men were severely and perhaps fatally injured. The Morris & Essex extension is being graded at this place, under the superintendence of Dillon & Co., contractors. The laborers had lighted a fuse leading to a blasting charge in a large rock. They betook themselves as usual to a safe distance, but the blast did not explode. After waiting long enough to convince themselves that the charge had missed, they began to move cautiously towards the rock. The foreman of the gang and one laborer then approached the blast, and finding, as they supposed, the fire had gone out, commenced to pick out the charge, when a fearful explosion took place. The men were thrown some yards, amid a thick shower of heavy boulders, falling near a large keg of powder, which also exploded at the same time. In an instant both men were one mass of flames. With great presence of mind, however, the laborer, wounded as he was, rolled himself in an old coat, subduing the blaze until his terror-stricken companions could come to his relief.

The foreman, blinded with the flames in which he was enveloped, plunged headlong into the canal, from which he was soon rescued.

Both unfortunate men were conveyed to a neighboring house and a surgeon was sent for. Their faces, bodies and limbs are one blackened, crispy mass; nearly every stitch of clothing was burned from their backs. Dr. Moss examined their injuries and did all he could to alleviate their sufferings, and gave his opinion that they might recover, although their death was most probable. At nine o'clock last evening their condition was not improved, and it was not thought they would survive until morning. Their names or condition in life could not be ascertained.

THE SEVENTH REGIMENT EXCURSION.

The Route to Troy—Scenes and Incidents on the Boat—The Reception by the Trojans.

TROY, N. Y., July 23, 1869.

The departure of the Seventh regiment for Saratoga from your city last evening, amid the acclamations of thousands of enthusiastic spectators, has doubtless already been chronicled in the columns of the HERALD. As for the voyage up the river it was as delightful as the most fastidious of gray coats could have desired. All along the route the various towns and villages which were passed between New York and Troy did their patriotic utmost to show their admiration for the command. At Yonkers especially the people turned out in full force, and as the steamer passed the wharf sent up cheer after cheer amid the waving of flags and the discharge of cannon.

At Pleasant Valley, where Colonel Clarke, the commandant of the regiment, resides, there was quite a display of fireworks and a good deal of enthusiasm manifested by a crowd of ladies and gentlemen who assembled along the shore to greet the gray coats. At Newburg, Mr. James H. Banker's yacht Rambler, which lay midstream, was gaily bedecked with flags and banners in honor of the excursionists, and as the Hartford steamed by hundreds of sky rockets shot up from her decks, lighting up the waters from shore to shore.

The City of Hartford, on which the regiment embarked, is not one of the largest vessels in the world, and as there were over five hundred men on board when she left the wharf at New York, the crowding and crushing for "place, position and comfort," for a time, was anything but agreeable; but as soon as the muskets had been stacked and all the cosey nooks in the boat had been captured by the knowing ones, every one set to work to enjoy himself as best he could. The feature of the evening's enjoyment—if such it may be called—was the drawing of lots for beds. Each company was awarded a certain number of berths, but no one man was assigned to any particular tick, and every man had to take his chance by lot to find a pillow whereon to lay his military head. The unlucky dogs who, of course, expected to get a berth, but did not, had to fall back on the reserve mattresses, which at a late hour of the night were strewn on the floors in the saloon, and even in the passage ways leading from the ladies' saloon, where there were no ladies, to the forepart of the boat, which was used as a dining room.

Of course before going to bed everybody who had anything like an appetite—and everybody seemed to have an appetite that would have made a boarding housekeeper commit suicide—partook of whatever kind of supper Commissaries Ingersoll and Rader were able to get up at short notice. The passage ways which extend from the ladies' saloon to the forepart of the vessel, on either side of the engines, were used as a dining room. Two long extension tables stretched from one end of the passages to the other, and from eight in the evening until long after midnight was appetizingly incessant. Then, when the inner man had become satisfied with his quantum sufficit of ham and eggs and steak, about the Washington Market quality of which there was no mistake, time was killed in various ways, singing being the chief method resorted to to while away the dull hours that divided the night from the early morn. But everything has an end, and so had the singing in chorus, in cabin, on deck and along the bulwarks about three o'clock, when the guards declared every man to be in bed and fast asleep.

> That fell, like tomahawk, to work,

The boat arrived at the landing at Troy about five o'clock, and the only individual who was present to receive the regiment was a lonely looking policeman, who was awakened from a sound slumber on a coal box by the whistle of the steamer as she sidled up to the wharf. The boat had no sooner touched the landing than everybody who was awake—and nobody seemed to be asleep—made rapid tracks for the interior of the town, just to see the elephant before the people had got out of their last snooze. At a quarter-past eight o'clock a salute was fired from the shore, and the Mayor and several of the Common Council came on board the boat and welcomed the regiment in the name of the people of Troy. The command shortly afterwards, in full dress uniform, with white pants, filed into the street adjoining the wharf and formed by platoons. It was received by the Twenty-fourth regiment, Colonel Stienburgh commanding, and the procession moved through the principal streets, the sidewalks being densely packed with enthusiastic men, women and children, who welcomed the regiments by cheers and waving of handkerchiefs.

The regiment during the parade formed into line before the residence of General Wool, who welcomed the command in a neat little speech, in which he referred to the services which the Seventh had rendered the country during the war. At the conclusion of the parade and reception a magnificent collation was spread in the Troy House, to which the gray coats did ample justice.

The regiment is now on its way to the depot, where it will take the twenty minutes past one o'clock train for Saratoga.

Arrival of the Seventh Regiment at Saratoga—Enthusiastic Reception—Brilliant Ball at the Union Hotel.

SARATOGA, July 22, 1869.

The Seventh regiment arrived here late this afternoon from Troy and was received in the most enthusiastic manner, the whole resident population and the visitors at the various hotels turning out to do it honor. The complimentary ball given to the command at the Union Hotel to-night by the citizens and residents of the place was the grandest affair of the kind which has ever occurred at this world renowned resort, and the crowds of visitors who arrived from various parts of the country, and especially from New York city, during the day, for the express purpose of attending the ball, were numbered by the thousands; in fact, before the opening of the hop there were over 1,500 guests at the Union Hotel alone. Every other hotel in the village was crowded to its utmost capacity. By six o'clock in the evening there were at least 4,000 strangers in the place.

The grounds in the rear of the Union Hotel were brilliantly illuminated during the ball with Chinese lanterns, and the ballroom itself was lighted with hundreds of gas jets. The band of the regiment and two other bands furnished the music for the occasion. The upper ten of New York was represented by as brilliant an assemblage as ever graced a ballroom. The toilets of the ladies were of the most superb character, and at midnight, when the hop was at its height, the scene presented by the dazzling uniforms of the Seventh and many officers of the regular army, who were present in large numbers, was grand in the extreme. Shortly after midnight a magnificent supper was had, after which the dancing festivities were kept up until daylight.

The event was one long to be remembered at Saratoga.
